COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1945. 136th of the General Assembly.

Vol. 29. HARRISBURG, PA., MONDAY, APRIL 16, 1945. No. 45.

SENATE

MONDAY, April 16, 1945.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Our God and Father in whose hands are the destinies of all nations and all men, nations and men must bow to the sovereignty of Thy will.

As individuals and as representatives of all the people of our state we bow in submission to that divine decree that called our President from a life of great activity and achievement to the "place prepared" for those who love and serve Thee. Keep us from indulging in futile questionings as to what Thou hast done. "The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord." The worker rests but the work must go on. And so, may our faith in the mercy and goodness of God be unshaken and fear for the future be cast out. God reigns.

We pray that the God of comfort, as only He can, will comfort the mourning family of our departed leader.

We pray for President Truman. His task is a hard one. He needs wisdom beyond that his human advisers can supply. May he turn to Thee and follow the leadings of Thy Spirit. Hold Thou him up and he will be safe.

In this critical period of our nation's life keep us all from "the fear of fear." Strengthen the hearts and the hands of the men and women fighting for the right. Hasten the coming of V-Day for the world. May all be convinced that "their labor is not in vain in the Lord."

In the name of Him who said "I am the resurrection and the life." Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented communication in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which was read as follows:

PROCLAMATION ON THE DEATH OF THE LATE PRESIDENT, FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 16, 1945.

To the Honorable, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I transmit herewith a copy of my Proclamation issued Friday, April 13, 1945, on the tragic death of our late President, Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

It is suggested that this Proclamation be read in open session of both the Senate and the House of Representatives, and that the full text be printed in the Legislative Journal, as a matter of permanent record.

EDWARD MARTIN.

In the Name and by Authority of the
COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, Pa.

PROCLAMATION

Whereas, The tragic death of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, thirty-first President of the United States, has plunged the liberty-loving people of all the world into deepest sorrow, and

Whereas, We stand on the eve of our Nation's greatest victory to which the inspiring leadership of our beloved President contributed so much, and

Whereas, His name is inscribed forever among the illustrious heroes of America as one who gave his life in the service of his country fighting to preserve and safeguard the ideals and principles which we hold sacred.

Now, Therefore, I, Edward Martin, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do hereby proclaim and designate a period of mourning in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, from Friday, April 13, 1945, to Sunday, May 13, 1945, inclusive, in tribute to the greatness of Franklin Delano Roosevelt. I direct that the Flag be displayed during that period at half-staff from all public buildings, schools, homes, industrial establishments and other appropriate places.

I direct, also, that the State liquor stores and all offices of the State Government, with the exception of the protective services, remain closed on Saturday, April 14th.

Furthermore, I suggest and earnestly request that all business establishments, except those engaged in the war effort, be closed during the hours of the funeral services beginning at four p. m., Saturday, April 14th. I suggest, also, that all citizens pause in their accustomed activities and that all vehicular and all other traffic be stopped on the stroke of four o'clock, Saturday, April 14th, that we may all stand for one minute in silent prayer. It would be appropriate, also, and I now suggest, that memorial services be held in our churches and other places of worship and in public assemblies on Sunday, April 15th.

As we mourn the untimely loss which has befallen our Nation and the world, it is fitting that we give earnest thought to the future of our beloved land and re-dedicate ourselves anew to patriotic service. I am confident all citizens of Pennsylvania will continue to stand firm in their allegiance to our country's cause. The memory of Franklin Delano Roosevelt calls upon every one to remain at his post of duty and demands that our war industries continue to work unceasingly and with redoubled vigor until decisive and final victory is achieved. I know that would be the wish of the great leader who guided our Nation through the darkest hours in our history.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, at the City of Harrisburg, this thirteenth day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and forty-five, and of the Commonwealth the one hundred and sixty-ninth.

EDWARD MARTIN.

By the Governor:
C. M. MORRISON,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair now recognizes the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, as we meet here today in solemn session assembled, a picture of life's uncertainty and solemnity comes to my mind.

High upon the steep slopes of Mt. Surabahi, on the Island of Iwo Jima, a young Marine Private, in the full strength of life, lies in the glory of death; the sacrifice supreme that we may live our lives in peace.

Deep in the silent depths of the troubled Pacific a young Navy Lieutenant rests in the undisturbed slumbers of death; the sacrifice supreme that we may live our lives in peace.

High in the serene blue skies, above our troubled earth, a young pilot starts his long fateful flight earthward; the sacrifice supreme that we may live our lives in peace.

Knee deep in mud, chilled to the marrow by the wintry blasts, baked in the unmerciful heat of the noonday sun, the weary foot soldier plods his troubled way, as the sun sinks and the afterglow lights the evening sky with a promise of more tomorrows, a sniper's bullet finds its easy mark and life slowly ebbs from the fallen warrior as the blood of our youth blends with the green of the earth to form the clay from which the life of tomorrow must be molded; the supreme sacrifice that we may live our lives in peace.

High above the peacefully flowing waters of the mighty Hudson, the last mortal remains of another gallant soldier have been laid to rest. As the echoes of taps resound through the valley he loved so much, our late President, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, returns to the cool, green earth of Hyde Park from whence he came; a casualty of this war he fought so hard to prevent. His life of courageous service to his fellow men ended all too soon; his death a pledge of this generation to continue the fight that the future generations of civilization may live their lives in peace.

"Under this wooden cross there lies a Christian killed in battle.
You who read remember that this stranger died in pain,
And passing here, if you can lift your eyes upon a peace kept by the human creed,
Know that one soldier has not died in vain."

Mr. President, I move that the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania do now adjourn until tomorrow, April 17th, at one o'clock, out of respect and in memory of our beloved late Commander-in-Chief and President, Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, Franklin D. Roosevelt, our great leader, has been taken from our midst and our sympathies go out to all peoples everywhere. Able, strong and courageous, he lived up to the best traditions of American manhood and served his country well. With deep appreciation of his great service to mankind and out of respect to his memory, I second the motion to adjourn.

The PRESIDENT. Senator Dent has moved and Senator Heyburn has seconded the motion that the Senate adjourn, out of memory and respect for President Roosevelt, until Tuesday, April 17, 1945, at one o'clock p. m. E.W.T.

Before that motion is voted on I am sure every member of this Senate is glad to join in this tribute to a leader who has inspired countless millions of people not only in America but throughout the entire world.

I think it would be very appropriate at this time to ask Senator Frank Ruth to offer, in behalf of the Senate, a prayer in memory of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

MEMORIAL PRAYER

Mr. RUTH. Our God and Father, Father of all mankind, in deep grief we meet today to remember him whom Thou hast given to us, whom Thou hast saved from the adversity of a great physical handicap and prepared for that great day when our nation was in dire distress and through Thy Holy Spirit Thou didst guide him to inspire our people to rise from calamity unto the heights of usefulness.

We thank Thee for his life, for the courage he gave to his people, for the spirit of neighborhood he inspired among nations.

In his whole philosophy of life, unity in essentials, liberty in non-essentials and in all things charity, Thou hast given us a new hope for tomorrow. Thou has taken him away from us but we know through the faith which Thou hast taught us on a mother's knee that some day we shall see him again; until that day it has become our lot in our time to carry a torch, a torch of friendliness and kindness not only to our peoples but to all the peoples of the world, a world that is down in darkness and despair, destroyed and desolate.

May the inspiration of his life, the faith which has been instilled into us by our Lord and Savior, enable us to rise to the great opportunity as a people to establish a spirit of unity and brotherhood throughout all the world.

We know that the secret thoughts of his life were perhaps best expressed by the poet when he said:

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road
Where the race of men go by;
The men that are good and the men that are bad,
As good and as bad as I.
I would not sit in the scorner's seat
Nor hurl the cynic's ban;
Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man."

We pray that Thou wilt bless him whom Thou hast chosen to follow in his footsteps. May he too be guided by Thy Spirit and may we, his people, follow in close ranks, hands and hearts joined together, to bring the great boon and blessing unto them which Thou didst send into the world first in the life of Thy Son, our Saviour. As he was laid amongst the roses in the home he loved, may that shrine inspire us and unborn generations to rise to that great glory which Thou hast given for all men, that we should be brothers.

We ask it in His Holy Name. Amen.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will now vote on the motion made by Senator Dent and seconded by Senator Heyburn, that the Senate in memory of President Roosevelt, adjourn until tomorrow, Tuesday, April 17, 1945, at one o'clock p. m., E.W.T.

The motion was unanimously agreed to.

Whereupon,

The Senate adjourned at 4:37 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time, until Tuesday, April 17, 1945, at 1:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern War Time.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, April 16, 1945.

The House met at 9 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Ira T. Fiss) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Lester C. Updegrove, offered the following prayer:

Dear Lord we come to Thee for Thy strength at a time when our nation and the nations of the world mourn the departure of our late President, Franklin Delano Roosevelt. We thank Thee for the unselfish service and supreme sacrifice which he has rendered for us and for all mankind. Give unto his successor, our President, Harry S. Truman, Thy divine grace, wisdom and guidance so that he may faithfully discharge the tremendous responsibilities placed upon his life. May he be assured of our prayers and cooperation.

And [illegible] Lord, we would breathe the words which Frankl[illegible]no Roosevelt prayed upon the occasion of his first [illegible]esidential inauguration:

"O God, our Father, make us worthy of the trust which Thou hast placed in us. May we have bravery and devotion which b[illegible] these times. As a nation may we have the warm courage of unity and the clear consciousness of seeking tried and precious moral values. As citizens may we have the clean satisfaction that comes from the stern performance of our duty. As Allies may we have faith in the future of democracy, and may we build for a world of lasting brotherhood and peace." Amen.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D. offered the following prayer:

"God be merciful to us and bless us, and cause His face to shine upon us; that Thy way may be known upon earth, Thy saving health among the nations." So sang Thine ancient worshipper and to-day we make his song our prayer.

Be merciful, O God, to our nation. In the new and testing times that are upon us may we trust in the Lord and in the power of His might. Thou hast made us strong in numbers, rich in natural resources; our good earth yields her increase, our capacity for production is unlimited. These are God's gifts to us. May we never forget the Giver. "O God, let all the people praise Thee".

We thank Thee that we are a united people. May no sinister power, at home or abroad, cause dissension among us. United we can go forward to complete victory over all enemies. With Thee we are invincible.

We pray that all our leaders follow Thy leadership. Especially do we pray for President Truman. Endow him with wisdom, courage and strength adequate to meet successfully the great issues that press upon him. For this a moral and spiritual endowment that can come only from Thee must be his. Grant this to him, O Lord.

And may Thy Spirit inspire us all to walk in the way of righteousness, for in that way lies peace.

In the name of Him who tells us "Be of good cheer, I have overcome the world". Amen.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE RESOLUTION

He also informed the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

GOVERNOR URGED TO ISSUE PROCLAMATION SETTING MAY FIRST AS AMERICANISM DAY

In the Senate, March 14, 1945.

For many years this country and the world at large has observed May first as May Day, and at different places the observance has been marked by various kinds of celebrations.

At times these celebrations have resulted in demonstrations against organized government.

In 1932 the American Legion in Fayette County inaugurated a new kind of observance of the day by staging a parade of Americanism which has grown each year into an event of first importance.

The participation in the celebration of this day by patriotic societies, veterans' organizations, and other organizations cannot help but make it throughout the Commonwealth a day to awaken new pride in our American institutions; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania urges the setting aside of May first as Americanism Day, and urges upon all patriotic veteran, fraternal and civic organizations the planning of its celebration in such a manner as will bring to the people of the Commonwealth a full realization of the benefits and privileges and blessings that come to them through the continuance of our American form of government; and be it further

Resolved, That the Governor of the Commonwealth is hereby urged to issue his proclamation further urging the people of the Commonwealth to join in a real American celebration of Americanism Day.

RESOLUTION MEMORIALIZING FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

Mr. COLEMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President and Members of the Senate last Thursday an inexpressible emotion gripped the hearts of all the liberty-loving peoples of the world when the news of the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt was made known. It was difficult to believe that the angels had turned down his eyelids forever and that the heroic champion of freedom was no more.

I sat in a restaurant in Scranton when the news was flashed over the radio through the same instrument where his matchless appeal had fascinated millions of people many times before—it was shocking, unbelievable news that stunned all of us into inaction. When we began to realize it was true, the uncontrollable grief made many of us with tear-dimmed eyes sick in mind and body and soul. I saw men and women in all walks of life weeping unashamedly—these tears are not the sign of weakness but rather are they the marks of power even when seen on the cheeks of a strong man. It seemed as though the bottom fell out of everything. His passing means that a light has gone out toward which all of us looked with hope on the eve of the San Francisco Conference to lay the foundation for world peace and security.

And as I sat there with a heavy heart, my mind went back reverently to his unforgettable utterance when he delivered his Inaugural Address in 1933—"The only thing we have to fear is fear itself." And hardly had he taken the oath of office when he took the people into his confidence in explaining the bank holiday. What he said that night bucked up the spirit of the people of America. This is not the occasion to discuss in detail his achievements as our President, but we cannot help but ask the question—"Without Roosevelt what would have happened to the world?"

I shall never forget the first and only time I saw the President—that was in Shibe Park, Philadelphia, last October—to hear him deliver an address seeking re-election for the fourth time. It was a raw, cold evening, and the chilly wind was most uncomfortable for many of us who had waited two hours to see and hear the President. At the appointed hour the gates of the ball park opened and a lusty yell came from the crowd. It was the President entering in his car. He wore the familiar Navy cape and we could see his bare head tossing to and fro in the fashion so characteristic of him during his years of the Presidency. After his usual brilliant address, his car encircled the park through a mass of humanity to enable all of us to get a close-up of him. I shall always remember his warm, friendly smile as though he had spoken to each and every one of us personally. He was a friendly, patient, supremely tolerant man.

I remembered too, another visit to Philadelphia. It was to deliver his acceptance speech at Franklin Field in 1936. It is a story about his little mentioned handicap which can now be told. A crowd of fifty thousand people had gathered to hear him speak. As he approached the broadcast hour he started to walk toward the platform when the braces on his legs snapped. He fell to the ground and the papers of his manuscript were tossed over the field. Friendly hands helped him to his feet and hastily picked up his papers—several of them soiled by mud and dirt. He rearranged them and then stood before the microphone to speak to a listening world. He never knew whether or not the brace would snap and he would collapse again, but if there was any anxiety in his heart he concealed it as he gave utterance to the statement which historians will record forever—"This generation of Americans have a rendezvous with destiny."

Even people who disagree with him, and there were many, will concede that he was a master at Government. He was like a chess champion who took on forty contestants and beat them all. He took on a hundred at one time—Hitler, the Japs, the House and the Senate, Churchill, Stalin—and always he emerged victorious.

Roosevelt spoke for the little people. He loved them. Sometimes he was goaded by his enemies beyond the limits of human endurance, but he was a great man and these things bothered him little. He knew that was the price of being great. He took things in his stride. He took the depression in his stride; he took Pearl Harbor in his stride—yes, he took death in his stride.

He was more responsible for the social awakening of the American people than any man in its history. He awakened the consciousness of the Nation. He developed a new hatred of hatred. He was a man of great courage who carried the torch of human liberty for the people of the world, and I am sure we are better, more competent citizens of the world for his having lived.

His loss will be felt more poignantly by the mothers of the servicemen. He was spiritually in the front line with the men who fought. He died in the service of his country—a service grown too great for a single man to bear. Like his fallen comrades, he gave his life to preserve an ideal.

Were my soul inspired with the prophetic breath of Heaven, were my tongue the same as the one that rested on the head of the Prince of the Apostles, I scarce could describe his loss to the world at a time when it could almost see the fruition of his work. Roosevelt rescued this land—God will preserve it.

He saved America at a time when the world was crumbling. I know of no greater memorial to Franklin D. Roosevelt than to finish the task he started.

Some poet caught the spirit of America in these lines—

"'Tis truly said of God indeed, he finds the man to suit the need.
He saw our plight in thirty-two, when things looked black for men and you.
And so he sent us a man to reign, tried in his crucible of pain;
A smiling man, one unafraid, to face the crisis undismayed;
A man who spoke in homey terms, and thought of us as men not worms;
A man who didn't know it all, and never said he did at all;
But said instead, 'I'll try my best, and then to God leave all the rest'.
His best was good, he kept his vow, we'll miss him more than ever now."

It can be truly said of him as it was said of another great President—"Now he belongs to the Ages."

In the death of President Roosevelt, Mr. President, we saw a practical application of democracy at work. Within twelve minutes after Vice-president Truman had been advised of the death of the President, this nation had a new President, and he needs our aid and with that in view, Mr. President, in behalf of my friend, Senator Dent, and myself, I offer the following resolution and ask its immediate adoption.

SUPPORT OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA EXTENDED TO HARRY S. TRUMAN

Messrs. COLEMAN and DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, April 17, 1945.

Whereas, An all wise Providence, the Father of Nations, has decreed that Franklin Delano Roosevelt should lay aside his earthly tasks, and that the responsibilities imposed upon National and International leadership should pass to Harry S. Truman, the nation's new President, and

Whereas, The successful succession of Harry S. Truman, without the impairment of National prestige, and with no interruption in the orderly processes of our domestic government, or the functioning of our far flung military forces, or the prosecution of our projects designed to achieve for ourselves and for the world an enduring peace, represents one of the supreme triumphs of our democracy, therefore be it

Resolved, By the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that it extend to Harry S. Truman it's support and the support of the constituencies it represents in the immediate tasks of preserving the domestic tranquility, the winning of the war and the achievements of a lasting peace.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. JASPAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, at the present time I am safe in saying that conditions at the Eastern Penitentiary are becoming progressively worse. About five or six weeks ago three trustees resigned and we still do not know the reason. About two weeks ago twelve prisoners escaped. Fortunately, ten of them were captured.

I read today from an article by Warden Smith that concerns us very much, particularly in Philadelphia and especially in view of the outbreak there. The article reads as follows:

WARDEN AT PEN BLAMES STATE FOR CONDITIONS

"Not a Problem of Local Administration, Smith Declares.

"Warden Herbert Smith, of the Eastern State Penitentiary where 12 inmates recently tunneled their way to freedom, yesterday laid the blame for conditions at the prison in the lap of the State Department of Welfare.

"The institution's facilities are antiquated," he declared, "and it's up to the Department of Welfare, the parent organization, to do something about it. This is not a problem of local administration.

"A change of administration at the prison will not change the situation," re said. "The physical facts are here, and the same conditions will remain under any administration until something is done to correct them. Anybody who replaced me would have my utmost sympathy, as he faced the confusion and disorder which now exists in the whole State set-up."

I understand, Mr. President, that an investigation is going on now, a committee having been appointed by the Governor, but it appears to me this committee is more or less packed, consisting of members of the cabinet, and I feel the only way we can have an honest and true investigation is by an impartial committee.

URGING AN INVESTIGATION OF THE CONDITIONS OF THE EASTERN STATE PENITENTIARY

Messrs. JASPAN and STIEFEL offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, April 17, 1945.

Three members of the Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary have recently resigned from membership on the board because of existing conditions at the penitentiary which they did not approve.

What the actual conditions are at the Eastern State Penitentiary, the public up to this time have had to be content with small fragments of news.

However, before the matter of the resignation of the three members of the board had been forgotten, twelve hardened criminals had made their escape from that institution. An escape of this nature is so serious a matter of public concern that it behooves those responsible for its operation to give a full account of the prevailing circumstances that would make such an escape possible.

The Governor of Pennsylvania, realizing his responsibility in the matter, appointed a committee to investigate the institution, but as this committee is made up of persons under his direct control, such committee is working under a cloud of partiality.

In a Philadelphia newspaper of today, Warden Herbert Smith of the Eastern State Penitentiary, is quoted as stating in part that:

"The institution's facilities are antiquated, and it's up to the Department of Welfare, the parent organization, to do something about it. This is not a problem of local administration."

"A change in the administration at the prison will not change the situation . . .."

"It is a housing problem, not the prison administration, which fosters conditions such as permitted the recent break of 12 prisoners—two of whom are still at large," he said.

From another source of information, the statement has been made that some of the prisoners are amassing a fortune doing certain types of prison work. To what extent is this responsible for conflict among the prisoners?

The public is still confronted with the question—What are the true facts?

Only an impartial committee can ascertain the true facts; therefore be it

Resolved, That the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, appoint a committee of five members of the Senate to make an impartial investigation into the conditions of the Eastern State Penitentiary, with the power of subpoena as to witnesses and documents and to report back to the Senate, at the earliest possible date, its recommendations and suggestions.

REQUEST THAT RULE 39 BE SUSPENDED

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the warden of the Eastern State Penitentiary is exactly right—the facilities there are antiquated, it is largely a housing problem. Everybody agrees with that and everybody knows it, and for that reason the Senator from Northumberland, Mr. Troutman, has introduced a series of bills this afternoon, Mr. President, which, if passed, will provide the most modern penal system of the world in Pennsylvania.

The session is about to close and there is not too much time for an investigation. I suggest that we bend our efforts to passing the Troutman bills and in that event the whole Eastern State Penitentiary problem will be solved.

In order that this resolution may be properly studied, Mr. President, I object to immediate consideration.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, before any action is taken on the resolution I would like to speak in terms of the present and not of the future.

Much has been promised to us, in 1943, and similarly today much has been promised to us, during the present administration, but nothing has been done. Time and time again the Department of Welfare has been criticized for being lax and negligent in taking care of the different institutions throughout the state. There have been many promises made that some time in the future, after the war, something will be done, an elaborate program is set up, but what can you expect? It is just a question of shifting responsibility to another administration.

As I said before, Mr. President, twelve prisoners escaped from the Eastern State Penitentiary only two weeks ago. Every Philadelphian's life was at stake. It is dangerous to everyone, not only in Philadelphia but in every community throughout the state.

Therefore action should be taken now and not tomorrow.

The PRESIDENT. There has been objection to immediate consideration and the resolution is accordingly referred to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. LETZLER, offered the following resolution, which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 17, 1945.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, April 23, 1945, at four o'clock, p. m.; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday, April 23, 1945, at nine o'clock, p. m.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR EX-SENATOR HENRY E. LANIUS

To be Held by Pennsylvania Federation of the Blind

Mr. LEADER offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 17, 1945.

On May 30, 1943, the Hon. Henry E. Lanius, Senator from the 28th Senatorial District comprising the County of York, passed away.

Senator Lanius was born in York on February 13, 1882, and was educated in the York County schools. In 1903 the gravest affliction that comes to any man befell Senator Lanius; he was stricken with blindness. Undaunted by the misfortune, however, he underwent a comprehensive course of lectures at the hands of the best educators of the blind, thereby preparing himself for a public career.

Senator Lanius served as a member of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives from 1912 to 1920, was elected to the Senate in 1922 and served as a member of this body until his death, May 30, 1943.

He won the admiration and love of all who knew him. His efficient counsel was sought and he served his district with fidelity and distinction for over thirty years.

He was ever interested and concerned in the welfare of his fellow blind throughout the State and he counselled and guided his colleagues in the Senate.

The State Council for the Blind, Department of Welfare was created by legislation introduced by Senator Lanius and through his influence the laws of this Commonwealth for the welfare of the blind became the most liberal in the union. The blind of this State who have all benefited so greatly because of the understanding and zeal of Henry E. Lanius hold his memory in reverence and through The Pennsylvania Federation of the Blind wish to present a plaque to the Senate of Pennsylvania in memory of Henry E. Lanius who so well understood their problems, recognized their needs and protected their interests.

It is Therefore Resolved, That the plaque so presented to the Senate of Pennsylvania by the blind of this Commonwealth be accepted and unveiled in the Senate Chamber at 3:00 P. M. Tuesday, April 17, 1945, and that appropriate ceremonies be held at that time in the Senate Chamber.

And Be It Further Resolved, That these resolutions and the minutes of the proceedings held hereunder in connection with the presentation and acceptance of the plaque memorializing Senator Lanius be printed in and made a part of the Memorial Booklet authorized to be printed in his honor.

BILL ON THIRD READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 122, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and two and to further amend section three of the act approved the eighth day of June one thousand eight hundred ninety-three (P. L. 344 No. 284) entitled "An act relating to husband and wife enlarging her capacity to acquire and dispose of property to sue and be sued and to make a last will and enabling them to sue and to testify against each other in certain cases" authorizing a married woman to mortgage or convey her real property to the same extent as a married man to make contracts as if unmarried and to become surety on any bond bail or recognizance.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I would like to have the amendments read before any action is taken, so that we will know what they contain.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair suggests that the amendments be read and then the bill will be printed and put on the Calendar tomorrow.

Mr. COX. I would like the Clerk to read the amendments before any action is taken.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I have no objection to this trial heat, by having the Clerk read the amendments. After the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, has had a chance to see what they are, then the reading clerk will read them officially and after they are read officially and, if adopted by the Senate, I will request that the bill go over in its order so that it will appear on the third reading Calendar for tomorrow, as amended, so that the gentleman from Allegheny will see as well as hear the amendments.

The PRESIDENT. Is that satisfactory to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox?

Mr. COX. Certainly, Mr. President, that is all I am asking.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Bill, Section 2, page 2, line 23, by striking out the light face bracket before the word "which"; Amend Section 2, page 2, line 28, by striking out the word "and" together with the bracket following the word "and"; Amend Section 3, page 3, line 9, by striking out the words "become surety" on said line; Amend Section 3, page 3, line 10, by striking out the words "on any bond, bail, or recognizance and any"; Amend title, page 1, line 11, by striking out the words "and to be-"; Amend title, page 1, line 12, by striking out all of said line.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

The PRESIDENT. What is the pleasure of the Senate.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, following the wishes of the gentleman from Allegheny, who is the sponsor of the bill, I do not know whether he wants to consider this as an official reading of the amendments or just as a trial run; if the Senator so desires we will have the amendments again read officially before any action is taken. As I stated previously, if the amendments are accepted, I propose to ask unanimous consent that the bill go over in its order, as amended, so that the amended bill will appear on the third reading Calendar tomorrow.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I think the horse has been so badly crippled that it would be better to send it back to the hospital. Speaking for myself—I do not know what the rest of the members of the Senate desire—it is not necessary to read the amendments again.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. COX. Did the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, move for immediate consideration of the amendments?

Mr. WALKER. I did, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT. Apparently he did.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, has the motion been seconded?

The PRESIDENT. It has not. As the gentleman from Allegheny knows, the procedure in having the amendments read all at one time was different from the usual procedure of the Senate.

What is the pleasure of the Senate?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I respectfully suggest to the Chair that when amendments were offered there was a motion to adopt the amendments, which has been seconded by the gentleman from Bucks and also by the gentleman from Somerset. Mr. President, the only question to be considered at this point, I submit, is that the amendments be adopted.

Mr. COX. We are now in the position of about to vote on the amendments, is that correct?

The PRESIDENT. That is correct.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I wish to speak on the amendments.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, when this bill was introduced by Senator Stiefel, Senator Gourley and myself, we represented the wishes of the Democratic Party of Pennsylvania, which believes in equal rights for women. This was a method by which the Democratic Party expressed its belief in its philosophy. I have before me a peculiar document of a peculiar nature. It is the Republican platform of 1944, adopted by the Republican National Convention, June 27, 1944, in Chicago, Illinois; on page nine of that platform is the following:

"EQUAL RIGHTS"

"We favor submission by Congress to the States of an amendment to the Constitution providing for equal rights for men and women. We favor job opportunities in the postwar world open to men and women alike without discrimination in rate of pay because of sex."

When this bill was introduced, and in the few remarks that I have made prior to this time, nothing was said about politics, because politics have not had any part in discussions on this bill up until this time, but I believe this, when political parties take a stand on an issue of this kind, when a political party adopts as a part of its national platform a plank such as I have read from the 1944 platform of the Republican Party, it should make good on its promises, but as far as I am concerned, that is just another of the timbers in that platform which has rotted and fallen away.

The amendments introduced by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, destroy completely the specific purpose of this bill. Very frankly, every man in Pennsylvania would be very happy if the law said that he could not be an accommodation party or he could not be a surety. As a matter of fact, the legal profession is protected because we are not permitted to be sureties.

Yet, Mr. President, there is a particular principle involved here, and that is this: should there be equality in this Commonwealth between men and women when it comes to the use of their own property? This is a strange, peculiar situation. By a legal hocus-pocus we give strange attributes to married women which we do not give to single women. A single woman in Pennsylvania today, in the handling of her own property, has identical rights that a man has, and yet the day she becomes married we say to her "you no longer are a person of discretion, we must protect you, and for that reason you can not be an accommodation party, you can not be a surety, you can not mortgage your own property, which you hold in your own name, without the consent of your lord and master," which is indicated by his joining in a mortgage.

The amendments introduced by my colleague from Allegheny, Senator Walker, do this: it means continuing the present restrictions against a married woman being an accommodation party or surety. The bill is emasculated, so that now, as amended, a married woman may not mortgage her own real estate without a joinder by her husband.

If the husband dies, or if the woman once again becomes single, by divorce or otherwise, again we say to that woman: "now you have sufficient ability so that you can handle your own property in your own way and you do not need the supervision of the male sex."

When this bill was first discussed in the Committee on Judiciary General, these objections were raised, and they were raised by men whose judgment I respect, and if the evils they pointed out were truly evils, the bill would have been a bad bill, so for that reason I went back to Allegheny county and I made an attempt to acquaint myself not only with the opinion of the women of Pennsylvania with respect to this matter but also the men. I have not received one letter, one telephone call or one dissent as to the merits of this bill from anyone I have heard nothing except from just a few members of this Senate.

In Allegheny county the Cooperative Club of Pittsburgh was interested enough in equal rights for women to pass a resolution endorsing this bill, which they sent to me. The Cooperative Club is a service club; among its members are many great leaders of industry in Pitts burgh. The Kiwanis Club of Homestead, Pennsylvania, is sufficiently interested in equal rights for women so as to pass a resolution, which they sent to me. The Civic Club of Pittsburgh is on record as favoring this bill. The Bar Association of Pennsylvania has approved this bill. The League of Women Voters of Allegheny County, and also of Pennsylvania, has endorsed the bill. The State Federation of Women's Clubs has endorsed this bill. The Congress of Women's Clubs of Allegheny County has endorsed this bill. On my desk I have hundreds of letters from women's organizations all over the state, in which they give their approval. Since this is a matter affecting women, and since they have expressed themselves as desiring that this legislation pass in the form that it now is, certainly we members of the Senate, if we are fair, if we believe in representative government, will pass the bill.

The Democratic Party, too, is committed to the principles involved in this bill, and I am proud that the Democratic Party of Pennsylvania stands shoulder to shoulder today with me.

Mr. President, I ask that the roll be called on these amendments and I ask my colleagues to vote no.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I am somewhat amused at the role I am playing on these amendments. Since the bill was introduced I have been its champion in the Committee on Judiciary General. This is not the first time this proposition has been up on the floor of this Senate; I brought it out on the floor of the Senate, I managed to get it out of committee, the Caucus managed to get it back, and I have worked hard—I think I have worked harder on this bill than the sponsor of the bill—he has gotten more letters than I have and he has mentioned quite a number of organizations that are for the bill but he forgot to mention one—my wife has endorsed this bill—and yet I now find myself in the position of defending the amendments to this bill.

Mr. President, I want to say this, so that the members of the Senate will be fully informed as to just why these amendments are presented.

The gentleman from Allegheny mentioned a very real reason when he said that most of the men who are concerned with the affairs of business would appreciate it very much if the law prohibited them from going on bail bonds, becoming surety, because repeatedly you are in a position where you make an enemy out of a friend or you become financially involved because, in order to come to the relief of a friend or in-law, you become bailor or you become surety on a promissory note or you go bail to get somebody out of jail, and then you are in the embarrassing position of having to pay. Members of the Bar, of course, are prohibited, fortunately, from becoming bailors for their clients, and that is interesting, because right here among members of the Senate there are one or two who have told me of personal experiences they have had where they are still paying off notes where they became sureties for friends or for relatives and were made to pay those obligations.

All that these amendments do in the final analysis is just—and I use this expression advisedly, because when I have used it in discussing this with members of the opposite sex who are vitally interested in the bill, the minute you speak about throwing equal protection around them they become very indignant, they do not want any protection, they do not want a thing, they do not want any advantages, they do not want anything that it is possible to achieve in the business world except equality with men.

Mr. President, all that these amendments do is to prohibit married women from becoming sureties or from going on bail bonds for other individuals. That is a protection that a majority of the members of this Senate felt should be contained in the bill, and I want to say for the information of the Senate that the members of this committee have carefully considered this bill and made an honest endeavor to conscientiously act on this legislation. They are not being political, they are not being hide-bound. There is a sharp difference of opinion in the committee as to whether the bill should be amended or not and the majority of the committee resolved in favor of the amendments which have just been introduced. The committee conscientiously thought that continuation of elimination of the opportunity to become sureties should be carried on. In the final analysis perhaps the bill has been improved by acting on it this way.

I might say, Mr. President, that personally I would have preferred the bill in its original form, and I might say, Mr. President, that personally I would cheerfully vote for a bill that would prohibit married men from becoming surety or going on bail bonds, because that would be a protection I would be very happy to join in if the women would see to it that we could get it operating that way.

The sponsor of the bill has suggested to me—and if I interpret his last remarks accurately he is still suggesting—he would rather see this bill defeated than have it pass in its amended form, because there is a principle at stake.

I have had several semi-public hearings on this bill, and have discussed it with professional women who are deeply interested in having this bill passed, and they are smart enough to realize that sometimes the fine things in legislation are obtained step by step.

This will give a married woman absolute control over her separate property. This in no way interferes with the operation of that property, except to become a surety, and may I respectfully suggest to the sponsor of the bill that he accept the amendments, with the full knowledge that if the Senate at a future session determines it wise, continuation of this restriction could be removed so that women could become sureties and bail people out of jail and get themselves into the jams we get into every day because we still have that right.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WALKER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, during the Senator's trial heat he used the word "committee." He said that a majority of the members of the committee had endorsed these amendments. I would like to ask the Senator from Allegheny what committee it was that endorsed the amendments?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I say that I can use that term both ways—it was in the Caucus but in the Republican Caucus there is a majority of the members of the Committee on Judiciary General, and it was Caucus action that recommended the proposed amendments which I have just introduced and after the Caucus had made that recommendation the Republican members of the Committee approved the amendments and that was the reason for having them presented. Perhaps my use of the word "committee" was misleading.

Mr. COX. The second heat is tomorrow. Mr. President, the use of that word "committee" of course meant the Republican Caucus, consisting of Republican members of the Senate, and I presume, Caucus action having been taken, all the members of the Senate of the Republican Party, regardless of how they feel on this matter, must vote for these amendments, and by voting for the amendments, of course, they are killing the bill; there is so little left it is not worth printing.

During the second heat with Senator Walker he stated that he had several private hearings with various professional women relative to this bill.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, the expression I used was semi-private. I do not want to be misinterpreted. I still insist, Mr. President, those were semi-private hearings.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I apologize to the gentleman from Allegheny. I certainly did not wish to cast any aspersions on his character.

We have in the law a rule known as the best evidence rule, which means that when we have a document in writing we have to use that document rather than talk about it. I believe I have the best evidence. I have here a letter from the Allegheny County Professional and Business Women's Unit of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women, which I would like to read into the record. It is as follows:

"ALLEGHENY COUNTY PROFESSIONAL AND BUSINESS WOMEN'S UNIT OF THE PENNSYLVANIA COUNCIL OF REPUBLICAN WOMEN

"The Honorable John Fremont Cox,
The Senate,
Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Senator Cox:

The Allegheny County Professional and Business Women's Unit of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women, at its regular meeting, February 27, 1945, voted unanimously to endorse and support Senate Bill No. 122, and hopes that this unfair Act of 1893 will be amended.

Very sincerely yours,
MRS. MARY CLARK MYERS,
Legislative Chairman."

I also have some other best evidence. I have here a letter from an outstanding lawyer, a member of the firm of Patterson, Crawford, Arensberg and Dunn, by Ella Graubart, and I would like to read this letter, as it is the best evidence as to what professional women think as to the wisdom of removing these restrictions.

"Pittsburgh, Pa. 22, February 23, 1945.

"Senator John Fremont Cox
Pittsburgh, Pa.

"Dear Senator:

"I received Senate Bill No. 122 and sincerely hope that you will be able to get this bill passed by the legislature.

"I have prepared a memorandum on the law which I have sent to the League of Women Voters and anticipate that they will take some action on it.

"The present status of the law is wholly illogical. Whatever reasons may have existed in prior times for restricting the liability of a married woman obviously do not exist today. We have a judge who is a married woman, a city solicitor who is a married woman and a large number of lawyers and business women who are advising the public generally on financial matters. To deny these women rights which any unmarried woman, no matter how inexperienced or young, has, is a shocking discrimination.

"Under the law as it stands at present a young married woman whose husband is reported missing cannot mortgage her own property in order to raise funds for the support of herself and children. This is an incredible situation and should be corrected. The law as it stands today is of advantage to no one except to attorneys because it breeds constant litigation, as the reports of the Supreme and Superior courts show.

"I can assure you that the women of Pennsylvania would like to see your bill become law and I send you my best wishes for its successful passage.

Sincerely yours,
ELLA GRAUBART."

I have hundreds of these letters if the gentleman needs any more best evidence.

I could make a long speech but it is indicated by what has happened on the Republican side of this Senate what action is to be taken but I, for one, want to say, when these amendments are acted upon, I do not intend to stop fighting—this is only the beginning—I certainly hope, if we are not successful today in having this bill passed in its original form, in 1947 we will come back and really do the job.

I did say in a moment of anger to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker, that I would rather have the bill defeated than amend it and then he made this statement: "Is it not better to have half a loaf than none?" I think that is a correct statement. I asked my colleagues in the Senate to vote against the amendments but I will not go so far as to ask them to vote against the bill.

I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. COX and were as follows, viz:

Berger,	Farrell,	Letzler,	Troutman,
Blass,	Geltz,	Mallery,	Tyler,
Bowers,	Heyburn,	Snowden,	Wade,
Carr,	Homsher,	Stevenson,	Wagner,

NAYS—14

Barr,	Gourley,	Margie,	Rosenfeld,
Coleman,	Haluska,	McCreesh,	Stiefel,
Cox,	Holland,	McGinnis,	Woodring,
Dent,	Leader,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading, as amended?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 122 on third reading, as amended, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 132, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article fourteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania abolishing County of Philadelphia as a separate political entity and providing for administering of county functions by City of Philadelphia

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I was hoping the Senators from Allegheny would continue talking until four-thirty—but they have not—and that was because the Attorney General's office has promised me an amendment for this bill and they said they would have it here by four-thirty, so I ask that Senate Bill No. 132 go over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, unfortunately I was unable to be here last Thursday, because of a prior engagement in Philadelphia. At that time a request was made to have Senate Bill No. 132 go over in its order and it was stated that the request was made because I was opposed to the bill and wanted to vote against it.

How I would vote on the bill as it stands now I do not know, but I did oppose it because I thought it was not well drafted and would create a certain amount of chaos. The impression has gone around that I am opposed to city-county consolidation. That is not true. I introduced Senate Bill No. 681, to provide for consolidation. I would like to correct the impression that I am against consolidation of the city and county of Philadelphia. I am against trying to do it by a bill that is going to create chaos, and the very fact that the Senator from Philadelphia, Senator Woodward, says this bill probably will be amended shows there is probably some merit in my suggestion.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 132, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I have always opposed increasing weights for trucks, but today I am voting in favor of increasing the weights because I realize that if we do not adopt the same weights that are being used in states throughout the United States it would be quite a handicap to the truckers of Pennsylvania.

In passing this bill, I want to point out to the trucking industry they have a grave responsibility, inasmuch as in raising our weights to the weights used in other states we should also go a little farther to see that the money collected from the trucking industry is distributed in the same way as it is distributed in all the other states of the United States. For instance, in Ohio one-third of the gasoline tax is returned to the local communities for the repair of streets and twenty-five per cent of the drivers' license fees is returned to the local communities for the repair of streets. You and I know, Mr. President, that with the increase of weights some of our streets in the cities will not withstand this increased load, and it is unfair to the men and women who own a home in a small community to be taxed on real estate for the maintenance of streets which are used by the trucking industry.

I therefor implore and ask the trucking industry to use the same efforts and the same work they have used in securing equalization of truck weights with other states in having an equalization in the return of tax money that they are giving in exclusively to the state of Pennsylvania.

I do not think that any member of this Senate wants to have an additional load placed on real estate. We have talked a great deal about the poor home owner but up to date we have done nothing about it. Some of you may say we are going to return the one cent emergency tax. This will amount, for instance, in the city of Pittsburgh, to about $600,000 and, gentlemen, we pay in the city of Pittsburgh for the handling of traffic alone $900,000, coming out of the real estate taxpayers' funds—$900,000, more than a mill of tax, is used of the home owners' money to handle traffic. It is impossible that we even increase the real estate rates in any municipality today to make proper repairs of the streets.

I hope the truck industry which is paying this tax to the state will demand that some of it, at least a proportionate share, equal to that which is being used in New York state, in Maryland, in Ohio, in New Jersey, in Illinois, where large trucks are being used, and where we are now equalizing the weight, shall be adopted in Pennsylvania, and if they are I do not think there will be any criticism made of the larger trucks in our large cities.

One other thing is that there is going to be considerable spent in rebuilding some bridges.

I also want to point out that in the cities today we are going to considerable expense by building sewer systems, rebuilding ones that have collapsed, and I can tell you that when that has occurred in the streets of Pittsburgh, when sewers have needed repairs in the city of Pittsburgh, in every case where the sewers have collapsed it was due to excessive weight of trucks passing and vibration.

Therefore, gentlemen, in all fairness to the cities and municipalities of Pennsylvania there should be a companion bill passed in this session, giving a share of the gasoline tax money and a share of the drivers' license money to the municipalities to cover this additional expense which all the cities shall incur.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mallery,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, in explanation of my vote on this bill, I wish to state that I have voted "no" in a sense of paying tribute to the thousands of my constituents who are employes of the shops of railroads and are doing such splendid work today. There have been no strikes and in fact, the railroaders are at their places of employment long before time for them to start their runs and it is in a sense of tribute to those men that I have voted "no" on this bill.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

SENATOR WALKER CALLED TO THE CHAIR TO PRESIDE

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (M. Harvey Taylor) At this time I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Walker.

How are you feeling, Senator Walker?

Mr. WALKER. Fine, Senator Taylor.

Mr. TAYLOR. Well, gentlemen, in the interest of speed, and so that the gentleman I am going to ask to preside will get a little more experience along the lines to which he has aspirations. I now call Senator Walker to the Chair to preside.

Mr. WALKER. It is understood, Mr. President pro tempore, that your remarks are still not an endorsement.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (John M. Walker) in the Chair.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President, I know there are some members on my side of the Senate who think they want to vote "no" on this bill.

This bill is in the nature of a substitute for the prudent investor's bill. I personally would have liked to have had an opportunity to vote on that question because I think the prudent investor's bill had more to be said for it than this bill, Senate Bill No. 641.

However, in the absence of the prudent investor's bill I believe this bill, which defines an enlarged field for the making of investments for trust funds, is a good bill, as good as we can hope for under present conditions, and I therefore suggest to the members on my side of the Senate that they vote affirmatively for this bill.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. WACHHAUS. RESOLUTION No. 52.

In the House of Representatives, April 12, 1945.

In a little class room of a public school in Shenandoah, where but a short time ago an American boy of Italian parentage had applied himself to the task of gaining an education to fit himself for a life of normal expectancy, a group of high officials of Nation and State gathered to honor the boy's memory, and to bestow upon his aged and sorrowing mother the highest award for valor, posthumously awarded, and to read the engraved citation bearing the presidential signature.

During the night of February 19 and 20, 1944, Corporal Anthony P. Damato, of the United States Marine Corps, while serving with an assault company in action against enemy Japanese forces on Engibi Island, Eniwetok Atoll, Marshall Islands, occupied a foxhole with two companions, when a hand grenade was thrown into the foxhole. In utter disregard for his own life, and to save his companions, Corporal Damato flung himself upon the grenade, was instantly killed, but saved his two companions; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania add its commendation to the great honors already bestowed upon this heroic son of our Commonwealth, the glory of whose sons in war and in peace have made legend and history. We recognize the signal distinction to the individual for whose bravery the Congressional Medal of Honor was bestowed, to the family and community life that produced the strong body and stout heart of our American youth, and to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, whose historic ground is scarred with battles of past wars, and the million finest of whose sons and daughters now serve in every theatre of action throughout the world; and be it further

Resolved, That a certified copy of these resolutions be transmitted by the Chief Clerk to Mrs. John Damato, 601 West Penn Street, Shenandoah, Pennsylvania, the bereft mother of Corporal Damato.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

Mr. HABERLEN offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 24, by striking out the word "the" and inserting in lieu thereof: "five farmers to be appointed by the Governor, three of whom shall be representatives of the Soil Conservation Districts and two from the State at large. The".

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, lines 24 and 25, by striking out the words "who shall be the chairman".

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 26, by inserting after the word "Waters", "and".

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, lines 27 to 29, both inclusive, by striking out the words "and three farmer members who" in line 27, and all of lines 28 and 29.

Amend Sec. 4, page 4, lines 1 to 5, both inclusive, by striking out all of lines 1 to 4, and the words "fill such vacancies" in line 5, and inserting in lieu thereof: "shall constitute an advisory committee to the commission and shall advise and assist it whenever requested by the commission, on matters relating to its duties".

Amend Sec. 4, page 4, line 5, by inserting after the word "commission" "shall elect a chairman from among its members and".

Amend Sec. 4, page 4, line 26, by striking out the word "farmer".

Amend Sec. 4, page 5, line 2, by inserting after the word "commission" where it appears for the second time: "shall receive the sum of fifteen dollars ($15.00) per day for each day actually engaged in the work of the commission, and".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. REGAN. Mr. Speaker, I do not like to oppose anything that is offered by my good friend, Mr. Haberlen. We have worked together on various commissions and have always gotten along well together. But I must oppose these amendments. They change virtually the entire set-up of the whole organization. This bill has been in the making for over two-years. It has been submitted to all the farm organizations of the state and virtually everyone, or at least so far as I know, has approved it, and it certainly would not be a good thing to make a change in the setup of the state board under these circumstances. I will ask the Members of the House to vote against the amendments.

Mr. HABERLEN. Mr. Speaker, the amendments that have just been read in my mind will strengthen the Soil Conservation Act. As you all know the original Soil Conservation Act was put on the statute books back in 1937. During the two-year period, 1937-1938 there were four soil conservation districts organized in Pennsylvania. From the beginning of 1939 to date we have only had two districts organized in the state. We feel after the investigation that was conducted by a Committee of this House back in 1941, when it was found that the great reason why there were no districts organized in Pennsylvania during that period of time was because of the opposition that came from the Pennsylvania State College and its ideas in the extension service.

What these amendments do, instead of having the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary of Forests and Waters, the Dean of the College and three farmers appointed by the Governor as the State Commission we have a amendment asking that five farmers, three of whom shall be from the soil conservation districts, and two from the state at large be appointed by the Governor.

The Secretary of Agriculture and the Secretary of Forests and Water and the Dean of the School of Agriculture shall act only in an advisory capacity. In that way we would still have the benefit of their knowledge and at the same time I think we would go a long way toward clearing up a lot of the trouble that has been caused presumably by the Dean of the School of Agriculture at State College. I would ask that the Members on both sides of the House vote for the amendments.

Mr. REAGAN. Mr. Speaker, the act of 1937 recognizes the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary of Forest and Waters and the Dean of State College, and that has been continued down to the present time.

Now, it would seem strange that having an Agricultural Department here in Pennsylvania engaged in this great soil erosion movement we ignore him—not entirely, it is true, but making him merely an exofficio a member of the committee. Somebody ought to coordinate the activities of the soil erosion projects now in progress.

The Chairman of this commission is perfectly familiar with the soil erosion set-up, and it would not be good policy to ignore the Secretary of Agriculture and the Secretary of Forests and Waters, who are charged in such large measure with the good of agriculture in the state of Pennsylvania.

I do not think that you can ascribe the fact that there have been so few soil erosion projects started in this state—there are only six—I understand there were twenty proposed and elections held in each one, and they were turned down not because of the set-up of the commission, but because there was an element of coercion in the bill of 1937.

If sixty-five per cent of the proposed district voted in favor of the project the other thirty-five per cent had to get in. Now, this new bill does not have any element of coercion in it at all. I might say too that in one case under my observation, an agent for the soil erosion project came to see me and asked me to go with him to a farmer who he thought needed attention—that is attention to his soil, but who was reluctant to go into the proposition.

I went there, the farmer had two fields that certainly did need attention, and after talking a while I got him to go into it, but then when he found, and when this agent told him that he would have to submit his entire farm to the dictation of the agent or the agency the farmer threw up his hands and said "I'm have nothing to do with it."

I think the reason why the soil erosion project did not catch on as it should have in this state is not because of the set-up of the state board, but rather because of the coercion features in the present law. I, therefore, ask the Members of the House to vote down these amendments.

Mr. HABERLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Union, Mr. Reagan.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Union permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. REAGAN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HABERLEN. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman made the statement that he thought there was some coercion, and due to that coercion there were such a few districts organized, is that right?

Mr. REAGAN. That is right. I have seen that in my own case and I have heard of it in a great many other cases, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HABERLEN. In the mind of the gentleman where did that coercion come from?

Mr. REAGAN. Well, the coercion was in the bill itself. I think it was more the fear of it than any actual coercion.

Mr. HABERLEN. Mr. Speaker, in Lancaster and York Counties where we had two soil conservation districts organized, after seeing the progress that the districts have made, in my mind I do not think the farmers from York and Lancaster counties were much afraid of coercion. I think you will find that your farm agents of the extension service at State College were really the instigators of all the coercion.

It has been proven, as I said before, in the investigation that was conducted during the 1941 session that we had definite proof brought before that committee that members of the extension service did go out of their way to kill the election after it was called for in several districts. I just cannot tell you right off hand which counties they were, but if I remember correctly, Adams and Franklin were two of the counties in which the extension service when out of its way to defeat the referendum. I still think, Mr. Speaker, we should put these amendments in and do away with any coercion that might come from State College. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call on the amendments.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman who last spoke, the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Haberlen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HABERLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. NAGEL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman concerning his statement regarding his amendments. There was so much confusion on the floor of the House that I could not hear distinctly, but I did hear him say that the obstruction to this service which has been so lightly noticed in Pennsylvania, in fact only six small spots, and not including entire counties in any particular spot—that this movement was more or less obstructed by influence that emanated from State College. Am I correct?

Mr. HABERLEN. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. NAGEL. In the gentleman's amendments, I did not learn or understand exactly, but as I understand, it places five farmers in the management of soil conservation as the gentleman's amendments would set it up. Is that correct?

Mr. HABERLEN. That is right.

Mr. NAGEL. Now, what particular feature in the bill that the gentleman is attempting to amend does that eliminate?

Mr. HABERLEN. Mr. Speaker, it eliminates State College, or the Dean of the School at State College.

Mr. NAGEL. Am I correct in stating that the bill as it is drawn up leaves much power with the county commissioners?

Mr. HABERLEN. In the present bill as it stands it does, yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. NAGEL. Would the gentleman's amendments eliminate or lessen this power?

Mr. HABERLEN. Does the gentleman mean as far as the county commissioners are concerned?

Mr. NAGEL. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HABERLEN. No.

Mr. NAGEL. That is all, I thank the gentleman.

I hold in my hand a map of Pennsylvania and surrounding states. This map is printed in black and in white, and the spots in places in the various states where soil conservation is followed are printed in black and I note just six small spots in our great Keystone state.

Now, I am not prepared to state the cause of this. I have my opinion, but I know and I think I can justly conclude that there is a cause and a reason for the lack of cooperation in our state in soil conservation. Soil conservation is a movement that has long been practiced in some of the foreign countries where they realize its importance. Here in America we have just in recent years been awakened to the fact that the day may come when the United States of America will suffer because of its apathy toward this movement.

The soil of our State will be depleted unless we observe some sort of efficient soil conservation. I believe the amendments offered to this bill, House Bill 1104, will greatly improve this bill. It will put it in the hands of those who know and who are interested in soil conservation, and I believe it will bring out a great stress, and bring greater areas of our State into line in this particular matter. I think it is an amendment that is worthy of our consideration, and one that we should vote for. I ask the Members of the House to vote for these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. GOODLING offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 4, page 3, line 27, by striking out the word "and".

Amend Sec. 4, page 4, line 1, by inserting after the word "Organizations", "and one member to be selected by the directors of the several soil conservation districts".

Amend Sec. 4, page 4, line 21, by inserting after the word "commission", "and the member selected and appointed by the directors of the several soil conservation districts".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. REAGAN. Mr. Speaker, I have no objection to this amendment.

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

Mr. HABERLEN. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my amendments to Sections 9 and 17 and the title.

The fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteen, fourteen, fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth sections and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 826, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Health to pay the costs of continuing its health programs in full, under certain conditions, and prohibiting the Department to accept Federal funds under certain conditions.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. COHEN offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1, page 2, line 5, by inserting after the word "Maternal", "Rheumatic Disease".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, and ask that the amendments be voted down.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, in the interest of conserving time on all the amendments offered, I trust that there will be no objection to having discussion on these amendments, together with the strike-out amendments in the following section. The subject will be made very clear and very apparent, if there is no objection from the other side.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I have no objection, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. There being no objection the gentleman will proceed.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell us whether or not the Department of Health has not recently publicly stated that a program for the elimination of the study of rheumatic fever among the children of the Commonwealth has been adopted.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. That is correct to the best of my knowledge, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I will refer the gentleman to the various health services which are enumerated in section one:

> "Veneral Disease Controls, Aid to Crippled Children, Maternal and Child Health Programs and any other health programs in which the Commonwealth and Federal Government share the costs."

Will the gentleman tell me if he knows approximately how much money in the past biennium the State has received from the Federal Government on a share the cost basis for the handling of these various health services.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would say about a million and a half dollars—that is a million and a half dollars per year.

Mr. COHEN. That would be about three million dollars for the biennium?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. And can the gentleman give me an estimate of how much money was received from the Federal Government on a match-fund basis for any other service programs in which the two governments cooperate, not necessarily health programs?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I did not quite understand the question, Mr. Speaker. Is the gentleman referring to the Department of Health?

Mr. COHEN. I am referring to any Department, Mr. Speaker, in the state government that is cooperating with the Federal Government and thereby receiving federal funds.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I cannot speak in exact amounts, Mr. Speaker, as to what these other Departments, the Department of Education and I believe the Labor and Industry Department are receiving.

Mr. COHEN. Will the gentleman agree with me that a fair estimate would be five million dollars for the biennium?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I think that is a fair estimate.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the amendments thus far read are to put into this bill the rheumatic fever program which has been a part of the federal campaign which has been adopted in most other states of the Union so that the states might have the benefit of a comprehensive program established by the Federal Government, and so that this state may set up its own program to take care of this disease of rheumatic fever.

The newspapers recently have talked about rheumatic fever, and, if I remember correctly they quite all agree that it is such a scourge in the youngsters of Pennsylvania that probably one out of ten die from it, that many, many thousands are left with ailments that continue on until later life.

There seems to be no objection to other health programs, but it took quite a bit of prodding for our Department of Health to start on such a program with federal assistance. That is a very commendable action on the part of the Department of Health. If the program is to be carried out, and if the first section, the one to which the amendment is directed, be taken up by the Federal Government, then Mr. Speaker, I see no objection to putting rheumatic fever into the bill as one of the several activities in which the State and Federal Government cooperate. There is much to be gained by cooperation with other governmental agencies on a disease which respects no state barriers or state boundaries, and which may be carried into other states and sent out from those states to others. In fact I have heard, I believe very recently, talk about appropriating one hundred thousand dollars to take up our share of cancer research study in connection with the United States Public Health Service, and the general trend seems to be that these health services shall be done on a match the cost basis.

Now, Mr. Speaker, that we have seen the light and have decided to go along on a cooperative basis why section 3, which I seek to amend by striking out the entire section. Let me read the first part of the section:

> The Department of Health is hereby prohibited from entering into any arrangement or agreement with the Federal Government or any of its agencies to receive funds to cover part of the costs of any of the said health programs when as a condition to qualify for such funds the Commonwealth or the Department of Health, as the case may be, shall be required to comply with any regulations, instructions, orders or directions for the establishment of any specific standards or the kind or manner of hiring, appointing, promoting and transferring, suspending, discharging or removing any employes in the Department of Health which does not meet with the approval of the Governor and the Secretary of the Department of Health.

We know there is no sense kidding about it, we are only one of forty-eight states. When the Congress meets in Washington and sets up the health programs and cooperative programs they legislate for forty-eight states, and the conditions imposed by the Federal Government, and the strings on the purses which the Federal Government allots to all the states are the same strings on the purses of every state. The Federal Government cannot make an exception of this state or any other state with respect to use of those funds, and if Pennsylvania is going to shut the the door flat in the face of the Federal Government by this bill, it will then say "We refuse to accept your three million dollars for health services, and if the precedent is established we refuse to accept your five million dollars for other departments" then we might as well say that this is a bill to prohibit the care of children, a bill to prohibit research in health studies for the people of Pennsylvania; this is a bill to refuse to go along with the rest of the states of the Union and the Federal Government in the setting up of agents to care for the children, and people who are sick and ill and distressed.

Either we make up our minds that we want to be purely political or that we make up our minds that we are going to work along with the rest of the country on health programs.

It would be very nice, and I would be the first one for it if the forty-eight states without the Federal Government's intervention could get together and decide upon a comprehensive health program without the necessity of the Federal Government paying a dime, and without the necessity of the Federal Government imposing a uniform standard on the forty-eight states, but, Mr. Speaker, we know that the states have not done it in the past, and a millenium has not yet arrived, and I doubt whether the states will do it for many years to come.

A great deal has been done by organizations such as the Council of State Governments, that foster state cooperative programs without the Federal Government's intervention, but until that time arrives, Mr. Speaker, we are saying that we are not making an appropriation for these health services; we are saying that we are putting out a bill setting up departments for health services when we have got to admit with shame that this Commonwealth has not discharged its obligations to its people for health services to those who cannot afford to pay for the expenses of doctoring and medical care required by these various illnesses.

We have got to say, Mr. Speaker, that we do not care, and we have got to say, Mr. Speaker, just because Uncle Sam says that we have got to have some restriction on political activity, that you have got to invoke the Hatch Act to prevent political activity upon certain people in the Commonwealth, we have got to refuse several million dollars and say that we refuse to carry on this health service. I know it is going to be said that the Department of Health is going to do the job in the future, but I doubt, Mr. Speaker, whether it can be said that the Department of Health—not this Department of Health, but Departments of Health in the past, in the James administration and the Earle administration and the Pinchot administration and the Fisher administration and going on way back, ever did the job that the people of Pennsylvania should rightfully expect of their state government.

We are saying now that all the progress that has been made up to this time, or practically all the progress is progress that we have been compelled to make after we found out what was going on in the world, and turn down in the future these health services rather than continue our travel up the hill, up which we have striven so many years with the Federal Government leading the way.

I am not saying that you have got to be a Democrat to vote for something that the Federal Government stands for, but you have got to be humane in your instincts, and you have got to be man enough to refuse to say "You have got to stop where you are now and refuse to go on in the future."

You have got to be able to say we have so much money this year, we will have so much money next year, and so much money in the years to come that we will not need this money even though the health services might be frozen at their present level of, let us say, inefficiency and not think we need anything better.

Mr. Speaker, I think this is an important governmental problem; it is an important problem of policy, but I am not interested in whether the Civil Service Commission presently is given the authority to hire and fire the personnel because of political activity, either Republican or Democrat. I have my own ideas about the Hatch Act. I believe the Hatch Act has not accomplished the purpose which it's idealistic sponsors originally intended. I doubt whether the Hatch Act should stay on the books much longer because experience has indicated that the Hatch Act has too many limitations and restrictions on freedom of expression and freedom of speech, political or otherwise.

But let us not get political about it, let us forget there is such a thing as the Hatch Act. If we have to suffer with it let us suffer with it and have Congress repeal it, but do not in the meantime pay eight million dollars for the privilege of saying that we are Republicans or Democrats and making political speeches.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia has intimated in his remarks that the passage of this bill is purely political. He requested that we argue the matter of amendments to all sections of the bill together rather than taking up the amendments separately.

I see no objection, if the amendments were separated, to having inserted the words "Rheumatic diseases" into the list of various diseases that the state and federal governments may cooperatively work on, but I am certainly opposed to these proposed amendments which would strike out the right of Pennsylvania, if we appropriate the sum of three or four hundred thousand dollars, to use any or all of that money to carry on the functions of the Department of Health without any interference whatsoever from the Federal Government.

I agree with the gentleman from Philadelphia that the Council of State Governments is a very powerful organization in this Nation. They have for years been trying to develop greater state responsibilities and state's rights. I think it is incompetent upon a State like Pennsylvania to have the courage to stand up and say "we will appropriate the necessary funds; we will give a better and more efficient administration and service to the people of this Commonwealth for every dollar of the taxpayer's money" than by having the Federal Government come into Pennsylvania and saying "Here is so much money, just a small of proportion of the entire budget for the operation of the Department of Health, but for this token which we offer you we will tell you how to operate the services in that Department; we will tell you who you may hire, we will tell you who you may fire, we will conduct the affairs of your Department even though we are paying but a small portion of the annual total for the operation of that Department."

Now, we are not trying to curtail any of the health services in Pennsylvania. We agree that there are many programs of cooperation necessary between the state and the federal government, but we do feel that there are moneys being poured into Pennsylvania, into the Department of Health into certain bureaus, and we are therefore put under a program of the Federal Government in many of those bureaus which we in Pennsylvania feel we could operate more efficiently and render better service to the people if we did not accept this Federal money.

All this bill does is appropriate the amount of money necessary to take away whatever part the government and the Secretary of Health may deem necessary to carry on those services and to provide for Pennsylvania to take the leadership among the states in appropriating money necessary to carry on the work of the Department of Health without going to Washington for a handout.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman believe that control of a payroll is worth to the state of Pennsylvania from three million to eight million dollars?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Will the gentleman repeat the question, please.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman believe that the control of the payroll, the right to hire and fire the employes of the Health Department are worth to the State of Pennsylvania and the people of Pennsylvania from three million to eight million dollars?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. It is not conceivable, Mr. Speaker, that under the provision of this bill a situation could arise whereby the Health Department would be required to refuse at least three million dollars, and if the same principle applied in other departments, that those departments would be required to refuse at least five million dollars more, and the thing gained would be control of the payroll?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I do not, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I understand that the other side has agreed that the amendment to section 1 shall be passed. If that is so I do not desire a roll call on the amendment to section 1. We will ask for the roll call on the amendment to section 3.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, to clarify the situation so that the membership know what is going on, the amendment to section 1 adds to the many diseases now in which you can cooperate with the Federal Government, the words "Rheumatic disease". That is the amendment to section 1, and as I stated before, the sponsor of the bill has no objection to putting the words "Rheumatic Disease" in with the other diseases listed in the act. But we do oppose the amendment to section 3.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read and agreed to.

The third section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. COHEN offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 3, page 2, lines 19 to 29, both inslusive, by striking out all of said lines.

Amend Sec. 3, page 3, lines 1 to 3, both inclusive, by striking out all of said lines.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have been a member of this House now, man and boy, since 1936, and many events of great importance have transpired during those years. It has been my privilege and my pleasure to take part in many, many joyful occasions, but sometimes, Mr. Speaker, something happens that is a little bit out of the ordinary, and I think the Members of the House will be doing a job of men towards a man to join with us now in a very brief ceremony on a very important occasion in the life of one of our Members.

You know, I sometimes think that getting Members of the House together in political organizations, in two political organizations, sending those people down here from all parts of the State, all ages, all sizes, all shapes, that you get to a point where the collective action of all the Members might have a sort of effect on a fellow and possibly by following our example, our deeds, and our misdeeds, might catch on to what is going on in life and not making a mistake. I use that last sentence advisedly because we have a way of telling a fellow that he would make a mistake, and I think very few of us have gone through life very far without doing the same thing, under our own terms of course.

Mr. Speaker, I am very happy to tell the Members of this House that one of our Members last week took a plunge—he anticipated it for some time and he has broken his precedent in my opinion, by doing it, so our Member, a fellow from West Philadelphia comes up and gets himself married and not only gets married, but he even has the nerve to spend his honeymoon here—not only does he spend his honeymoon here but he even subjects his wife to the ogling on the sidelines where all the wolves prey—and I use the word "prey" advisedly —in fact something of the sort has been going on while we are sitting here.

Mr. Speaker, we have a very short ceremony here, but before we go on further with it I should like to yield now to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, it is my pleasure and privilege to introduce this resolution and I hope that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Modell, having taken me as an example in the past will also follow my example in the future.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Messrs. SKALE and ROSE offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 17, 1945.

As one entered the Hall of the House during February and March, a new and different feeling was apparent—and faintly, as from a distance, came the sound of bells.

It was not the sound of church bells or alarm bells or call bells, but the soft tintinnabulations of a different sort—yes, it sounded like wedding bells and the feeling we noted must have been that soft, tender feeling of new love.

The cause for these soft and tender sounds and feelings has been found—it was our Herman Modell.

We know now that he was married on April 12 to Miss L. Virginia Smith, daughter of Mrs. Bessie Smith, and the late Dr. Carl Smith.

The wedding was held, or in the language we best understand, "Herman was hitched" in the very fashionable and exclusive Hotel Warwick in Philadelphia.

Herman had, before this event occurred, taken unto himself a lot of honors, including degrees of B.S. and L.L.B., but he delayed that of B.M. (Blessed Matrimony) until this late date; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House extends its congratulations to the honorable Herman M. Modell on this, his most recent accomplishment, and with those congratulations goes the hope that this new venture will always remain his greatest; to Mrs. Modell we extend our very best wishes for her future happiness and our admission that, as a House of Representatives, we feel that she has chosen well and wisely; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution, suitably engrossed and properly decorated with cupids and hearts, shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk to Mrs. Modell.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I am not going to boast like the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, did when he talked about Herman following his example, whether he wanted Herman to follow him in losing his hair or having children or any of a number of things that we know Skale did before he got hitched, but, Mr. Speaker, we are making a precedent now. We will have a presentation to Herman Modell and Mrs. Modell, and I ask the Sergeant-at-Arms to come down the aisle and lay the package that he has on the table so that we can all view it.

The SPEAKER. The Sergeant-at-Arms will present himself in the well of the House with whatever gift he has.

The Chair requests the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Modell and the bride, Mrs. Modell to present themselves in the well of the House.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Modell.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, that indeed was a big moment in this little life when I got hitched, as they say, on April 12th. Of course the Reading Clerk and the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Skale, are rather rushing us into things, but perhaps at a later date we will bring other news.

This really was a great surprise to me. I didn't know that there would be a cake such as the large and beautiful cake presented to us in this House, and I hope we will have a few moments today to have some sort of cake cutting so that everyone can enjoy it. I know we will remember it for quite a long time. I perhaps should say very little today, but then again, inasmuch as this will be one of the few occasions at which time I will get the last word in, I am going to take advantage of it. What was that I heard about the wolves a little while ago? But since it is my good friend from Delaware, Mr. Turner, everything is forgiven.

I do want to express to every Member of the House, Mr. Speaker, my deep appreciation for their kind resolution sponsored by Mr. Skale, and their approval of it. I will remember it for many, many years. I am very appreciative to all of you for those good wishes. Thank you very much.

The SPEAKER. The Chair extends its best wishes to the bride and groom and wishes them many years of happiness.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. MOSER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lehigh will state it.

Mr. MOSER. Mr. Speaker, on last Tuesday afternoon there was a very unpleasant incident happened in this House. It was in reference to House Bill 647. The chairman of the Committee on Third Class Cities, Mr. McClester, moved that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Third Class Cities. I through a misunderstanding opposed this motion. I want to commend Mr. McClester for the stand he took. It was an unwritten agreement which has been followed and a custom of this House for many years, and I commend him and congratulate him upon the stand he took.

Mr. Speaker, I think it is no more than right and fair that we avoid instances of that kind in the future. I believe that if Chairmen of Committees when they report a bill from their Committee with the understanding that it is to be recommitted after the second reading, the sponsor of the bill should be so notified, and in that way the sponsors, the Members of the House and the Chairman will not be placed in an embarrassing position.

RESOLUTION

EXTENDING SUPPORT TO PRESIDENT

Messrs. ANDREWS and LICHTENWALTER offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 17, 1945.

Whereas, An all wise Providence, the father of nations, has decreed that Franklin Delano Roosevelt should lay aside his earthly tasks and that the responsibilities imposed upon national and international leadership should pass to Harry S. Truman, the nation's new President, and

Whereas, The successful succession of Harry S. Truman without the impairment of national prestige and with no interruption in the orderly processes of our domestic government or the functioning of our far flung military forces, or the prosecution of our projects designed to achieve for ourselves and for the world an enduring peace represents one of the supreme triumphs of our democracy, therefore be it

Resolved, By this House, that it extends to Harry S. Truman it's support and the support of the constituencies it represents in the immediate tasks of preserving the domestic tranquility, the winning of the war and the achievements of a lasting peace.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution.

The resolution was unanimously adopted by a rising vote.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. ROSE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I noticed in the Philadelphia Inquirer this morning that Governor Martin had in a statement issued yesterday called upon and evinced the hope that the Dumbarton Oaks proposal would be adopted by the Congress. I again wish to call to the attention of the Members of the House that in the early days of the session the Honorable Reuben Cohen and I sponsored a resolution which is now in the Rules Committee, memorializing Congress to adopt those proposals.

I think it is quite apropos at this moment on the eve of the San Francisco Conference that the Members of the House be able to show that they too are in favor of the Dumbarton Oaks proposals, and I wish the Members of the House to know that the Rules Committee has not yet acted upon our resolution. I feel that this resolution should be acted upon in the very near future so that the House will be enabled to indicate its approval of these proposals at this time.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

By consent of the House leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Owens for Mr. CHERVENAK for the week on account of continued illness.

Mr. Scanlon for Mr. GALLAGHER on account of death in the family, and for Messrs. DUFFY and HERSCH on account of illness.

Mr. LAUGHNER. Ground and equipment, that is right.

Mr. ANDREWS. And is equipment real estate?

Mr. LAUGHNER. I believe some equipment is real estate and some is personal property.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Pittsburgh, Mr. McNair, to describe for us what constitutes real estate in Pittsburgh and how it has been taxed.

Mr. McNAIR. Mr. Speaker, there are three taxing bodies in our city. The county taxes machinery, houses and land. The School Board does not tax machinery, nor does the city. The School Board taxes the land and buildings at the flat rate, but technically speaking the City of Pittsburgh does not tax real estate, and this bill by its title attempts to fix a limit on real estate taxes, while in the body of the bill it correctly states that the city taxes land at one rate and buildings at another.

To my mind this Bill would have a faulty title in view of the fact that we do not have a specific tax rate upon real estate as such, and the only way I could say what the tax rate in Pittsburgh is on real estate would be to know the value of the buildings and the value of the land so that we could make up the general tax rate upon a specific property. Therefore I would say that this bill is faulty as to its title in view of the fact that it fixes a limit on real estate when as a matter of fact they do not tax real estate in Pittsburgh at a specific rate. We have one rate upon land and one rate upon buildings.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I would very briefly rise in defense of this bill and would call the attention of the Members of the House to the fact that if the title of the bill is in error, as the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. McNair, has alleged, then it certainly was incumbent upon him, with the days that it has been lying upon the calendar, to present an amendment to it which would correct the defect or any defects that might be in the title.

Whether such defects exist I cannot say; I do not believe that they do. Certainly it seems to me that some type of smoke screen is being thrown up to defeat this bill. We certainly have introduced the bill only with the thought in mind that the taxing authorities of the City of Pittsburgh shall not place upon real estate owners of the City of Pittsburgh taxes at a greater rate than now exists.

For that reason, Mr. Speaker, I certainly would ask and urge every Member, both Republican and Democrat in this House to go along to relieve the real estate home owners in Pittsburgh of any increase in taxes that might be imposed upon them.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, it was no more the responsibility of the gentleman from Pittsburgh Mr. McNair, to cure the defects in the title of this bill than it is his responsibility to prevent the other gentlemen from Pittsburgh, Mr. Fleming, from making a political speech every time he rises to address himself to what should be a technical question.

I submit to the lawyers in this House that when you have a bill fixing a tax on buildings and another tax on land and no tax at all on equipment, that you do not have a bill, as the title says, "fixing a limit of taxes on real estate," and I defy any lawyer on the other side, in view of the fact that this bill would limit taxes on buildings, and would limit taxes on land, to tell me what the tax on real estate would be in any particular case.

Now, I have no doubt that by a very simple amendment in the title of this bill, the gentleman from Allegheny could make House Bill 936 a workable document, but I submit to the legal fraternity in this House and to the lay Membership that he does not now have a workable bill.

Mr. McNAIR. Mr. Speaker, I would also like to suggest that this is not the only defect in this bill. This puts the City in a very bad position in case of a crisis like a flood or fire. We are not allowed to increase our tax rate. There are other cities that have a limitation upon their real estate taxes but in every instance that I know of, by a vote of the people in case of crisis they can increase their income, but this bill is a vicious bill in that it ties the hands of the Council; it can never increase the taxes above the rate fixed by this bill, which I think is wrong.

Mr. LAUGHNER. Mr. Speaker, I am not a lawyer. I do not know whether or not there is any defect in the title of this bill, but I do know that we just passed a bill in the House to give City Council of Pittsburgh the right to tax anything that the state does not now tax with the exception of wages, sales and occupation.

Mr. Speaker, it is my opinion that if the Council does tax other things that the home owner and the property owner is being taxed high enough now. If they tax other things we all know that the property owner and the home owner will be again paying taxes indirectly.

My only thought in this is to protect the home owner. A week or two ago we had a public hearing on these bills, and there were records kept of that public hearing. I think if the gentleman on the other side of the House will look at the record they will find at least two and I think three of the present Councilmen of the City of Pittsburgh made plain statements that the taxes on real estate in Pittsburgh were just as high as the real estate owners could stand.

Mr. SHAFFER. Mr. Speaker, as has been said, House Bill 936 limits the taxing authority of the City of Pittsburgh to its present rate of twenty-five mills on land and twelve and a half mills on buildings. I am not interested particularly in the politics which might be drawn into this discussion. The only question in my mind is whether this bill is advisable under existing law. At the present time at this moment this is the only taxing authority which the City of Pittsburgh has; it is the only source of revenue except for a few miscellaneous items which the city can now secure. We know, and it was testified at the public hearing, that the City of Pittsburgh has been operating at a loss since 1935. The causes for this situation are generally two-fold, first a decrease in the assessed valuation which of course means a decrease in revenue. On the other hand an extension of public services offered which lays further burdens upon the City, and also of course the rising cost.

As has been said, bills which freeze the source of the revenue of a city or a municipality have been passed in many instances, but only in those instances in which other sources of revenue have been provided so that you have an elastic taxing system that is elastic enough to meet emergencies.

Now, I am well aware that this House passed a so-called Sterling Act a few minutes ago. That bill is not a law today. It would be presumptious, it appears to me, on the part of this House to assume what action the Senate of Pennsylvania might take upon the measure just recently passed. Further, it would seem to me to be rather presumptious as to what action the Governor would take thereon. We are being placed in the position in which we are freezing the revenue of the City of Pittsburgh without any knowledge as to whether the other laws will be enacted finally.

Intending to vote against this bill, I think it is only fair to point out that such a vote cannot be construed as a vote against raising the tax millage on real estate. I quite agree that real estate is heavily taxed, and it is heavily taxed in Pittsburgh, and I readily agree that unless there be no other alternative the rate of millage should not be increased, but I do contend that until other powers of taxing are placed upon the statute books and enacted finally into law this bill is a very bad bill, because it will hamper the City of Pittsburgh.

As has been pointed out by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McNair, in the event of any emergency it would throw extra expense upon the city. Therefore, it is for this reason, and not as stated by the sponsor of the bill that I would desire to increase the millage of Pittsburgh, but I am absolutely against freezing the sources of revenue until another source of revenue is provided.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I first of all would briefly like to thank the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Andrews. I would like to return the compliment and say that he too makes distinguished and eloquent political speeches, and I think they are very good ones, but in view of the fact that there may possibly be an error in this title, a technical error, I would move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the sponsor of this bill to explain the bill.

Mr. HAUDENSHIELD. Mr. Speaker, I wish to yield to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming, who will explain this bill.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman must yield to someone who is in the House.

Mr. HAUDENSHIELD. Mr. Speaker, I ask that this bill lay over until tomorrow.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I wonder if we couldn't ask Mr. Cohen to explain this bill. Nobody else seems to know anything about it.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, it was very fortunate that when this bill came up we have in the House here the Superintendent of Schools of the City of Pittsburgh and the President of the Board of Education. We do not like to see our bills kicked around like this. It is a very simple bill. I just know Mr. Haudenshield did not get a chance to explain his own bill.

It simply gives the Board of Education the right to sell property taken in on tax sales without public sale or without confirmation by the court. I would like to explain it further if anyone would like to have further explanation.

I would like on behalf of the School Board of the City of Pittsburgh to ask for patience, and that the sponsor of this bill, Mr. Haudenshield, be given an opportunity to catch his breath. We took him unaware as he came into the House.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, since the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, understands all about this bill I would like to ask him to explain why it should be necessary to write into the law provisions whereby any property belonging to the people can be sold at private sale without confirmation of the court or advertising. What unusual situation has arisen that calls for that kind of a bill?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I am not the sponsor of the bill, but I think I know the import behind the bill. It is the desire of the Board of Education of the City of Pittsburgh, of which I have the honor to be a member, to place back on the taxable list all the properties that are not actually being utilized for school purposes. This only applies to the property that is taken in on a tax sale. We feel that when the property is taken in on a tax sale we should be permitted to sell that property without going through the long procedure that is necessary in the case of property that we do not acquire by tax sales.

I admit for the sake of argument that this is a departure from the regular course in which we have to deal with real estate, but this only applies to tax properties. Some of the property is very poor, but even then we think we ought to be allowed to get that property back on the tax list; that is our primary purpose. After all—and I say this for myself and do not intend to commit the school board to this proposition, but we are holding properties now that are tax exempt because we are holding them, and we cannot sell them. If we could sell them for a fair consideration, which may not be the actual market value, but for a fair consideration, the properties would go back on the tax list and therefore would save us money and save the citizens of the City of Pittsburgh money.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, is the bill before the House or is the sponsor of the bill putting it on the postponed calendar? I want to obey his wishes in whatever he may do.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Haudenshield, wish to have the bill passed over or placed on the postponed calendar?

Mr. McNAIR. Mr. Speaker, could I be permitted to make a short statement from my desk instead of using that "mike?"

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will use his pleasure. The microphone is for the convenience of all the Members.

Mr. McNAIR. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a short statement about our school board. They are a group of very estimable gentlemen. They are appointed by the court, so why today ask permission of the court to make a sale? If they do not do the right thing the court certainly has control over them.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I do not have the slightest personal interest in this bill. However, we are writing a precedent and a principle into our statutory law. If any body of public servants have the public's property to sell it is their duty to see that as many people as possible know that the property is for sale, and their protection if they are well intentioned, lies in the confirmation of the court.

Now, for members of school boards because they are so very eminent, so very respectable, because their lineage runs from the court rather than from the people—to say that they are entitled to privileges not granted to councils of cities, not granted to county commissioners, not granted to any other public body, I think runs contrary to sound practice, and that is the only interest I have in this bill. I do not believe we should write the principle it stands for into statutory law.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the noes appeared to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, more than a majority of one hundred five having voted in the affirmative the motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I have been unable to find anybody over on this side of the House who would tell me just what this bill does or what is being done now and what the justification for the bill is. I would like to vote for the measure, but I want to salve my conscience by having somebody explain to me what it is I am voting about.

Mr. HAUDENSHIELD. Mr. Speaker, I would think that section 14 of this bill would explain itself. This bill is a method of carrying on the business of guaranteeing the authority of fiduciaries and others acting in a representative capacity to transfer or exchange certificates of stocks, bonds and other securities by insurance fidelity companies, to protect fiduciaries and those who have the handling of the property. I think section 14 amply explains itself.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, are there no such provisions now in the law?

Mr. HAUDENSHIELD. There are not, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

withstanding said tax may be denominated a tax upon income by the taxing authority

(3) Expenses paid out of income according to subsection (1) hereof which represent regularly recurring charges shall be considered to have accrued from day to day and shall be apportioned on that basis whenever the right of the tenant begins or ends at some date other than the payment date of the expenses Where the expenses to be paid out of income are of unusual amount the trustee may distribute them throughout an entire year or part thereof or throughout a series of years After such distribution where the right of the tenant ends during the period the expenses shall be apportioned between tenant and remainderman on the basis of such distribution

Section 13 Expenses Non-Trust Estates (1) The provisions of section twelve so far as applicable shall govern the apportionment of expenses between tenants and remaindermen where no trust has been created subject however to any legal agreement of the parties or any specific direction of the taxing or other statutes but where either tenant or remainderman has incurred an expense for the benefit of his own estate and without the consent or agreement of the other he shall pay such expense in full

(2) The special taxes or assessments for an improvement representing an addition of value to property forming part of the principal shall be paid by the tenant where such improvement cannot reasonably be expected to outlast the estate of the tenant In all other cases a portion thereof only shall be paid by the tenant while the remainder shall be paid by the remainderman Such portion shall be ascertained by taking that percentage of the total which is found by dividing the present value of the tenant's estate by the present value of an estate of the same form as that of the tenant except that it is limited for a period corresponding to the reasonably expected duration of the improvement The computation of present values of the estates shall be made on the expectancy basis set forth in the American Experience Tables of Mortality and no other evidence of duration or expectancy shall be considered

Section 14 Uniformity of Interpretation This act shall be so interpreted and construed as to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law of those states which enact it

Section 15 Short Title This act may be cited as the Uniform Principal and Income Act

Section 16 Repeal All acts or parts of acts which are inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

Section 17 Time of Taking Effect The provisions of this act shall become effective upon the enactment thereof and shall apply to all estates of tenants or remaindermen and to all wills trust agreements and trust relations theretofore or thereafter made or created Provided however that the provisions of this act shall not apply to receipts and expenses received or paid prior to the effective date of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have somebody in the House explain this bill so that we would know what we are voting on.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman will probably recall that this is the measure concerning which there was some discussion on the floor of the House several days ago. The bill involves the scheduling or the establishing of a norm by which estates held in trust by life tenants and later to be passed on to remaindermen are to be distributed according to principal or income.

I should like to know from the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, if he desires a detailed explanation of the various sections of the bill, which I assure him are quite complicated, and also concerning which, Mr. Speaker, those engaged in the discussion several days ago have finally agreed to go along.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, replying to the gentleman from Elk, I want an idea what the bill is. The explanation of the bill given does not tell me very much. I do not want the gentleman to read the bill at length, but I want him to tell me what the bill does.

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of clarification, perhaps I might give an example of where litigation can arise out of, let us say, the will of a testator. A will provides that a given number of shares of stock, for example—it may be any other kind of property—is given to one person to be enjoyed by him for the duration of his life, and after his death to be passed on to some other individual absolutely. During the period of the enjoyment by the life tenant dividends are declared on this stock. The question then arises as to who is entitled to the dividends. There has been much litigation on the question because of the various types of dividends that might be declared on this particular stock. The bill clarifies judicial precedent. It provides that if there is a cash dividend it is the property of the one who owns the stock for life. It provides that if it is a stock dividend or a dividend of stock in the company in which the shares are held, that it becomes increment or a part of the principal which is to be passed on to the remainderman, or the one who comes into the enjoyment of the possession after the death of the life tenant. If the dividend involves issuance of rights to subscribe to stock in the same corporation it is also considered an increment or an addition to principal which shall pass on to the remainderman after the enjoyment of possession by the life tenant. And so it goes on, Mr. Speaker, to the various types of property, and it determines or establishes a norm as to who shall have the enjoyment of it.

I might ask the gentleman, at this time, Mr. Speaker, if this example gives him an idea as to what the bill intends to accomplish.

Mr. MORAN. Yes, Mr. Speaker, I think I understand now. It is about as clear as mud.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, if the Allegheny County Republicans and the Allegheny County Democrats are meeting, are we invited to the wedding?

Mr. SPEAKER. The Chair thinks the gentleman is entitled to ask the question. However, the Chair cannot answer it.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Mr. MAHANY offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 17, 1945.

It is with sorrow that the members of the House of Representatives learn of the death of former Representative Frank Bernhardt von Tacky, member of this body during the legislative term of 1911-12.

Representative von Tacky was a native of Titusville, and spent virtually all of his life at that city. He attended Titusville schools and graduated from Eastman Business College at Poughkeepsie, New York in 1898. He entered business with his father in the Titusville Oil Works and continued there until the plant was dismantled a few years ago.

For many years Mr. von Tacky had taken an active part in civic and charitable affairs of Titusville. It is therefore

Resolved, That the sympathy of the House of Representatives is hereby expressed and that a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the bereaved members of his family.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. DIX asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, millions of dollars have been provided for post war work on the primary road system of Pennsylvania, but up to the present time I have heard of no program for postwar work on the secondary roads of Pennsylvania which are the farm-to-market roads. I would like to refer you to some figures, Mr. Speaker. During the administration of Governor Pinchot there were 8713 miles of secondary roads constructed. During the Earle administration there were 2390 miles of secondary roads constructed and during the James administration there were 3629 miles of secondary roads constructed, or an approximate total of 15,000 miles. Now, Mr. Speaker, all that there is left on the secondary system of Pennsylvania, dirt roads, is six thousand miles, but in my opinion unless a determined effort is made during the next five or six years with this postwar money, these rural roads, the farm-to-market roads, are going to drag on over a period of twenty or twenty-five years without completion.

The purpose of my resolution, Mr. Speaker, is to urge on the Highway Department to adopt a program for secondary roads of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, I have seen the program that has been outlined for the primary roads of Pennsylvania, and it runs into tens of millions of dollars, but I do not know of any program for secondary roads or farm-to-market roads at the present time, and the purpose of this resolution is to call the attention of the Members of the House and also the Highway Department, to the fact that we are not planning any great postwar project for the rural people of Pennsylvania.

Here is the resolution:

In the House of Representatives, April 17, 1945.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has 6,000 miles of unimproved rural dirt roads remaining in its highway system; and

Whereas, These dirt roads are largely farm-to-market roads, school-bus routes, mail routes and milk routes; and

Whereas, It is unthinkable that the great and rich Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should continue to permit an unimproved State rural road system to exist; and

Whereas, The farmers, dairymen, lumbermen and villagers of our rural districts, have a right to expect our great Commonwealth to remedy the deplorable condition of our 6,000 miles of State dirt roads; and

Whereas, Little or no effort has been exerted since the Pinchot administration or fifteen years ago, to complete the hardsurfacing of these 6,000 miles of dirt State roads; and

Whereas, It was then demonstrated that thousands of miles per year of these dirt roads could be hard-surfaced without impairment to the financial condition of the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, There is not better project for postwar construction than the completion of the hard-surfacing of these 6,000 miles of dirt roads; and

Whereas, Over a period of six years, one thousand miles of such roads can be hard-surfaced at a cost that will not be burdensome to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, The improvement of these dirt roads will benefit more people and furnish more employment per dollar than any other project yet planned for the Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Pennsylvania State Highway Department improve 1,000 miles of the remaining State dirt roads per year, or as much thereof as is possible, as a postwar project, and that intercity boulevards and superhighways, if necessary for financial reasons, be held in abeyence until the rural dirt system is completely improved with hard-surfaced highways; and be it further

Resolved, That the State Highway Department proceed immediately to formulate a plan for constructing and financing the completion of these farm-to-market roads to the end that there be made available good hard-surfaced rural roads for the greater promotion of marketing, farming, dairying, education, religion, recreation and tourist travel throughout Pennsylvania.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D. offered the following prayer:

To the God and Father of all men we pray, and to none other, for Thou are the prayer-hearing and prayer-answering God. Put sincerity in our hearts that our words may express nothing but the truth. Then inspire us to live our prayers in all our deliberations and enactments. For our past sins we ask forgiveness. For the mistakes we have made we pray for wisdom and courage to rectify them in so far as that is possible.

Now we thank Thee for the life that Thou has given us and for the many opportunities and privileges we have had. Life has been good because Thou has been good to us. Continue Thy favor to us and may our gratitude never fail.

We remember in prayer our country. How blessed we are in it! Surely it is God's chosen land today. In our plenty may we all learn that blessing comes to those who give to the many who are in need in so many other lands, whose people are children of the same Father—our God and theirs.

Endow all our leaders in Nation and State with the wisdom that comes from above. Give to our armed forces courage and strength to overcome all our enemies and thus hasten the day when "The sun of righteousness shall rise with healing in His wings" for all the peoples of the earth.

All we pray is in the name of Him, whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, based on love. Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. McCREESH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, yesterday afternoon when the Lieutenant-Governor had to leave the Chair for some unknown reason, a man who I have great respect for and like his way of doing business, some other gentleman was appointed to take his place. I am not going to mention any names because the incident occurred between the hours of four and six.

This gentleman—I do not know what name to give him, whether to call him a crackpot or whether you would consider this a lawyer's smart trick or just plain ignorance—he refused to recognize a Senator and gave the floor to one of the other Senators; he absolutely turned his back on the Senator who wanted to speak, and in some wild manner of emotion he called upon a former Democrat to take the floor. If he had to call on a good Republican, I would not mind, but you are never sure of a turn-coat and you can not tell what way he might jump.

Mr. President, what I want to get into the record is that we have fifty Senators here, they are all elected by the people from their different districts and each Senator on this floor, in my estimation, has a right to speak when he wants to, if he asks for the privilege at the proper time and the proper place. We have a lot of Senators that sit back in the corner, good Senators, and this is a bad inducement to Senators, to jump on them right away and set them down, and you prevent Senators from speaking their minds. Senators, no matter what district they come from, to me, one is just as good as another, and that is the way I think the business on this side should be conducted.

This man, this—well, I do not know—palooka or whatever he is, he ran over the calendar in such a fashion that you would have thought it was a wastebasket, the papers he was throwing out of his office. This might be considered as a laughing matter, but you are dealing with legislation belonging to the state of Pennsylvania. You have got people who put in a lot of time every day, and in my estimation, Mr. President and members of the Senate, this should be stopped; you are degrading the Senate when you start such tactics as this, jumping on some Senator and acting in a wild manner. That should not be allowed here.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. CROWE from the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish, to which was referred on March 27, 1945, the following resolution from the House of Representatives reported the same without amendments as follows, viz:

INVESTIGATION OF THE GAME AND FISH COMMISSION

In the House of Representatives, March 19, 1945.

Since the organization of this General Assembly, the Game Commission and the Fish Commission have been the objects of adverse criticism and various resolutions have been introduced requesting investigations of the conduct of their work.

In his address to the General Assembly at the time of the convening of this session, his Excellency the Governor stated that the idea of "combining the two commissions had been suggested" which leads to the conclusion that others think that the game and fish situation in Pennsylvania could be improved.

The criticism of, and the abuse directed at these two commissions must have some basis, and even though the facts upon which that basis is constructed may be erroneous, it is still sufficient to raise a doubt as to the efficiency of these two very important parts of the State Government.

If the criticisms are justifiable, a change should be made. If they are not, then both commissions are entitled to the support of the General Assembly and to its stamp of approval.

For their protection and for a renewal of the faith of the people in the efficiency of the administration of these important commissions, a full investigation should be made; therefore be it

Resolved, That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby requests the Joint State Government Commission to make a thorough investigation of the Game Commission and the Fish Commission of the Commonwealth, and of their manner of administering the laws of the Commonwealth relating to game and fish, of the manner of re-stocking the game and fish life, and of the establishing of closed seasons, and to study and make a comparison of the work and conduct of similar commissions or departments in other states, and to make a full and complete report of their study and investigation to the General Assembly not later than March 1, 1947, accompanied by such recommendations concerning any change in the administration of the matters now under the supervision and control of the Game Commission and the Fish Commission that they decide should be made.

BILL INTRODUCED AND COMMITTED

Mr. EDMONDS read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 736, entitled:

An Act validating the action of county commissioners in fixing the compensation of tax collectors in boroughs and townships for collecting county and institution district taxes.

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. WAGNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. President, I have a number of bills to introduce which are of very vital importance to the men in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who work in the mines. Because of the nature of these bills and because of some bills that have been previously introduced dealing with the same situation, I think it is very important that I make some preliminary observations with regard to these men, about whom we hear much talk at this particular time.

I was a member of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania when the last contract was negotiated between the miners and the operators and, coming from the hard coal region, I was amazed at that time to find that there was almost a complete lack of appreciation on the part of those who did not live in the mining parts of Pennsylvania, almost of complete knowledge of the kind of men those fellows are who go into the bowels of the earth and dig out the coal. To hear certain observations made and certain questions asked, you would think they were some kind of long-horned animals who were different from human beings, as we usually think of them.

I would like very much to read this afternoon an editorial which appeared in the Evening Hearld of Shenandoah, Pennsylvania, on the 15th day of last March. It is a reprint of a splendid editorial in the Pathfinder Magazine headed "A Square Deal for Miners," and I quote:

"SQUARE DEAL FOR MINERS

"It is time to call a halt to the great American sport of abusing the coal miners. The entire foundation of American industry is keyed to coal production which is a dangerous underground work requiring great skill and courage. It's dark and damp, often men work a whole day in cramped positions. If ever there was a group of men who deserve expressions of appreciation and encouragement, these are the men. Instead, nobody wants to admit that they are even human beings. They are a favorite target of unjustified abuse, and are treated as though they had no souls of their own.

"Mr. John L. Lewis is an exceedingly able and brilliant man, but when he resorts to satire and power politics he is hardly making the best case for the welfare of his people. The miners have a good case. They represent the most basic of all basic industries upon which our entire economy is built. The public has no idea of the hardships to which the miners are subjected. It is the bar of public opinion which decides all these matters in the long run and he should take the justice of his own case to the people in a sincere, honest manner rather than showing up the absurdities of the Administration's setup by copying the Petrillo technique of a 10-cent-a-ton shakedown to the United Mine Workers treasury.

"There are mighty few people in America mean enough not to be willing to pay a little more for their light and heat after seeing the moving pictures and other graphic portrayals of the miners' homes and their life underground. And there are very few manufacturers in America who would not say that a little more incentive pay and a little more cheerful environment would not result in more coal for a dollar, rather than less.

"Mr. Lewis' approach is worthy of a Dean Swift, but it is not going to be evident to the public that he means it to be a subtle attack upon too blind a devotion to the 'Little Steel' formula.

"The mine operators, too, must fight for the welfare of their own people and recognize the basic principle that incentive pay is not inflationary but brings the greatest productivity per man and per dollar. All mines have different operating conditions and men are entitled to incentive pay under their own conditions in their own mines. Trading en masse is not fair to either the men or the locals, and further it breeds despair amongst that class of people who over and above everybody else in America need leadership, hope and superior living conditions to offset the dreary, depressing environment of their daily work.

"The press and the public, misled by phony propaganda, thoroughly misunderstand, and instead of praising the noble job which these men are doing, join in the tirade and abuse directed at the miners.

"Where are the Congressmen from the mining districts? Where are the Governors from the coal producing states? Is it not their function to come to the rescue of this great mass of their constituents?

"The papers have been filled recently with the fact that American coal miners are producing three and a half times as much coal per man as miners are producing in England. The British have been forced to draft men for labor in their coal mines. American miners increased their output in 1944, with less manpower.

"Sometimes we get a little tired of all the hokum on inflation and the 'Little Steel' formula. The government had no business creating the 'Little Steel' formula until it first re-established equity in basic industrial wages. Thousands and thousands of young men in coal mining families go into shipyards and other war industries and then come home on Saturday night, having learned a new and less skilled trade, with $25 more in their pockets than their fathers and brothers who have spent their lives in the coal mining professions. This is the injustice which rankles.

"Let's cut out the hypocrisy. Give the miners adequate pay, and the operators a fair living.

"Restore the relative pay relationships between different trades and then, and only then, have we a chance to dig in against inflation."

That I read from the Shenandoah Herald, which is a reprint article from the Pathfinder Magazine.

I do not say that we can do anything about that economic or wage situation here in this Senate, but I do say that we can do something about another matter which is vital to the health of every miner and which is essential to the economic condition and well-being of every family that is supported by work in the mines. I am thinking about the occupational disease law, which apparently does not cover the miner, and I want to be very fair and state at the outset that there was introduced in this Senate sometime in February a bill, by the gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman, and the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Cox, which approaches this thing that I am approaching in a different way this afternoon.

I do not care who gets the credit. I do not care who might be the author of any legislation which would bring these men into proper coverage that ought to be given them by an occupational disease act and the compensation that ought to go with it. In just a few instances, gentlemen, mine operators have taken insurance to protect themselves against the costs that might have to be imposed upon them by claims that would be recognized, made by miners who would come under the occupational disease act, I say, in just a few cases, and then there came along court decisions which indicated, in the judgment of the courts, that the Act does not cover the miners so far as occupational disease is concerned. I leave it up to you to decide whether it is not likely to be true that not too long after this session of the Pennsylvania Legislature adjourns, all the operators will get out from under and away from the coverage which the courts say is no longer necessary because the miner does not come under this act. It is a proposition that requires the best thought and the most careful study of the best minds of this Senate.

Maybe this bill to which I referred a few moments ago is the answer, maybe either one of these two bills that I am submitting today may be the answer, but let us find some answer; let us find some way to make possible and to make available this very essential coverage so far as occupational disease is concerned, on the part of thousands of the finest and the hardest working men in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania today, who are performing so diligently and so valiantly in an essential part of the war production.

With all that in mind, gentlemen, I am pleased to read in place and present to the Chair the following bills dealing with the coverage of coal miners in all fields under occupational disease:

BILLS INTRODUCED AND COMMITTED

Mr. WAGNER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 737, entitled:

An Act to amend section four of article ten of the act approved the second day of June, one thousand eight hundred ninety-one (P. L. 176) entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the anthracite coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith," by providing for the removal and rendering harmless of certain dust.

Which was committed to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 738, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of article IV of the act, approved the fifteenth day of May, one thousand eight hundred ninety-three (P. L. 52), entitled "An act relating to bituminous coal mines, and providing for the lives, health, safety and welfare of persons employed therein," by providing for the removal and rendering harmless of certain dust.

Which was committed to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 739, entitled:

An Act to amend the title, section two hundred four and subsection (a) of section three hundred one and to repeal sections three hundred two, three hundred three and three hundred four of the act, approved the twenty-first day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 566) entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for occupational disease contracted by an employe arising out of, and in, the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder; imposing duties on the Department of Labor and Industry, the Workmen's Compensation Board, Workmen's Compensation Referees, and deans of medical schools; creating a medical board to determine controverted medical issues; establishing an Occupational Disease Fund in custody of the State Workmen's Insurance Board; imposing upon the Commonwealth a part of the compensation payable for certain occupational diseases; making an appropriation; and prescribing penalties," making the schedules of compensation compulsory upon all employers.

Which was committed to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. COLEMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, as the son of a miner who literally gave his life to the business of mining coal in the anthracite region, I rise to compliment the gentleman from Schuylkill for the presentation of these bills. I have not read their contents, but if they bring about the desired results, I shall be delighted to have the Committee on Mines and Mining give prior consideration to the enactment of the bills presented by the gentleman from Schuylkill.

I share in the beliefs so well expressed by the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Wagner, that the miners in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania have been subjected to unfair criticism. No men engaged in any field of endeavor in the Commonwealth have made a greater contribution towards the war effort, and I, too, share his belief that there is no occupation more hazardous than the mining of coal in this great state of our.

Mother Nature is rather jealous of her treasure and she hugs it close to her breast, and he who removes it must rip and tear and blast the precious fuel from Mother Earth. I come from a mining region made up of many miners who are all hospitable people, men who meet their obligations, pay their taxes, make their contribution to government. Although the coal mined from beneath the coal regions has been giving warmth to a shivering although not always duly grateful country, our no less inexhaustible mine of hospitality has been giving warmth to people all over the nation.

I shall be delighted to join with the gentleman from Schuylkill to breathe legislative life into any bills that will adequately compensate the men who make such a great contribution in our war effort.

BILL INTRODUCED AND COMMITTED

Mr. GELTZ read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 740, entitled:

An Act to further amend clause (c) of section seven of the act, approved the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. WOODRING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. WOODRING. Under the order of original resolutions Mr. President, last week I had occasion to castigate our committee system in that too often our committee chairmen, and sometimes a minority membership of the committee, hold bills in their possession and fail to permit a committee to serve as the people of Pennsylvania understand and believe they are served, namely, to consider the various bills which have been referred by the President to the several committees.

This morning I happened to have the pleasure of attending the last regular meeting of the Committee on Law and Order, and the Chairman at that time announced that we had passed upon every bill which has been referred to that committee, and I want to at this time, Mr. President and members of the Senate, pay tribute to that Chairman, my colleague from Clearfield county, Senator Letzler.

(g) After the effective date of this act any company may file with the Insurance Commissioner a written notice of its election to comply with the provisions of this section after a specified date After the filing of such notice then upon such specified date (which shall be the operative date for such company) this section shall become operative with respect to the policies and contracts thereafter issued by such company provided however that the operative date for every life insurance company except a limited life insurance company shall not in any event be later than January first nineteen hundred and forty-eight

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 410, entitled:

An Act relating to and regulating the care and maintenance of children away from their parents providing for the certification and licensing of child welfare organizations [illegible] duties and conferring powers upon the Department of Welfare; imposing duties [illegible] prohibiting certain advertising and prescribing penalties

And said bill having been read at length the third time, on the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I have a lot of letters from Philadelphia in regard to Senate Bill No. 410. Some of the letters are from very important judges. This bill carries with it an appropriation to set up an amount for different positions for social workers. Today foster homes are going along very nicely in Philadelphia and I have not heard of any need for improvement.

When this bill went back to the Committee on Appropriations some time ago I asked leave to be heard, and in some way or other the bill slipped out of the committee, as usual. In my mind, Mr. President, this bill should go back again to the committee on Appropriations and give us time to see just how much money the Governor of the state of Pennsylvania has for such actions as this that are not required. We may need money in the future, after the war is over, so I would not be so hasty in spending or appropriating money until we know just where it should go.

MOTION THAT SENATE BILL 410 BE RECOMMITTED TO COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS

Mr. McCREESH. I move that Senate Bill 410 be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. STIEFEL. I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator McCreesh.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator McCreesh, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McCREESH. Yes, sir, I will.

Mr. MALLERY. Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator McCreesh, know that stables and barns housing cows are inspected?

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I have heard no reports from my district.

Mr. MALLERY. I would just like to have the gentleman from Philadelphia answer my question.

Mr. McCREESH. I might answer your question this way, and say that if we keep on passing legislation of the type we are passing now, yes, you will inspect anything. Again, I would answer the question by saying that inspections or investigations are caused by very poor management, because you or I or anybody can be investigated or inspected. I am not in favor, I might say, of the investigation.

Mr. MALLERY. Does the Senator from Philadelphia know that a great deal of money is now being spent investigating how cattle are kept in Pennsylvania, especially milk cattle?

Mr. McCREESH. No, I am not interested in that stuff.

Mr. MALLERY. I would like to ask the Senator, further, whether he considers it more important to see that milk cattle are properly housed than foundling children.

Mr. McCREESH. I do not consider a cow in the place of a child.

Mr. MALLERY. I just ask my colleagues to vote no on this motion.

Mr. McCREESH. If we are to improve conditions in the state of Pennsylvania and if we are to advise men and women to have families, children, instead of going around with dogs in the street, then we should not start voting for this type of legislation.

The man with a family today, the poor man, is the man who protects the country, his work. He works as long as he can, until he almost drops, and then his family of little children come along fighting for the country. If we disagree with that kind of living and, as I said, foster the other kind, then we are doing a wrong thing.

I am not asking for much; I am asking that this bill go back to the Committee on Welfare until we find out just how much money—they say nineteen thousand dollars is needed—what will be needed next year or what will be needed the year after. By the time you satisfy a lot of social workers going into homes and upsetting little children and upsetting their beds and their conditions of living—it is unnecessary— it is setting up a racket for employes who do not understand children.

The PRESIDENT. Senator McCreesh, your motion, as I heard it, was to recommit the bill to the Committee on Appropriations, and now you say the Committee of Welfare.

Mr. McCREESH. Appropriations is correct, Mr. Presiden.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WOODRING. Mr. President and members of the Senate, the chaplain today, in his invocation, said something like this: "In our day of plenty help us to know the blessedness of giving to those who are less favored than we." That is a nice definition of the word charity, and I am sure we are all for it and it is hard to get up on the floor of the Senate of Pennsylvania and talk against something which smacks of charity.

This bill, Senate Bill No. 684, as I read it, permits directors of corporations to give fifteen percent of their net income as reflected by their federal income tax statements to charitable corporations. If that is all that is motivated here it might be worthy of consideration.

The bill also attempts to validate the giving of gifts from corporate treasuries. That, it seems to me, smacks of suspicion. But aside from either of those considerations, I think the real heart of the situation is this, whether we Senators of Pennsylvania want to attempt to reach down in the pockets of stockholders, shareholders of corporations, and take their money without their permission and give it away, no matter how worthy the cause. If we want to be charitably disposed, if we want to make gifts, we ought to make the gifts from our own pockets and not from somebody else's pocket over which we have no real control.

I therefore think this is a bad bill. I think it is way beyond the scope of our propriety to authorize directors of corporations, to say that they can give away stockholders' money. There is an orderly procedure whereby this can be done—by stockholders' meetings. Stockholders can authorize any gift that they want the corporation to make and if the stockholders authorize it, then I say that is a proper gift. I am especially reluctant to take this position because I know that corporations in my own community are giving to the Community Chest and hospitals, and I am for those gifts, I think it is a fine thing, but I think rather than for us to give away stockholders' money, the stockholders themselves ought to, after the dividends are declared, determine in their own hearts and with their own pocketbooks whether they want to make the gift, and since we are taking away rights from people over whom we have no proper control, I am going to vote against the bill.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not propose to oppose the motion, but in order that the record may be clear for the years to come, because I am firmly convinced that we must sooner or later pass some legislation regulating pedestrians in traffic problems, I therefore wish to have added to the record certain communications addressed to me relative to this type of legislation, and I ask that they be made part of the record.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none. Permission is granted.

"THE ATLANTIC REFINING COMPANY

Philadelphia, April 9, 1945.

"Senator John H. Dent
Harrisburg, Pa.

"Dear Senator Dent:

"I hesitate to add to your daily correspondence, however, I did not wish to pass up the opportunity of expressing to you my sympathy in connection with Senate Bill No. 636, which yourself and Senator Snowden have introduced.

"The changes to the Motor Vehicle Code which will be occasioned by the passage of this bill are absolutely necessary, as you are well aware, before any successful attempt can be made towards effective pedestrian control in the large cities of the State of Pennsylvania.

"We are all, I am sure, apprehensive of an increase in redestrian fatalities in the immediate post war area, so that any action that is taken at this time to enable the State and City authorities to control highway problems should effectively bear fruit at some future date.

"Please permit me to assure you that this bill has not only my own sympathy but also the sympathy of most everyone interested in highway safety and the reduction of pedestrian fatalities.

Very truly yours,

G. W. LAURIE,
Manager, Automotive Transportation."

"PHILADELPHIA SAFETY COUNCIL

1129 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, 7, Pa.

"Honorable John H. Dent,
State Senate,
Harrisburg, Pa.

"Dear Senator Dent:

"In behalf of the Philadelphia Safety Council, which as you probably know, is a non-profit, non-political and co-operative organization for the prevention of all types of accidents, I should like to express my appreciation for your sponsorship, along with Senator Snowden, of Senate Bill No. 636 which you introduced on April 2nd, and which, we now understand, is in your Committee on Highways.

"The Bill amends Section 1218 of the Pennsylvania Vehicle Code, and is designed to give police officers the authority to require names and addresses from persons violating pedestrian regulations. While many of us engaged in traffic safety activities feel that local officers may already have the authority if they choose to exercise it, our police here in Philadelphia, and in some of our other Pennsylvania cities, feel that such a provision in the Vehicle Code is necessary to give added strength to any local ordinance which must subsequently be enacted to effect closer pedestrian control.

"I think you know, that for some few years past, the major proportion of traffic fatalities, not only in the cities but in rural areas as well, have been pedestrians, and it becomes more and more apparent that such educational measures as have hitherto been used must be supplemented, if not by actual rigid enforcement, at least by the authority and power to enforce, if the general public and the police are willing and ready for enforcement.

"In a Pedestrian Slogan Contest conducted last year in Philadelphia by the Philadelphia Safety Council, many of the suggestions coming from some 3000 participants who submitted slogans and essays on what to do about pedestrians, the opinion was expressed that more rigid control measures should be adopted. It may be felt that this is a purely local function and that there is already ample authority in the Vehicle Code to adopt any necessary ordinance but the amendments suggested in Senate Bill No. 636 are solely for the purpose of strengthening any such local ordinances.

"We will very much appreciate your support of this amendment in the interest of further traffic safety on our Streets and Highways, and if, when it is brought out of Committee, we can supply any further information, or if you feel that traffic safety interests would be better served by some of our Council members appearing at a hearing, we will be very glad to do whatever is necessary to advance the Bill's passage.

"I might add that prior to any consideration of this amendment it was discussed with officials of the Bureau of Highway Safety, Department of Revenue, and they indicated no objection to it.

"With sincere appreciation for your co-operation, I am,

WALTER W. MATTHEWS,

Managing Director."

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to.

I might add that our good friend, the inimitable John McCreesh, just had a solution to the whole problem. He said to me, "Johnny, if there is nothing important tomorrow, I would like to be in Philadelphia," and I said, "John, you better ask John Haluska, because he intends to poll the Senate," and he said, "Oh, tell him to put it off until Monday."

The PRESIDENT. Senator Gourley, having made another engagement under a misapprehension, will not be present tomorrow, and the Lieutenant-Governor may be found attending the session of the Board of Pardons.

ADJOURNMENT

CONDOLENCES EXTENDED ON DEATH OF ERNIE PYLE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, today this nation was saddened again by the announcement of the death of one of the outstanding newspapermen in this nation. This man has been found on every battlefront, bringing to the G. I. Joes some touch from home and sending back to those of us who are not fortunate enough to be participating with our brothers at the front, the very life that they lead.

No man has touched American heartstrings any deeper than Ernie Pyle. We are all saddened to know that he is no longer with us. Therefore, as a tribute to his memory, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until eleven o'clock a. m. E. W. T., tomorrow, Thursday, April 19, 1945.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

By Mr. DIX. RESOLUTION No. 54.

In the House of Representatives, April 17, 1945.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has 6,000 miles of unimproved rural dirt roads remaining in its highway system; and

Whereas, These dirt roads are largely farm-to-market roads, school-bus routes, mail routes and milk routes; and

Whereas, It is unthinkable that the great and rich Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should continue to permit an unimproved State rural road system to exist; and

Whereas, The farmers, dairymen, lumbermen and villagers of our rural districts, have a right to expect our great Commonwealth to remedy the deplorable condition of our 6,000 miles of State dirt roads; and

Whereas, Little or no effort has been exerted since the Pinchot administration of fifteen years ago, to complete the hardsurfacing of these 6,000 miles of dirt State roads; and

Whereas, It was then demonstrated that thousands of miles per year of these dirt roads could be hard-surfaced without impairment to the financial condition of the Commonwealth; and

Whereas, There is no better project for postwar construction than the completion of the hard-surfacing of these 6,000 miles of dirt roads; and

Whereas, Over a period of six years, one thousand miles of such roads can be hard-surfaced at a cost that will not be burdensome to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, The improvement of these dirt roads will benefit more people and furnish more employment per dollar than any other project yet planned for the Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Pennsylvania State Highway Department improve 1,000 miles of the remaining State dirt roads per year, or as much thereof as is possible, as a postwar project, and that intercity boulevards and superhighways, if necessary for financial reasons, be held in abeyance until the rural dirt system is completely improved with hard-surfaced highways; and be it further

Resolved, That the State Highway Department proceed immediately to formulate a plan for constructing and financing the completion of these farm-to-market roads to the end that there be made available good hard-surfaced rural roads for the greater promotion of marketing, farming, dairying, education, religion, recreation and tourist travel throughout Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Highways.

By Mr. DAGUE. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 55.

In the House of Representatives, April 17, 1945.

Whereas, The name of the founder of this Commonwealth lends itself appropriately as an abbreviation for Pennsylvania and its use in such circumstances will to a greater extent perpetuate the memory of this tolerant advocate of the dignity of man and of his leading part in formulating the idealogy of the democracy under which we live; now therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concurs), That the official abbreviation of Pennsylvania as it is applied to this Commonwealth shall be Penn. As soon as economically feasible, this and no other abbreviation for the name of this Commonwealth shall be used by all departments, boards, commissions, bureaus, offices and the courts of this Commonwealth and its political subdivisions and the officers, employes and judges thereof; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly to each court of record of this Commonwealth, to every high school and State-aided college in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to the Postmaster General of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 568, entitled:

An Act to add section 1209.1 to and to repeal subsections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 7A, 8, 9, 10 and 11 and paragraph (a) of subsection 19 of section 1210 and to further amend section 1436 of the act approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof, providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue, and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by further providing for the minimum of compensation and increments of members of the teaching and supervisory staffs of school districts, county superintendents, assistant county superintendents, and district superintendents, and providing for reimbursement by the Commonwealth.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Messrs. SOLLENBERGER and BENTZEL offered the following amendments:

Amend section 1 (subsection 2 of section 1209.1) page 5, lines 26 and 27 by striking out with bold faced brackets the following: "such professional employes".

Amend section 1 (subsection 2 of section 1209.1) page 5, line 28 by inserting after the word "class" the following: "elementary teachers".

Amend section 1 (subsection 2 of section 1209.1) page 5, line 29 by inserting after the word "each" the following: "and high school teachers shall be entitled to four additional minimum annual increments of one hundred dollars ($100) each."

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

Mr. SALUS offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 1, page 12, line 15, by striking out the word "Seven", and inserting in lieu thereof "Eight".

Amend Section 1, page 12, line 16, by striking out the figure "($700)", and inserting in lieu thereof "($800)".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, I ask the House Membership to oppose this amendment.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, this amendment does but one thing, it raises the allotment of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh from seventy-eight hundred dollars. I am told, and I think reliably told, that that is the smallest amount received by any school district in Pennsylvania. The purpose of the amendment is to give the school districts in the two cities the opportunity to increase the salaries of three thousand employees in the City of Philadelphia who are not school teachers. The number in Pittsburgh I do not know.

Now, many of the employees in the City of Philadelphia are women who are earning on the average ten dollars a week. They work part time. There are many other employees, engineers, janitors, women who help in janitor services, and they under the present setup are to receive no consideration.

I have no fault to find with the bill as presented excepting that I think the opportunity to pay those that are miserably paid in the City of Philadelphia the opportunity should be given to them to give them some additional money. We hear much about the high cost of living, we hear much about our income tax, and naturally in these times we all want to be satisfied to take the punishment or whatever you call it—take it cheerfully because it is a condition due to the present war, but these poor underpaid people who are employed in the City of Philadelphia, if they go out on the market, these women making ten dollars a week, they have got to pay the same price for a pound of butter that a millionaire does, they have got to pay the same for their coal as a millionaire does, and I think it is high time if we are going to try to help the employees out in the school districts of Pennsylvania, including school teachers and other employees, we should also try to take care of those who are miserably underpaid, and that is all that this additional one hundred dollars put into Section 1 means. I think the Members of this House ought to support the amendment.

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, it is not my desire, nor do I believe it is the desire of any Member of the House to want to go into any protracted discussion of the measure. I want to correct one statement of the Senator from Philadelphia. This bill affects in his amendment, not only the cities of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia but provides a change in the base from seven hundred dollars to eight hundred dollars to all school districts of Pennsylvania at a cost of about two and three-quarters millions of dollars additional.

I know all of you are sincere in attacking the problems of Public Education and there is only one thing I want to discuss and call to your attention, and that is ask you to look deep into your hearts and conscience as you honestly and sincerely strive to serve the people, and then look at that tall, angular figure who is depicted in that front mural, who one hundred eleven years ago uttered these words, the father of public education in the State of Pennsylvania, Thaddeus Stevens:

When you come to vote upon these questions, take lofty ground, look beyond the narrow sphere of time on which you presently stand, and so cast your vote that the blessings of education may be conferred upon the poorest child of the poorest inhabitant in the meanest huts of your mountains in Pennsylvania, to the end that he too may be prepared to act well his part in this land of free men.

I would ask the House in deference to the long study given to this bill to vote down the proposed amendment.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. O'Brien and Mr. Corrigan.

Messrs. Scanlon, Finnerty and Levy asked for a verification of the roll.

DEATH OF ERNIE PYLE ANNOUNCED

The SPEAKER. The Speaker announces to the House, with regret, the death this morning of America's best-loved war correspondent—Erie Pyle—who was killed by a Jap machine gun bullet on a little island off Okinawa.

Ernie Pyle was the thirtieth allied war correspondent to be killed in action. He was a veteran of the invasions of North Africa, Sicily, Italy and Normandy and he had only recently moved to the Pacific to carry out his assigned task of writing "the human side of the war."

His death will be mourned by millions who saw the war through the eyes of a great reporter who was gifted with the ability to write what he saw simply and tellingly. He was the biographer of "G. I. Joe" and he did his last work among fighting men, under fire.

An Act relating to judgments providing for the lien thereof and the duration and revival of such liens prescribing the circumstances under which executions to enforce payment of judgments may be levied on real property and imposing duties on prothonotaries sheriffs and other court and county officers

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 This act shall be known and may be cited as the "Judgment Lien Law"

Section 2 Every judgment now or hereafter entered of record and indexed in any court of record in this Commonwealth shall be a lien upon all real property within the county where the judgment is entered which at the time of the entry and indexing of the judgment is owned by the person against whom the judgment is entered and shall unless sooner discharged as provided by law continue as a lien as to the defendant and all other persons for a period of five years from the date on which the judgment was entered and no longer unless the same is revived as hereinafter provided

Section 3 (a) The lien of a judgment may be revived by the indexing of (1) a judgment of revival by agreement between the plaintiff and defendant or of (2) a writ of scire facias if such judgment by agreement is entered of record in or such writ is issued out of the court in which the original judgment was entered within five years after the date on which the original judgment or the last preceding judgment of revival as the case may be was indexed Provided That if any interest in any part of the real property bound by the lien of the judgment has been acquired by a terre-tenant then the lien of such judgment shall be revived as to such part of the real property only if the terre-tenant within the five-year period hereinbefore designated joins in the agreement or is made a party to the scire facias proceedings as the case may be Provided further That if revival shall have been had against the defendant at a time when a terre-tenant's deed is of record but without the joinder of the terre-tenant then within a period of five years after the recording of the terre-tenant's deed or other evidence of title the lien may be revived as to the terre-tenant by (1) agreement between the plaintiff and the terre-tenant alone or between the plaintiff defendant and terre-tenant or (2) by writ of scire facias issued against the terre-tenant without joining the defendant or against the defendant and terre-tenant jointly entered in or issued out of and indexed in the court in which the judgment was entered within such period of five years after the recording of the terre-tenant's deed or other evidence of title and in such event the lien shall continue as to the terre-tenant for the same period only as it continues against the defendant when it must be revived against both parties as hereinbefore provided This proviso shall not be so construed as to revive any lien as to any part of the property acquired by a terre-tenant by the mere recording of a terre-tenant's deed or other evidence of title without specific revival by agreement or scire facias as above provided

(b) In the case of two or more joint defendants no revival shall be effective against any of such defendants or their real property whether or not owned jointly with the other joint defendants or any of them unless all such joint defendants shall join in the agreement or shall be made parties to the scire facias proceedings Provided That if any member less than all of the joint defendants shall agree to be bound the revival shall be effective against all of the defendants so agreeing

(c) The revived lien of any judgment shall unless sooner discharged as provided by law continue for a period of five years from the date on which the judgment of revival whether entered by agreement or on writ of scire facias was indexed provided such judgment of revival if entered on a writ of scire facias was indexed within a period of five years after the issuance of such writ otherwise such lien shall continue only for a period of five years from the date on which the writ of scire facias to revive was indexed and in either case no longer unless the same is again revived as provided in this act In any case where by reason of pending litigation judgment cannot be entered on the writ of scire facias within a period of five years after the indexing of such writ the court before which such litigation is pending may enter an order continuing the lien of such writ for such further period not exeeding five years as the court may direct such order shall become effective when indexed

Section 7 (a) The holder of any judgment may within five years after the entry thereof or after the entry of any judgment of revival thereon have execution in the manner provided by law on such original judgment or on such judgment of revival as the case may be against any real property bound by the lien of the judgment whether or not any interest therein has been acquired by a terre-tenant and against any real property acquired by the defendant subsequent to the entry of the original judgment or of the judgment of revival as the case may be and owned by him at the time of the indexing of the execution In the case of after-acquired property the execution when docketed and indexed shall become a lien upon such real property In the case of real property which is then subject to the lien of the judgment the execution when docketed and indexed shall continue such lien beyond the time it would otherwise have expired Any lien obtained or continued solely as the result of the docketing and indexing of an execution shall continue only for a period of five years from the indexing of the execution

(b) In all cases where more than five years have expired since the entry of the judgment or the entry of the last preceding judgment of revival as the case may be no execution upon any real property may issue until a writ of scire facias shall have issued and been reduced to judgment and the execution shall issue on the judgment so entered and not on the original judgment

Section 8 Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to affect or limit the provisions of section fifteen of the "Fiduciaries Act of one thousand nine hundred seventeen" approved the seventh day of June (P. L. 447)

The provisions of this act shall not affect the lien of any judgment entered prior to the effective date of this act The lien of all such judgments that are valid and subsisting liens on such date shall continue as such for the same periods as they would have continued had this act not been enacted but no longer unless prior to the expiration of such periods such liens are revived in the manner provided by this act

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, we have a bill on the calendar that does just the opposite; it says that they shall be liable; this says they shall not be liable. One is on second reading and the other on third reading. It seems to me this bill ought to be passed over until we get together.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman from Delaware say wait until we get them together, or did the gentleman from Delaware say to wait until we got them together or match both of them?

Section 10 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 11 This act shall become effective the first day of January one thousand nine hundred forty-six

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, we earnestly ask the Members of the House to vote for this bill. It simply is a little effort to relieve the real estate taxpayers of Philadelphia and of Allegheny County from the cost imposed upon these taxpayers for the operation of part of the duties of our courts. We would earnestly ask the Members to give this bill careful consideration and give us the vote so that we can tell the people in Philadelphia and in Allegheny County that we have at least done our part in trying to relieve real estate from its now overhurdened share of the cost of government.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, as far as Philadelphia is concerned, we are extremely anxious under our home rule to pay our own debts, and we do not want the state of Pennsylvania to pay any costs. We will pay our own way and we are opposed to this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

TIME EXTENDED ON BILL

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the time on House Bill No. 1124, Printer's No. 406, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. on page 14, of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed, be extended five days.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LEVY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in a very short time the San Francisco meeting of the United Nations Conference of International Organization will be held, but the man who called it is gone, and the voice that would have guided its deliberations has been forever stilled. The world is eagerly looking for final agreement between the nations for the ending of all wars, the cessation of needless waste and the establishment of a lasting peace. It is waiting for the full fruition of the plans and the hopes and the dreams of the one who has now passed beyond the need of that for which he so valiantly fought.

It would be most fitting, Mr. Speaker, to have him personally represented at this coming Conference in order that his ideals would be a guiding influence in the determination of the course agreed upon. The wife of the former president, a worthy leader, has recently written and I quote:

> There is only one way in which those of us who live can repay the debt to those who have given their utmost for the cause of liberty and justice. They died in the hope that through their sacrifice an enduring peace would be built and a more just world would emerge for humanity.

I ask you then, Mr. Speaker, that in furtherance of these thoughts, these brave words from one who has but recently lost so much and which demonstrates clearly her intimate knowledge of the end for which he strove, we think it but fitting that she be accorded the respect and the honor which she so richly deserves, and in that behalf, Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Herman and myself offer the following resolution, and we earnestly urge that the Rules Committee of this House consider it most speedily and considerately and report it to the floor of this House.

RESOLUTION

Messrs. LEVY and HERMAN offered a resolution which was filed with the Clerk.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection the Chair will return to the second reading calendar. The Chair hears none.

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 839, entitled:

The first, second, third and fourth sections were separately read and agreed to.

The fifth section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Amend Sec. 5 (Sec. 1035), page 10, line 12, by inserting after the word "statement" "showing in reasonable detail all receipts and expenditures of the several borough officials, the income from each source of revenue and the expenditures as set up in the borough budget as well as the present financial conditions of the borough and a statement of the balance due from or to such officials shall be published."

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The sixth and seventh sections were separately read and agreed to.

The eighth section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. HOFFMAN offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 8 (Sec. 1202), page 19, lines 5 to 12, both inclusive, by striking out all of said lines.

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The ninth section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. HOFFMAN offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 9, page 20, lines 21 to 24, by striking out the words "An in-" in line 21, and all of lines 22 to 24, both inclusive, and inserting in lieu thereof: "At least one week and not more than three weeks prior to the presentation of the proposed building code ordinance to council, an informative notice of intention to consider such proposed ordinance and a brief summary setting forth the principal provisions of the proposed ordinance in such reasonable detail as will give adequate notice of its contents pursuant to a uniform form which shall be prepared or approved by the Department of Internal Affairs and a reference to the place or places within the borough where copies of the proposed building code may be examined or obtained shall be published in the manner provided by law for the publication of ordinances"

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The tenth section and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

An Act providing for the incorporation as bodies corporate and politic of "Authorities" for municipalities counties and townships as herein defined prescribing the rights powers and duties of such Authorities authorizing such authorities to acquire construct improve maintain and operate projects and to borrow money and issue bonds therefor providing for the payment of such bonds and prescribing the rights of the holders thereof conferring the right of eminent domain on such authorities authorizing such authorities to enter into contracts with and to accept grants from the Federal Government or any agency thereof conferring exclusive jurisdiction on certain courts over rates.

The first, second and third sections were separately read and agreed to.

The fourth section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. TROUT offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 4, page 13, by inserting between lines 24 and 25: "D. No project shall be undertaken, acquired or constructed whether or not specified by the authorities of the municipalities which created or which are members of the Authority, unless and until such project shall have been submitted to and approved by the electors of the municipality or municipalities which created or which are members of said Authority. After the Authority shall have determined to undertake, acquire or construct a project it shall petition the county board of elections for a referendum on the question of whether or not the electors of such municipality or municipalities approve the undertaking, acquisition or construction of such project. The said board of elections shall thereupon cause the question to be submitted to the electors of such municipality or municipalities at the next general or municipal election occurring at least sixty days thereafter, by having such question printed on the ballots or placed on the voting machines at such elections in the manner provided by the election laws of the Commonwealth.

The voting on the aforesaid question shall be deemed a special election, held at the time of the said general or municipal election, and shall be conducted in the same manner, and the votes shall be counted and canvassed and returns thereof made as provided by the election laws for other special elections. In case of a tie vote or if a majority of persons voting on such question shall be in favor of such project, then the Authority shall be fully authorized to undertake the same and for such purpose shall have all the powers granted by the act to which this is an amendment. All costs incident to the holding of such special elections shall be paid by the municipality or municipalities affected thereby.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to these amendments. I do this reluctantly because it is being offered by my good friend from Lancaster, but I feel that the purpose of the Municipal Authorities Act would be defeated by the insertion of these amendments. Therefore, I ask that the House vote down the amendments offered by the gentleman.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I fully recognize the fact that this is a part of the Governor's program, but what I have to say about the Municipal Authority Act is not hearsay, but is a matter of fact, experience and observation.

The only thing that this amendment does is after the Authority has been organized by the governing party and a project has been decided upon, the people of the community, the people of that particular subdivision, are given the opportunity to express their wishes in the matter.

Now, this is part of that home rule proposition that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, spoke about on a number of occasions. The Authority is organized by the governing body, but after that organization has been effected, after it has been approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth the Authority is then at liberty to proceed on the erection or construction or acquirement of a number of projects. Among the purposes and powers are:

> For the purpose of acquiring, holding, construction, improving, maintaining and operating, owning, leasing, either in the capacity of lessor or lessee, buildings to be devoted wholly or partially for public uses and for revenue-producing purposes, transportation, marketing, shopping, terminals, bridges, tunnels, streets, highways, parkways, traffic distribution centers, traffic circles, parking spaces, airports and all facilities necessary or incident thereto, parks, recreation grounds and facilities, sewers, sewer systems or parts thereof, sewage treatment works, steam heating plants and distribution systems, incinerator plants, waterworks, water supply works, water distribution systems, swimming pools, playgrounds, lakes, low head dams, hospitals, motor buses for public use when such motor buses are to be used within any municipality, and subways.
> That is giving the Municipal Authority a wide scope of activity. There is a provision which says that municipality or municipalities organizing such an Authority may in the resolution or ordinance signifying their intention so to do or from time to time by subsequent resolution or ordinance specify the project or projects to be undertaken by the said Authority, and no other projects shall be undertaken by the said Authority than those so specified. If the municipal authorities organizing an Authority fail to specify the project or projects to be undertaken then the Authority shall be deemed to have all the powers granted by this act.

I submit to you, Members of the House, that that is extending authority for the promulgation and construction of projects that may place and already has placed municipalities in a financial condition from which it will take many years to recover. This Authority has the power also to fix rates, and the rates are being fixed to-day to meet the requirements of an over-bonded indebtedness because of the powers vested in an authority.

The newspapers and the statement by the Governor that this does not incur an indebtedness on the municipality is absolutely incorrect. It does not make any difference whether the indebtedness of the municipality is in the form of a bond issue being a lien upon the property of the property holder or whether it is a lien against the income from the property held. In other words the one indebtedness is a bonded indebtedness upon the real estate of the municipality and the other is an indebtedness in the form of rentals which the same property holder must pay, and he has nothing to say, he has no recourse: he has nothing to say as to what that rental shall be.

True, Mr. Speaker, there is a provision in this bill which says that application can be made to the court of the county when the rate is deemed too high but, Members of the House, you know that if there is presented to the court a statement of indebtedness, a cost of operation, the cost of interest and the cost of the sinking-fund, there is not a court in the land that would move against the rates established, because if it did it would mean a defalcation of the bonded indebtedness and would incur a great loss by innocent people.

It seems to me in the operation or creation of the Municipal Authority, any project should be given the approval or disapproval of the voters. We had a bill yesterday, House Bill 1133, the Housing Bill, but there is a veto power contained in that bill, and on the same basis there should be a veto power or a power of approval of the Municipal Authorities Act.

Mr. LEVY. I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I would inquire from the gentleman from Lehigh, is it not a fact that Senate Bill 423 is a companion measure to the Governor's program for stream clearance in Pennsylvania?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. It is, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, may I further inquire from the gentleman from Lehigh as to whether or not under the original Municipal Authorities Act of 1935 the Authorities had somewhat the same authority under the bill then and in the amendment of 1937 that they have under this present bill, Senate Bill 423?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I believe it may have practically the same authority, Mr. Speaker, as in the other bill that the gentleman mentioned.

Mr. LEVY. Except then for certain restrictions in the power to do certain other things?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. No, that is not so, Mr. Speaker. As far as what an authority may be created for, it is contained in the act. In 1943 there was some amendment placed in the Municipal Authorities Act in the matter of placing it under the control of the Public Utility Commission.

Mr. LEVY. May I further inquire, Mr. Speaker, of the gentleman from Lehigh, if it is not his opinion that if the amendments of the gentleman from Lancaster were accepted it would kill the import of the bill and place obstacles in the path of the municipal authorities or a combination of municipal authorities relative to the Governor's wishes?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I certainly do, Mr. Speaker, and mentioned in my first remark that it would defeat the purpose of the bill.

Mr. LEVY. I thank the gentleman from Lehigh.

Mr. Speaker, I want to direct my remarks to the Members of the Democratic party, that we cannot at all be a party to crippling or placing obstacles in the path of so decent a measure, and I would ask the Members on the Democratic side to vote down the amendments.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, as I formerly stated, I would ask that the Members vote down the amendments because I do feel that this is a key to part of the Governor's program for stream clearance in Pennsylvania, and it is very vital if we are to carry out the key bill of the Governor's program, House Bill 1, where the municipality will be asked to construct sewage systems in order to rid streams of pollution. This is enabling legislation and very important to carry out the program of the Governor for the clearance of Pennsylvania's streams of pollution. As I stated before, I feel that the amendments would defeat the purpose of the bill, therefore, I ask that the amendments be voted down.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, the provisions of the amendment call for a referendum in sixty days. Now, that would not delay the construction of a program of this kind unreasonably. On the other hand when it comes to stream pollution, this applies to municipalities and subdivisions that do not now and never have deposited their sewage into streams. It covers the entire Commonwealth, and it does seem strange to me, Mr. Speaker, if certain municipalities are so very much interested in the clearing of streams and the purifying of our water, why should these municipalities still deposit that sewage into the public streams and make no effort to remedy it.

This is purely a home rule bill, Mr. Speaker, giving the people, your people and your municipalities back home a right to say whether or not you shall establish projects by a municipality authority, or whether you want to delegate that power to five men and then lose all your influence with them in the future.

I do not want to disturb the program of the Governor, but I think the Governor has been misled in including this in his program to purify the streams of Pennsylvania. It takes in too much of Pennsylvania that has no connection with the purification of streams now, and I ask the Members of the House to support the amendments.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, since I served as Vice-chairman of the committee appointed on the Joint State Government Commission to study the whole question of authorities I feel that I ought to say to this House that the question or the proposition raised by the amendments offered is by no means new. During the study and during the framing of the bill there was a great deal of discussion on practically every phase covered.

This question of a referendum of people was among the proposals that were raised, but every phase of this bill has been submitted to all groups and all persons who would be likely to contribute anything of value to the construction of as nearly a perfect a bill as might be possible. It would be a mistake to say that the Governor was misled or that he did not think of, or have brought to his attention, the possibility of having a referendum of the people written into the bill. The Attorney General's department was in constant consultation with not only the committee but with other groups that were aiding the committee in the study.

Now, I agree with the Majority Floor Leader that the inclusion of any provision which would require the referendum would practically eliminate the value of the measure to the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It must be held in mind always that some municipal authorities will be created, that will not serve the entire population of the subdivision by which and in which they are created. That would be notably true in the one type that the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout, stressed, namely steam heating authorities, or putting it more directly, house heating authorities.

There are many types of authorities in which the people, as a whole, would have no interest which would entitle them to vote on the authority because they would pay for only such services as they expected to get from the authorities, and when they did not ask for and did not receive such services they would not pay for them. Therefore they would not have a direct interest in the matter. But that in a sense is begging the issue.

We know that the majority of the authorities, generally, will be along the lines of water and sewerage authorities. Now, with respect to the latter, the sewerage authorities. Orders are very likely to be slapped on a community, a subdivision, and there will not be anything at all that the subdivision can do but abide by the directive to establish sewer disposal systems. When such an order is placed on a community and that community does not have the borrowing capacity to establish and build and pay for the disposal plant and latteral lines and all the things that go with it, then this authority provides the one and only means under which the municipality may move in order to conform with the order.

It would very seriously handicap many of the small communities if it were necessary to take the great risk of submitting the question to the people.

And finally there is this point, by making it necessary to refer to the people the question of establishing the authority we would be doing something that is not even done in the case of actions of the governing body of these subdivisions. When the borrowing capacity permits, it is not necessary for the question of an improvement similar to the authority to be submitted to the people, and there seems to be no good reason why the question of an authority should be submitted to a referendum of the people.

There is one other point that I think should be cleared up in this whole question. Reference has been made to the previous authority laws in the Commonwealth and the question was asked whether this new authority bill is very different from what we have had before. It has been said before on the floor of this House that this is a re-enactment in toto, that it comprises all the features of the former Authority Act, the act now in effect, but in addition thereto this bill represents the work of taking out all undesirable things that have been in the law.

I would like to make a brief statement of some of the things that have been done by way of clarification, strengthening and improving this bill. In the first place, the definition of a project is amended to read:

> The definition of project is amended to include acquiring, as well as constructing and so forth, any structure authorized by the authority, and including central heating plans and facilities.

And again,

> The authority, after organization, shall certify to the Secretary of the Commonwealth, the names and addresses of its officers, the principal office of the authority and any change in the location of the principal office should likewise be certified to the Secretary of the Commonwealth within ten days after such change.

Now, that seems like a little matter, and yet that is taking out of the way of a good authority bill something that was rather vague in the act as it now stands. Again it provides

> In the case of a joint authority in more than one county, the certificate of incorporation shall be recorded in the county where the principal office is located.

That is for the purpose of definitely and without question locating the authority for all legal purposes. There are a number of others which I will not take time to read, but they run in a similar vein.

There are altogether twenty-one major improvements made in this bill over what we have in the act now in effect. This bill, I believe, Mr. Speaker, as it is now submitted here represents one of the most thoughtfully worked out pieces of legislation that we have had before us for a long time, certainly a more thoughtfully worked piece of legislation than has appeared in this session. and I join with the Majority Floor Leader in asking the members to vote down the amendments that have been offered.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

The section was agreed to.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my amendments to the title.

The fifth to the twenty-first sections and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 197, entitled:

An Act to further amend section five hundred nine of the act, approved the eleventh day of July, one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (P. L. 998), entitled "An act for the prevention and treatment of mental diseases, mental defect, epilepsy, and inebriety; regulating the admission and commitment of mental patients to hospitals for mental diseases and institutions for mental defectives and epileptics; governing the transfer, discharge, interstate rendition, and deportation of mental patients; providing for the payment by individuals, counties, or the Commonwealth of the cost of the admission, care, and discharge of mental patients; and imposing penalties," providing for pro rating claims of the Commonwealth and of political subdivisions against estates of mental patients; and requiring the Commonwealth to reimburse political subdivisions for moneys heretofore collected.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. KOMOROFSKI asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker. This House debated pro and con for two hours last week on absenteeism, which was a waste of time because for the last couple of Thursdays, this House didn't get down to business.

We forget we have important measures in Committees to pass for the people of this state. And now, Mr. Speaker, this House is trying to adjourn in the next couple of weeks, forgetting the most vital bills in our state, which are held in committees. After all, we are not kidding the people of this state. They know by what party this state is controlled. They know the Chairmans of these committees are holding these bills in committee waiting for the House to adjourn and are "killing" these bills.

We have a grave danger in our community. Urgent need of this House to pass legislation which is held in committee to save the property of the people in the anthracite region, who so favorably are going along with this great war effort in this nation, and in return are forgotten and ignored by the members of this House.

It is not the big coal companies doing the damage. It is the small fellow without any responsibility. Irresponsible contractors tearing our communities, endangering our lives, placing us in a condition of fear—waiting and thinking what next will happen, caving in the homes of the people which are the life-long savings, and taking the lives of our people.

An article in our papers states that the Governor is taking the Committee on Mines and Mining on a sightseeing tour. They would also like to have this committee tour in our Wyoming Valley to see the stripping and cave-ins in our Anthracite region. Let's stop kidding the people of our county. We did have a committee tour our county two years ago and nothing was done. Instead of the investigation and tours, release the bills concerning these dangers in the Anthracite region.

And now, Mr. Speaker, this House has been in session for three and a half months and we still didn't do anything for the boys that are fighting for us on all fronts. We have a bill in committee, House Bill 1255, which would be at least a little gift and would be appreciated by our boys when they get back. They are doing a great job, so let's do something for them. Let's wake up to the fact that we are here to do our job and do it right. It seems we just passed a few tax measures, and now we are preparing to adjourn. So, let's not forget the boys!

ADDITIONAL SPONSORS

Mr. TATE asked and obtained unanimous consent to add two additional sponsors to a resolution.

CONDOLENCE RESOLUTION

Messrs. SCANLON, O'BRIEN, KOLANKIEWICZ and TATE offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 18, 1945.

Death has entered into the immediate family of our amiable and popular member from the 17th Legislative District of Philadelphia, the Hon. Edward T. Gallagher, Jr.

At an early age his beloved father, Edward T. Gallagher, Sr., died on Friday, April 13th.

Long a resident of Philadelphia, he was at the time of his death an architect with the United States Department of Agriculture and lived at No. 5911 Frontenac Street.

He left to survive him, his widow and family including Representative Gallagher; therefore be it

Resolved, That, we the members of this House extend to the bereaved widow and the Hon. Edward T. Gallagher, Jr., our most sincere sympathy during these hours when their loss is most keen and their sorrow most poignant; and be it further Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of the House shall transmit a copy of this resolution to Mrs. Gallagher, Sr. and to the Hon. Edward T. Gallagher, Jr., at their homes in Philadelphia.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MIKULA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

I want to take this opportunity to speak to you for a few minutes on a subject that is near to my heart.

Having lived, since birth, in the Anthracite Coal Region of this great state of Pennsylvania, I believe I can bring you a word-picture of a deplorable condition that exists in many sections where coal mining has been, and is being carried on extensively.

Far too often, a story appears in the newspapers stating that a mine cave-in has occurred in a specific location . . . and the readers of the newspaper article are shocked to learn that one or more lives have been lost because of this mine cave-in. The horror of the incident strikes a responsive chord in the minds and hearts of the general public for a period of time. Very soon, however, the newspaper headlines are replaced by other, more current items . . . and the general public returns to its regular routine of life. Except for occasional references in the course of conversation, the shocking incident of the mine cave-in is forgotten by the public . . . but it is not forgotten by the family who lost a loved one in the tragedy. It is not easy to live with the memory that a loved one has been literally swallowed up by the earth.

On the other hand, I would like to have you try to visualize the stark horror that encompasses a man who is walking along, perhaps quickening his step to get home to his family, when, suddenly, the ground crumbles under his feet, the earth engulfs him, and he is gone. In a few seconds, he is gone from sight forever . . . and, this, Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen, has happened many times.

The majority of mine cave-ins occur through the negligence of so-called wildcat mine operators, who take over mines that are virtually abandoned by reputable mining companies, and plan in most cases to dig the remaining coal with as little cost as possible . . . and, therefore, they do not take the trouble to brace the ceilings of the workings and replace timbers they have robbed in order to get the coal.

These wildcat coal mining operations are a source of danger, not only to lives . . . but the amount of damage to property has reached tremendous heights. Many homes have sunk into the earth and disappeared as a result of the operations of these irresponsible mine operators. The sacrifices of a family, over a period of years, to purchase a home, or other property, is wiped out in a few minutes, and these people have no recourse, under law, by which they can collect damages on the loss of their property.

Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen, hospital and school properties, in many instances, have been damaged. Churches have been damaged. I know of one particular case where a church is burdened with a $100,000 mortgage, and because of mine settlements, an additional $40,000 is needed to make the repairs. If, and when, the congregation of this church is able to accomplish this, they still have no lawful protection, or any assurance that another mine settlement will not occur.

Most of the towns and townships that are effected are without funds with which to make necessary repairs. As time goes on the extinct of the damage is multiplied, and eventually these places have no hope of survival.

Our boys are fighting all over the World . . . fighting to make this country a safe place in which to live. Do you think, ladies and gentlemen, that this will be true in the Anthracite Region? I am afraid not. Our fighting men have visions of coming back to find their homes as they left them, but some of our boys are going to find that their homes are down in the mines. How are these boys going to feel about this? Would you want it to happen to your boy?

I belive that the responsibility for correcting this deplorable situation lies in the hands of the lawmakers, and law enforcement agencies of this State . . . and adequate legislation is certainly the first step to be considered.

A number of bills have been presented in this House which provide that mining companies shall be forced to pay damages in the cases of loss of property due to mine settlements.

These bills are generally known as the subsidence bills and, to my mind, represent a move in the right direction . . . toward eliminating the tremendous loss of lives and property that is a direct result of the slipshod methods of wildcat mine operators.

Property owners in the Anthracite Region must be protected by law against the unscrupulous wildcat mine operators, known as scavengers, who have been undermining the welfare of the Anthracite Region for a long, long time.

Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentleman, now is the time for the members of this House of Representatives to end the terrible condition that prevails in the Anthracite Coal Region. It is our duty as Legislators to take definite action, immediately, to bring about happy, normal living conditions to the people who are suffering untold hardship as a result of mine cave-ins.

Lives and property must be protected. We are in a position to accomplish this. We must do it, and we must do it now.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. PETROSKY offered a resolution and asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the immediate consideration of the resolution? Is there objection?

Mr. SORG. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

The resolution will be filed with the Clerk under the Rules.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TURNER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I realize that it is late and perhaps it is too late to do what I would like to ask to be done, but I am going to ask the Speaker whether in adjourning tonight we might do so in honor of the memory of Ernie Pyle, who was killed in the Pacific, and of which announcement was made today. I think to those of us who have had sons in the service he has been a friend. His writing had an intimate contact with each and every one of us that transcended ordinary reporting, and therefore I felt that it might be fitting today when we adjourn to adjourn in honor of the memory of Ernie Pyle.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will be glad to recognize the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, on the motion to adjourn.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, the news which has come to us today of the untimely death of Ernie Pyle I think has made many of us feel that we have lost a friend. Those of us who have had sons in the service, I know found a lot of comfort in the stories that Ernie Pyle sent back from Europe. I had two boys in Italy, one of them in the tough and thick fighting, and Mrs. Turner and I nightly read Ernie Pyle's column because somehow it brought a close touch; somehow it made you feel that there was a friend there who was in touch with your boys. I think each and every one of us, and in fact the world has acclaimed the manner in which Ernie Pyle represented the slogging infantryman, the G. I. Joes throughout all his tribulations and trials during the war period.

I somehow felt he had a premonition when he went to the Pacific and I too felt that he had tried his luck so long that perhaps it would run out in the Pacific. I cannot help but think from what I came to know of Ernie Pyle through his column that although he said many times he was afraid—and what man in this war has not been afraid—I felt many times that this is the way he would like to go, a machine gun bullet that must have found him where he always was, up in the front line with the boys, living as they did.

So I think it is fitting tonight as we adjourn this day's session of the Legislature that we should adjourn out of respect to a man who contributed so much to so many of us, who contributed so much to the boys; who was a comfort to them also; who was a friend and a companion, one upon whom they could rely and one in whom the boys in the hard-going knew at all times they had a friend who was at their elbow and who appreciated what they were doing.

It is not given to every boy to get a Bronze Star or a Silver Star or the D.S.C. or some other decoration. Many of them must have felt that while they could not be decorated, there was at least one reporter and friend nearby who was telling the people back home that notwithstanding the fact that they do not come home wearing medals, nevertheless they deserved the credit and deserved the heartfelt thanks of the people of America for the kind of a job they are doing.

So, Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn out of respect to the memory of the greatest reporter that this era has produced, and out of respect to the memory of a man who I know that every mother and father who has a son or a daughter in the service came to believe was their personal friend.

I therefore move that we do now out of respect to his memory adjourn until eleven o'clock a. m. on Thursday, April 19, 1945.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to second the motion.

By a rising vote the motion was unanimously agreed to.

Legislative Journal.

We ask it in the name of Christ. Amen.

HUGHESVILLE HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS INTRODUCED TO SENATE

Mr. SNOWDEN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I wish to call your attention to the attractive group of boys and girls up in the gallery; they are members of the senior graduating class from the Hughesville High School in Lycoming County. It so happens that is my home town and that is the same school from which I graduated many years ago.

They are here to see how the laws in our Commonwealth are being made and how the Assembly runs, and I know they will enjoy having made their trip to Harrisburg.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Through the gentleman from Lycoming, Senator Snowden, the Chair welcomes the members of the graduating class of the Hughesville High School and expresses the hope that you enjoy your visit down here to see how the Legislature operates; the Chair hopes you will not be too terrficly disappointed.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Mr. Wade asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. CROWE.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. BLASS.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. CHAPMAN.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. SCARLETT.

Mr. Jaspan asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. DiSILVESTRO, due to illness.

He also asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. KLEIN, due to illness.

Mr. EDMONDS asked and obtained leave of absence for himself, for later in the day, for medical treatment.

Mr. Barr asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. McGINNIS.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, on Thursday of last week I warned this body that I was going to poll the Senate in the event that many members might be missing from this chamber this Thursday. That is not my intention today because a number of the members have asked me personally whether I was going to do it and I said no.

However, the day must come when we must settle down to work. I am now asking my Republican colleagues to stand back of me in this matter next week, and the few Democrats that might be here, because we must expedite the work of this session. It is unfair, definitely unfair, for a few of us to come here every Thursday morning while the remaining group go back to their homes.

I intend next week to challenge every leave of absence. Unless in my own mind I feel the person asking leave of absence has a good reason, I intend to object and have the entire body vote individually upon every request for leave of absence. If at random we grant every leave of absence we will find ourselves in the same position we find ourselves in today. We might have a quorum here and that is about all. That is a poor way to pass upon important legislation, so once again I warn and ask those that are here to stand by me when next week I shall rise in place and ask for a poll of the Senate and determine why some members have left their seats.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair calls to the attention of the gentleman from Cambria the fact that a quorum is present.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I do not know whether a quorum is present or not.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair calls to the attention of the gentleman from Cambria the fact that a quorum is present.

Mr. HALUSKA. Well, Mr. President, without a quorum we would not be in a position to act upon any legislation.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. COX asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, during the past week it has been rumored that this session of the Legislature will shortly adjourn. There remain in various committees many important pieces of legislation on which the members of the Legislature have not had an opportunity of expressing their opinions and on which they have not had the opportunity to act.

This morning in reading the Pittsburgh Post Gazette I found this advertisement, entitled "An Open Letter to Governor Martin". It is as follows:

"An Open Letter to Governor Martin

"The Honorable Edward Martin
The Governor of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Sir:

"We are concerned that the Labor Committee has not met to discuss and bring out of committee the Homer S. Brown Bill for Fair Employment Practice. This must be done so that the Legislature may debate and act on it.

"We, who believe that the Brown Bill is an effective measure to bring about equity of economic opportunity, urge you to use your good office to carry out the democratic processes of legislation as provided by the Constitution.

"The Bill should come before the Legislature for fair and open debate. Then let the Legislature, elected by the people of the Commonwealth, make the decision.

"This measure is not asking for special privilege. As the Bill states, it is merely giving to every man, regardless of race, creed, color or national origin, an equal opportunity to work "according to his ability, skill and technical knowledge."

Very sincerely yours,

AUSTIN PARDUE
THOMAS F. COAKLEY
NORMAN C. MILLIRON"

Austin Pardue is Bishop of Pittsburgh. Dr. Solomon B. Freehof is Rabbi of Rodef Shalom in Pittsburgh. Rev. Thomas F. Coakley is Pastor of the Sacred Heart Church of Pittsburgh. Rev. Norman C. Milliron is President of the Pittsburgh Council of Churches.

I want to say that in Allegheny County there is tremendous interest in this particular bill; that interest is non-partisan, it is non-sectarian, it comes from every racial and every social group in our county. Most of the leaders in industry in our county are concerned about this bill, and I feel as a member of the Senate that I would like an opportunity to have something to say as to whether this legislation is good legislation or whether it is bad.

I certainly hope that the members of the Senate on the Republican side will use their influence to see if we can not answer this letter in the affirmative and have this legislation come out on the floor so that we can express our views relative to it.

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I can readily understand why so many members are absent from this chamber. I have listened to many roll calls when the count of members has been given as 41 votes, on all bills passing today, and we have failed to have 41 members in their seats. I am going to request and insist, starting on Monday, that only those members be recorded who shall be in their seats and who vote "aye" or "nay".

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair rules that the point of order of the gentleman from Cambria is not well taken. The roll has in each case been called, the vote announced, and the gentleman from Cambria at that time did not challenge the announced result. The third reading calendar having been concluded, the point of order, further, is not well taken.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I am not challenging the roll calls. I am only warning this body and warning the Chair, that starting on Monday, if I have to, I will ask for a vertification of every roll call. I dislike to do that, but I think in all fairness to men who are sitting here that those who are not in their seats are not entitled to be recorded. I have no desire to prolong this session, but if that is the attitude of the Chair, starting Monday, I shall ask for verification of every roll call, if you force me to do so.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Cambria propounded a point of order, which has been ruled upon. Any further parliamentary procedure the gentleman from Cambria desires to take concerning roll calls is open to him under the rules of the Senate.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

By Messrs. LEVY and HERMAN.

RESOLUTION No. 56.

In the House of Representatives, April 17, 1945.

The San Francisco meeting of the United Nations Conference of International Organization will soon be held but the man who called it is gone, and the voice that would have guided its deliberations has been stilled.

The world is eagerly looking for the final agreement between the nations for the ending of wars, the cessation of needless waste and the establishment of a lasting peace. It is waiting for the full fruition of the plans and the hopes and the dreams of the one who has now passed beyond the need of that for which he so valiantly fought.

It would be most fitting to have him personally represented at this coming conference in order that his ideals would be a guiding influence in the determination of the course agreed upon.

The wife of the former President and world leader has lately written:

> "There is only one way in which those of us who live can repay the dead who have given their utmost for the cause of liberty and justice." "They died in the hope that, through their sacrifice, an enduring peace would be built and a more just world would emerge for humanity."

These were brave words for one who has but recently lost so much, but they demonstrate clearly her intimate knowledge of the end for which he strove.

The spirit of the departed President could not be made more truly present at that conference, nor could his views be more truly expressed than by the one who knew him best and mourns him most; therefore be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, That it respectfully sugests to His Excellency, Harry S. Truman, the President of the United States, the appointment of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt as a delegate of the United States to sit in the San Francisco conference and to participate in its deliberations; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this Resolution shall be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of this House to the President of the United States.

By Miss BRANCATO.

(Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 57.

In the House of Representatives, April 18, 1945.

Members of this House, practically without exception, have experienced the personal loss and sacrifice which the waging of war entails. Their sons, daughters and friends are serving in many foreign fields.

Of those so serving there have been those known to us and dear to us who have fallen on the field of battle or who lie wounded in hospitals somewhere on the nations farflung battle lines.

And so we are joined in the great brotherhood and sisterhood which grief, sacrifice and love of country unite the people of our nation.

We therefore extend to the members of the family of Franklin Delano Roosevelt not simply our formal expressions of regret because of the passing of a great leader, but the heartfelt sympathy for those who grieve—a sympathy made possible by reason of kindred sorrow. Therefore be it

Resolved, That this house directs that it's Chief Clerk, in proper fashion, convey to Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt the widow of our late President, this statement, with the added assurance that we believe as she believes,, that Franklin Delano Roosevelt's words and his spirit will continue to abide as a living vitalizing force in the life of our nation and of the world.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. PETROSKY and HEATHERINGTON.

RESOLUTION No. 58.

Many people have been trying in some way to find a way to establish some lasting memorial to Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

There are those who compare his greatness with that of Washington and Lincoln, however, only future generations of Americans will decide that point.

The interests of Roosevelt were so wide and varied and his achievements so many, that one would have to catalogue them to evaluate their relative importance.

Yet his achievements in the field of humanities is recognized by all, particularly his interest in behalf of those who suffer like he had, with infantile paralysis; therefore be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, that the Congress of the United States shall be memorialized to designate the thirtieth day of January in each year, the birthday of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, as a National holiday and the Congress of the United States is hereby so memoralized; and be it further

Resolved, That the Chief Clerk of this House of Representatives, send a copy of this resolution to each of the Representatives and the two senators elected from the state of Pennsylvania, and to the President of the United StSates, Harry S. Truman.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Somerset permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HARE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker I would like to inquire of the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare the increased cost that would be involved with the passage of House Bill 568, increase in cost to the Commonwealth over and above the present appropriation recommended by the Governor of one hundred and three million dollars for subsidies to the schools of Pennsylvania.

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, answering the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, as near as I can compute the cost on the present pupil load of 1,550,000 the next biennium under House Bill 568 would involve an additional outlay of about $32.000,000. In the second biennium, 1947 to 1949 it would involve an outlay over the thirty-two million dollars or sixteen million dollars additional to cover the additional cost. In the 1949 to to 1951 biennium, again the cost of the increase for the additional subsidies to the local districts would involve an additional sum of eighteen million dollars over and above the total of the two previous bienniums. In the fourth biennium in 1951 to 1953 it would involve an additional outlay of twenty million dollars or an increased total in 1951 to 1953 of eighty-six million dollars.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that the additional cost over the one hundred three million dollars provided in the Governor's budget would be eighty-six million dollars, and that would also be dependent upon the present pupil population remaining the same? I mean that may fluctuate again according to the pupil population.

Mr. HARE. That is right, because the total cost would be dependent upon whether the present pupil population goes upwards or downwards, dependent on its strength.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, in the gentleman's opinion—and I respect that opinion as far as these educational bills are concerned—in the gentleman's opinion would it be at all possible to carry the financial burden placed upon the Commonwealth in House Bill 568 without some additional taxes, at least in the next session of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, being enacted?

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, with the present appropriation which entails the so-called post war program, taking all those things into consideration, I feel as an individual—I do not speak for the committee, that by the biennium of 1947 to 1949 the Legislature will be faced with the problem of finding finances.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I just wish to point out to the Members of the House that I am certainly in accord with an equalization program and shall vote for this bill. I thought that the record should be clear, and I knew that in interrogating the gentleman from Somerset we might throw some light on the record as to the increase in cost that this bill places on the Commonwealth.

As I stated, I am for an equalization bill in teacher's salaries and subsidies and an overall equalization program for public education in Pennsylvania that will give equal opportunity to every child in Pennsylvania, but I do feel that we should point out and clear up any confusion in the minds of any of the Members in this House of Representatives, that this will mean additional revenue in the subsequent years at which the Legislature of Pennsylvania will meet, and those men and women who are anxious to return to the House should now realize that they are going to be faced with the problem of additional taxes, probably a tax on a broad base earmarked for education in Pennsylvania in order to carry the expanded program of education, which I feel most every one of us is desirous to see enacted, and feel satisfied that the Commonwealth should share a greater burden of the financial cost of public education in the State.

I would also like to point out, Mr. Speaker, at least to the Members on the minority side of the House, I believe with the exception of one, that it is very easy to come in and say "We are for a program which appropriates so many more additional millions in this biennium", and according to the statement of the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare, at the time of the full fruition of this program in 1951 there would be an increase of eighty-six million dollars over the present increased school budget program of one hundred three million dollars, an increase in the past four years of close to thirty million dollars, and which is forty-seven or forty-eight million dollars greater than the amount appropriated during the last biennium of the Earle Administration, which is not so many years ago.

I say this that we may be faced with the fact that the minority, with the exception of this one Member, who said "Yes, I can go along with an expanded program for education costing millions of dollars, but I will refuse to vote for tax measures to even carry on the normal services of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania."

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, there seems to be in some quarters some misapprehension as to the ability of the Commonwealth to finance House Bill 568 during the next biennium out of current revenue.

We are informed by way of the morning papers that the executive budget, now an admittedly elastic budget, has stretched to the extent of an unexpected twenty million dollars. I say unexpected because at the beginning of the session it was strenuously denied that there was a possibility of even twenty million dollars for school subsidies.

Now, at the present moment the Commonwealth, during this biennium has collected three hundred ninety-eight million dollars, that money in hand was collected for general fund purposes in this biennium. Funds are beginning to roll in, particularly in the corporate income tax; four million five hundred thousand dollars cleared yesterday and four million nine hundred dollars the day before. While it is apparent that taxes during the last part of April and during May this year will exceed the collections made last year during the last part of April and May, it is safe on the basis of the increase of money in hand, and upon last year's record that the last part of April and May will yield sixty-six million dollars.

Now, three hundred and ninety-eight million and sixty-six million dollars are four hundred and sixty-four million dollars, and there was an inherited surplus for the general fund of thirty-eight million dollars, so they will wind up the biennium with five hundred and two million dollars.

Now, the Governor's estimate on Page 11 of his budget message said that we would take in four hundred and eighty-seven million dollars, so you have fifteen million dollars over and above the budget estimate that you can bank on, that you can be sure of, that is practically money in hand. And so if the Budget Office concedes the possibility of twenty million dollars more for state subsidies than there was in the previous biennium, if they reexamine the figures they must concede at least fifteen million dollars more.

Not all, but many of our tax experts are quite confident that there is no reason to apprehend that General Fund receipts during the next biennium will not equal the General Fund receipts during the current biennium, and that during the next biennium the General Fund collection will at least equal the amount during this biennium, and that during the next biennium you can bank safely on four hundred and sixty-four million dollars, which is the figure for the current biennium.

Then you have to take from that the twenty million dollars of the one-cent gasoline tax not included in the Governor's budget, and you would have four hundred and forty-four million dollars. Now, the Governor says and the budget office says instead of having four hundred and forty-four million dollars during the next biennium we are only going to take in three hundred and sixty-nine million dollars, and those figures simply mean that somewhere in the executive budget there is seventy-five million dollars that has not been brought to the attention of the General Assembly. You can take that seventy-five million dollars and add to it the certainty of a surplus during the present biennium of fifteen million dollars, and you have a surplus at the end of the current biennium of ninety million dollars, and that ninety million dollars I say is money that has not been brought to the attention of the General Assembly, and it means sufficient funds to place the ability of the Commonwealth to finance House Bill 568 beyond question.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I would first like to keep the record clear. In very brief reply to the gentleman from Cambria, he talks of the great amount of surplus and the collection of taxes, particularly of the Corporate Net Income tax, and states the amount that the Commonwealth received yesterday and the day before, but I remind him and the Members of the House that the due date on this particular tax, I believe, is April 15, and therefore certainly we are going to have a tremendous amount flowing into the State Treasury right at that time, but that certainly is not the story three hundred and sixty-five days of the year or the number of days we find the Commonwealth offices open to receive this particular tax. I think that should be clear upon the record.

Secondly the gentleman points out we can now finance public instruction, and the desire probably is in the minds of many of the Members on the other side to increase the appropriations for various purposes in Pennsylvania by this great increase in the Corporate Net Income tax, the taxes which they voted against, the taxes which they said were not necessary, not needed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to operate during the next two years.

As I stated before, it is very fine to come in and say we are for a program of spending so many millions of dollars. However that will involve more taxes, but when the tax bills were on the calendar to be voted upon, the taxes which were supposed to give this great increase in the yield so that we might provide more money for various reasons, the gentleman on the other side voted against them, with the exception of one lone Member who had seen the light, and who I believe is keenly interested in public instruction in Pennsylvania. He was the only gentleman who voted with the majority in the passage of those tax bills so that we might have revenue to operate, and to meet this program in the various services operated by the Commonwealth during the next biennium.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I had hoped that the Majority Leader would not have felt impelled to take at this moment a partisan stand, but I would call his attention to the fact, if he insists upon pressing the issue, that we voted against the tax bills because you would not earmark any of them for school purposes, and now you have your Governor saying to this House that the legislation upon which this House is, I hope, unanimously agreed, that you have not got the money for it, whereas if you had come along with us and earmarked some of those bills for the purpose of education you would have had all the money out in the clear where everybody could have seen it.

Now, I do not want to continue a partisan note. If the gentleman wants to discuss things on that plane, I can say that we on this side have been the ones from the first who have said there was the money, and it has been the position of the Executive that there was not the money, and now today I expect that we will be in agreement and say to the world that there is money. We welcome that concession on your part because in going along with this bill we have made consessions on our part, and I repeat that I hope this bill can pass this House without a single dissenting vote.

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, we feel that today the citizenry of Pennsylvania and the children of Pennsylvania can be proud of the actions of this House in taking the first great stride forward in public education in this State taken in twenty-four years. The need of the public educational program as subsidized by additional State funds, has long been recognized. The Education Committee wholeheartedly entered into this program and brought out House Bill 568 in an honest effort to alleviate inequities that all of us recognized in the system in the matter of moneys.

We took for our comparative scale the states of the United States. Two of them I might point out to you: California presently appropriates eighty dollars for every boy and girl in the public system from State moneys and returns it to the local district.

New York State, our great sister state on the north, appropriates one hundred dollars for every elementary child and one hundred thirty dollars for every secondary child in the state out of state moneys and sends it back to the local districts.

Translated in terms of one hundred dollars per pupil for twenty-five pupil units, this is equivalent to twenty-five hundred dollars for elementary and three thousand two hundred fifty dollars for secondary units. Our own program is far below that, for in 1951 to 1953 we will reach a total of two thousand four hundred dollars for twenty-five children in both the elementary and secondary levels.

In 1941 to 1943 Pennsylvania appropriated about thirty-five dollars per school child from state funds. In 1943 to 1945 we appropriated about sixty dollars per child in this state, and under the present program it would reach somewhere around eighty dollars per child from state funds furnished by the Commonwealth to the local districts.

I say I am proud of the House of Representatives and proud to be a Member of it today, for they stand wholeheartedly behind an attempt to solve this problem that has always been with us from the very day of the inception of this Commonwealth. Most of us forget as we drift along in age the many steps that were necessary to bring us to the place which we now enjoy in this State.

The man who founded the State, William Penn, two hundred fifty years ago, released from the prison in England where he had been thrown because of the intolerance of his day, dreamed of this great Commonwealth long before he ever came here, and his message, when he landed on these shores, to the people of the colony was to watch well the tenets of general education to the end that the Commonwealth in its tolerance might continue to exist.

Thomas Jefferson cried out in his day "Educate or perish," and further warned the people if they expected to remain free and yet ignorant in a free democracy, they expected what never was and never would be.

Certainly the idea of cost enters into these things but how much would it cost if we did not educate our children? In a release last week J. Edgar Hoover said it costs five thousand dollars for every criminal in the United States. It costs five thousand dollars to place a bed in a mental hospital, and we here are talking about the cost to the Commonwealth. Money cost is certainly involved, but we in the Legislature today are calmly accepting the challenge of the time, recognizing that as life becomes more complex, the very safeguards of the Commonwealth and the nation are dependent upon a wide dispersal of knowledge to the end that the state itself will not be blind to the laws of its own survival but will give freely and generously.

Gentlemen, we sit here and appropriate millions of dollars for bridges, millions of dollars to preserve ancient landmarks, but matter does not survive time, and the idols and the monuments will rust and soon drift away and decay under the elements.

We place our trust in brains in America and upon the ability of the individual to cope with the problems as they arise. The dollar mark is only secondary; the perpetuation of the nation and our method of life is far more precious to us.

I know you are tired perhaps in these closing weeks of the session, but all of you are cognizant of the problems in the schools, all of you are wholeheartedly with them. I therefore ask you today as you register your vote on this measure to you think well, and also think of the case of the children of Pennsylvania vs. the Commonwealth.

Mr. CHARLES R. REAGAN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman who has just spoken, the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Somerset permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HARE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. REAGAN. Will the passage of this act, Mr. Speaker, entail any further taxation locally against real estate in the local subdivisions of the state?

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman may I say there has been a misapprehension in my own mind as to the increase in the cost to the local districts. This bill will appropriate more than two-thirds of its total amount, in my mind, to the relief of the load on real estate locally.

I have no desire to occupy too much time of the House, but the purpose of the program is not solely teachers' salaries. It is evident in the relief of real estate that millions of these dollars are going into the local districts on the basis of a five mill property tax in Pennsylvania. I would say it will decrease the cost by half in my own district, and will materially decrease the cost in many other districts of the state.

Under no circumstances will any district receive any less money than they received in the last biennium.

Mr. REAGAN. Does the gentleman say then that there will be less taxation on the real estate of local subdivisions than there is now or will there be more?

Mr. HARE. In my opinion, Mr. Speaker, there will be less.

Mr. REAGAN. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, this interrogation that has just taken place was the point to which I intended to arise and to speak on this bill. At the last session there was created the Commission that studied this system, and its findings has come out of the Educational Committee this bill that is being passed today.

Real estate will be relieved just as Mr. Hare has stated. On the question of our responsibility, and what we must face, in the years to come, if the state is to bear its share—if we do our part in relieving real estate as it must be relieved and which is now bearing generally three-quarters of the cost of the operation of our schools —we must face even further responsibilities in raising additional funds so that the Commonwealth may fully do its part.

Equalization is the part of this program which still needs our attention before we complete it in this session, and when we have done our full part for the Commonwealth we will have approached equalization, which in turn is something that is impossible of solution under the system as it previously existed, or as it will continue in the progressive measures we are taking today and in this session.

Equalization cannot be solved. Other states have fully realized that and have discarded the attempt. There will ultimately be the demand for this Commonwealth to assume all minimum salaries of all teachers on one equal plane all over the Commonwealth, and when that is done the opportunity of the child in the country will be equal to the child in the city; when that is done, then the municipal government can clear up many of its serious problems, particularly in our large centers and in our large cities, because then real estate will be free to bear only its share in the respective municipalities.

So this Commonwealth does have a tremendous responsibility. These things that I have pointed out to you make this day a momentous one. Basically and beyond it all, back of the need of giving the teachers a proper salary and a proper pay, is the child. In speaking on this measure and for this type of legislation, assuming for my part my share of the responsibility for the Commonwealth's taking its part in the monetary setup that will be necessary, may I close my remarks with an illustration showing the relationship, if you please, between what we are doing for the child today, and the child of tomorrow who is going to have the responsibility for world leadership, and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that must assume a very large part of that work.

A father, annoyed by his boy asking questions, tore up a map of the world one evening when he would rather read his newspaper than answer the boy's questions, and threw it down on the floor. He said "Son, put this map together." In an incredibly short time the boy had put the map together. The father said "Son, how did you do it so quickly?" The boy replied "Well, on the back of that map, Dad, was a picture of a boy, and I knew when I got that boy together the world would be all right." Let us put the boy together properly in education in Pennsylvania.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

SENATE

MONDAY, APRIL 23, 1945.

The Senate met at 4:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor John C. Bell, Jr.) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O Thou whose glory and majesty are beyond our ability to comprehend, and whose dominion and power are without limit, accept, we pray Thee, our humble tribute of worship and pardon our many sins. We have often failed in reverence; we have violated Thy holy law; we have broken the covenant of peace by putting other Gods before Thee. We ask Thy forgiveness. We believe Thou art ready to forgive if we confess and are truly repentant. This is God's plan by which His erring children are restored to sonship.

We pray for the strength and courage to accomplish Thy purpose in our lives. Each of us has his work to do. Whatever that work is may we "do it as unto the Lord."

In dealing with the matters that are to come before them today may the members of the Senate be governed and actuated by the spirit of truth and honor, thus legislating for the best interests of the State, and, because of their high principles and endeavors, making this a better place of residence for all the people.

For all Thy good providences we give Thee thanks. For Thy continued favor we pray. In the name of Christ, our Lord. Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. COX. Mr. President, last week the House by unanimous vote passed House Bill No. 568, which now reposes in the Committee on Education of the Senate. The courage of the members of the House Committee on Education in placing the interest and the welfare of the Commonwealth above party impels me to commend them. I only hope that the Senate Committee on Education will go and do likewise. If we are to have an efficient system of education in Pennsylvania we must in this present session of the Legislature face the crises which now face our educational system.

The ridiculous salaries which are paid to the school teachers of our state have caused hundreds of them, because of absolute necessity, to seek other vocations. We are now in the dying days of this session. Every day is important. If we are going to save our educational system it is imperative that the Senate Committee on Education immediately report out House Bill No. 568. We have a mandate from the people of Pennsylvania. From every class has come to us the request that we do something to establish a mandatory system of salaries in this state which will be adequate.

I would like to interrogate the Chairman of the Committee on Education of the Senate, the gentleman from Lancaster, Senator Homsher.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOMSHER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. Mr. Homsher, as Chairman of the Senate Committee on Education, is it your intent to hold a meeting of that committee this week?

Mr. HOMSHER. I have not arranged for any meeting as yet this week.

Mr. COX. Senator Homsher, will you have a meeting of the Committee on Education this week?

Mr. HOMSHER. I did not understand the question.

Mr. COX. Will you have a meeting of the Committee on Education this week?

Mr. HOMSHER. I do not know; I may have.

Mr. COX. Will you?

Mr. HOMSHER. I am not committing myself as to whether I will hold a meeting or not.

Mr. COX. Senator Homsher, if you do have a meeting of the Committee on Education, will you bring before it for action House Bill No. 568?

Mr. HOMSHER. When I get House Bill No. 568 I expect to make a complete study of it before I place it before the committee for consideration.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, there are in this Senate many people who think as I, that the time has come for action, and I know they agree with me that we are not going to permit any extended delay in consideration of this bill. It has long since ceased to be the property of any Committee on Education, it is the property of the Senate proper and certainly, since it means so much to the future of this Commonwealth, the bill should be immediately reported from committee so that we can fight the entire matter out on the floor of the Senate.

with the information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

The PRESIDENT. The bill as amended, will appear on tomorrow's Calendar.

HOUSE INSISTS UPON ITS NON-CONCURRENCE IN AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILL No. 548 AND APPOINTS COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

He also informed the Senate that the House insists upon its non-concurrence in Senate amendments to House Bill No. 548, entitled:

An Act providing that when the contract of a fiduciary is made by him or approved by court inadequacy of price or an offer to deal on other terms, shall not relieve the fiduciary of his obligation or constitute ground for a court to set aside the contract or to refuse to enforce

EDWARD MARTIN.

The PRESIDENT. Unless there is a request to the contrary, the nominations will be acted upon at one time.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I have no objection to any of the persons named. However, I do want to say a few words before they are finally acted upon.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia may proceed.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President and members of the Senate, with respect to the nominations to the Board of Trustees of the Eastern State Penitentiary, the Democratic Party has gone on record as favoring them. They are doing it rather reluctantly.

However, realizing the chaos and disorder that is prevalent now at the Eastern Penitentiary, a condition which started some time ago, first with the resignation of three trustees—nobody seems to know the reason—and then more recently the escape of twelve prisoners from the Eastern Penitentiary, ten of whom have been captured—and nobody can explain that.

However, we feel that it has not been managed properly. Warden Smith, however, in a statement made about a week ago, lays the blame at the doorstep of the Department of Welfare, and probably properly I will say, he was absolutely justified in his statement, because he claims they have not the room, they have not the equipment, they have not the manpower, and under these circumstances he can not possibly conduct his office properly.

With this new board we hope that probably some order may be restored out of the chaos and confusion that now exists and which has been attributed to the Department of Welfare.

While it is true that we intend sooner or later to abandon the Eastern Penitentiary, I am predicting this will not be done for years to come. In the meanwhile the Eastern Penitentiary is a penal institution where our prisoners are confined and care must be taken to provide properly for these prisoners, and, further, to make sure that we do not have a recurrence of what has been taking place there for the past six months.

Bills have been introduced by Senator Troutman, and I examined those bills and I think they are fine bills. However—and I can not emphasize it too strongly—nothing will be done this year, nothing will be done next year, so what is going to happen at the Eastern Penitentiary in the meanwhile? Are we going to have our new trustees resign because of conditions as they exist there. I hope not. The character of the nominees now being considered I can not question, but they have a very difficult job and unless the Department of Welfare cooperates with them we can not hope for any improvement or amelioration of conditions as they exist there.

We are either going to have a prison there or not. If we are going to abandon it, let us abandon it immediately and move those prisoners to other institutions. I have little reason to believe that those prisoners will be moved within a short time. It is an old story by Governor Martin and his group—promises, promises, promises, not tomorrow or the day after, but for some time in the distant future.

It is unfortunate that men are sent to jail, but when they are sent there, proper facilities and equipment should be provided so that they can be restored in time, or at least when their terms are up, as useful citizens of society, but under conditions as they exist today that is practically impossible.

Mr. President, the Democratic Party is going along on these nominations and will confirm them but I sincerely hope, and I am repeating what I said, that these gentlemen that today we will confirm will see to it that some order is restored. I further hope that the Department of Welfare will, for the time being, at least until this new institution that they have in mind becomes a reality, cooperate with the prison trustees and also the prison warden.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, this is a joint resolution which provides a means in my opinion for the consolidation of the city and county of Philadelphia. I wish to make one statement only at this time

This is the bill, word for word, that passed the Legislature of 1935 and the Legislature of 1937, and when it was put up to the people in November of 1937, Philadelphia gave it a majority of 69,783 or 69,780 odd. It is for that reason that I have refused to accept amendments. I am offering the joint resolution, word for word, as it passed those two Legislatures and that is all I wish to say at this time.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I am heartily in accord with this bill. However, I understand that Senator Kephart today introduced a bill along similar lines. I do not know the nature of it. The Chairman of the Committee on Constitutional Changes can not possibly hold a meeting today, but I think he might hold a meeting tomorrow or Wednesday.

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. JASPAN. Therefore, Mr. President, I feel that we should consider all these bills at the same time, and therefore Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 132, on third reading, go over in its order until such time as we have opportunity to discuss Senator Kephart's bill.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I am sorry I have to object.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, the bill as presented by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Kephart, is now in the hands of the Chairman of the Committee on Constitutional Changes; it seems that the proper way to proceed would be to have both these bills before the Senate, and for that reason the Chairman of the Committee on Constitutional Changes would be willing to hold a meeting of that committee now to act upon that bill, as to whether or not it should be reported out as committed. I have already polled a majority of the Committee on Constitutional Changes, who are in favor of reporting this bill out, but due to deference with regard to the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Jaspan, who demands a committee meeting, I am willing right now to hold that committee meeting in an ante-room if this Senate will be at ease.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, may I make the suggestion, with all due respect to this problem of Philadelphia, that a bill was introduced awhile ago—and I am not taking sides between Doctor Woodward, Senator Kephart and Senator Jaspan, if he has entered the lists, but I would like to suggest that this bill, introduced by Doctor Woodward, is on third reading and has been before us for some time; the bill introduced today by Senator Kephart will not be in print for several days, which means that we would hold up Senator Woodward's bill for perhaps a week, until the bill introduced by Senator Kephart catches up with it, unless we are going to pass the Woodward bill now.

I am not overly enthusiastic about the Committee on Constitutional Changes holding a meeting in a rear room, while the other members of the Senate sit around and twiddle their fingers while they decide what is going to happen in Philadelphia.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I have had little or no opportunity to study this bill presented by Senator Kephart; it has not been printed, only being introduced today.

This is a very important matter to the city of Philadelphia. This question of consolidation has come up time and again and, as a matter of fact, it was put to the voters of Pennsylvania several years ago and turned down.

However, I am interested in this—and I may be interested in the bill introduced by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart—on the other hand, I may not agree with its provisions or contents, but I think the fair thing to do would be to consider both bills at the same time. I am in agreement, I repeat, with Senator Woodward but Senator Kephart may have a better bill to take care of the situation, so if we hold the Woodward bill for a day or two the Chairman of the Committee on Constitutional Changes has said if he can not hold a meeting of that committee today he will hold it tomorrow, and I hope by that time the Kephart bill will be in print, with a number properly assigned, and if so I will have an opportunity to read it.

That is all I am asking—a fair and square deal, and I think the Chairman of the Committee on Constitutional Changes is interested in giving everybody a fair and square deal, and Senator Kephart likewise is, and I think Senator Woodward should go along and have this bill held over for a day or two—no great harm will come about by so doing.

As between the two I might be in favor of the Woodward bill, or, if the Kephart bill is better, I am perfectly willing to vote for it. I should like to be in a position of examining the two bills. I may be diametrically opposed to the Kephart bill, but on the other hand it may be an improvement.

Mr. BLASS. Mr. President, this bill has been assigned a number, it is a very short bill and very easily understandable, and it would not take very long for the Committee on Constitutional Changes to have both of these bills before the Senate, so that the members of the Senate would be able to discern the difference between the two bills.

For that reason I think it is very important that a meeting of the Committee on Constitutional Changes be held, and I am going to call such a meeting as soon as the Senate is at ease, in an ante-chamber, to take action on this bill, so that it can also appear on the Calendar, because this session is drawing to an end and both bills therefore will be before the Senators for their choice as to which bill appears to be better for the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I can understand Philadelphia getting into some dilemma over the particular type of bill they want for consolidation of the city and county, but I also understand we have a Calendar today consisting of over a hundred bills, and if we are going to delay the entire Calendar here when, as the gentleman from Erie has just said, we are in the dying days of the session, until Philadelphia decides the type of bill they want, I might say that some very important legislation might fall by the wayside.

I suggest to the majority side that we continue our work on the Calendar and that the Committee on Constitutional Changes meet when it has printed copies of the bill to present to committee members, and not before then.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I press my request that the bill go over in its order, at least until the committee has an opportunity to act.

Mr. WOODWARD. I object.

Mr. JASPAN. Mr. President, I am in favor of this bill as it stands today, as I said before, but it is quite possible that Senator Kephart has a better bill. There was one feature that was stricken out, that I objected to; I think we are all aware of it, and it relates to the merit system.

Frankly, Mr. President, I hope that the Republican Party of the city of Philadelphia is as sincere as I am with respect to passage of this bill. Once before this joint resolution appeared before us, in fact, on two occasions, and finally it was presented to the people for a vote. The city of Philadelphia voted for it, but not overwhelmingly, which is equally true of the other large cities, but the up-state counties turned it down and consequently the joint resolution failed.

Just to make a play and give us words and promises, as I have said time and time again, means nothing; action is what counts, and actions speak louder than words. I think it might pass this session, and I hope it might pass in 1947, but I sincerely hope that when and if it does pass in 1947 the electorate of the state of Pennsylvania will vote overwhelmingly for something that Philadelphia wants and not vote against us as they did once before.

The PRESIDENT. There is objection to the bill going over in its order.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I probably will be the only one to vote against this bill, but I simply can not understand why domestic corporations owned exclusively by members of the medical and dental professions should not come under the law when they charge more than six per cent interest. I believe when they get into a class where they are charging more than six per cent interest, although they might be non-profit by their corporate make-up, there is no method by which we can measure the amount of money that is charged in interest, used for purposes other than legal purposes of management. I believe this is a very bad piece of legislation.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 4 The provisions of this act with the exception of Section 3 shall become effective immediately upon final enactment and Section 3 hereof shall become effective on the first day of January one thousand nine hundred and forty-six

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, when we had before us the question of taking over the bonded indebtedness of the General State Authority, I called attention to the fact that this was preparatory to passing legislation that would eliminate entirely the act known as the General State Authority Act.

We opposed the elimination of this particular piece of legislation from the statute books. Some of us are perhaps more interested in what the General State Authority accomplished, rather than any theory of government that says that there should be no agency created by government that does not reflect the debt of the government itself. I state this because in the year 1935, when the General State Authority Act was originally passed, the people of Pennsylvania were in the depths of a deep depression; we needed at that time many improvements and extensions to our various prisons, sanitoriums, hospitals and armories.

The only method that we could devise at the time to accomplish these needed improvements and build needed additional buildings was through the creation of a General State Authority. I might say here that if we had not created the General State Authority, that fine hospital at Butler, known as the Deshong General Hospital, which has had pass through its healing doors thousands of crippled and maimed soldiers, victims of this war, would never have been built. Thousands upon thousands of Pennsylvanians could never have been cured of the dread disease of tuberculosis if we had not had the General State Authority; thousands upon thousands of poor innocent unfortunate mental delinquents would have had no proper place for their care and improvement if we had not had the General State Authority.

Mr. President, I say to you the day may come again soon—I do not want it to come, I do not predict that it will come, but it may come—when it will be to the best interest of the people of Pennsylvania to have this particular act upon the statute books. You have taken from it, by the starvation diet of a previous bill, all the life blood of the General State Authority, but you need not now by direct execution kill the means that were responsible for so many fine improvements in the social life of Pennsylvania.

I oppose this bill for many other reasons. One, too, that may be called to your attention, is the fact that we had, because of the General State Authority, many new armories built, many additions to old armories made, many improvements made in such establishments, that gave us proper training grounds for the soldiers who are fighting this war.

I say to the members of the General Assembly that there is no purpose in killing this act, in eliminating it from the statute books, because it costs nothing, since you do not have any work for it to do. It remains there as a vehicle for more improvements in later days which we might need in emergency. And so the only reason I can see for the passage of this particular bill is to give satisfaction to some people who believe in a certain philosophy of government.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, possibly I ought not take up time of the Senate in discussing this matter, as no votes will be changed by anything that either Senator Dent or I say.

However, we have a government, and a form of government. If we are just going to throw that form of government away, use it when we wish to do so, and discard it when we wish to do so—it will entirely fail us sometime.

The laws of economics are as fixed and as inexorable as the laws of nature. I made this statement—which of course is not original with me—a year or so ago, to Mr. Andrews, who is now Minority Leader in the House, and he replied by saying that the laws of economics are the laws of nature.

Of course, we can live luxuriously; we can put a mortgage on our property and allow our children to pay the debt. That is the indolent way of living. It is not under this form or spirit of living that a nation is built up; it is through this way of living that a nation is torn down and financially ends in ruin and choas, just as surely as the man who lives beyond his means goes into bankruptcy or goes on the relief rolls.

Senator Dent says in 1935-1937 we were in a depression and needed this bill. Why, I recall very well that the late president, in his first campaign, claimed we were in the midst of a depression in 1932, and even during that time he went around saying that the federal government must stop increasing the deficit, that we must cut down expenses of government by one-fourth. But instead of doing that, after they came into power, they put this enormous debt upon us which it will take the closest kind of financing in order to survive. I hope both the parties will declare that they will not in any way repudiate a dollar of the debt that we have, if it takes a hundred years to pay it off, but we have that debt, and we have got a part of that debt, at least, because there was no provision in the federal Constitution against increasing the debt.

It is only because the states of the union have been frugal, because they have had these provisions in their constitutions against increasing the debt, that we can hope that our country may be able to withstand the great pressure we will face when this war is over, with a tremendous debt of three hundred billion dollars.

It was this kind of financing, without any kind of check on it, that destroyed the French during the French Revolution and brought about the chaos and misery of that revolution, and the orgy of it; it was this kind of financing that destroyed the German Republic after the First World War; and those who say that we can go ahead and have no restraints on our form of government, on our acts of government, simply do not know history or they have not read it intelligently.

I am perfectly willing, and I have voted for in this session of the Legislature, a proposed amendment—I think I introduced it at the last session—to increase the bonded indebtedness of the state about $60,000,000 or so, so that we could carry on any needed improvements.

This original act was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. Then, under facts which were presented to the court in a re-hearing, the members of the court gave a cautious approval in a very labored opinion about this kind of financing, but if you will read that opinion of the Supreme Court you will find that the only thing that was discussed at that time was the construction of mental hospitals and hospitals of various kinds, and the court went on to say that the rentals would be between three and four million dollars a biennium. But if you will look at the budget requirements you will find that the Governor has asked for over eight million dollars to be appropriated to take care of those rentals.

Mr. President, not only did the General State Authority construct some mental hospitals, but they also went out and constructed memorial buildings to various people; they borrowed money to buy the personal property in those buildings. You will find that mortgages were given to buy rugs and to buy lamps, and such things as that, and we certainly do need some restriction.

If the time should come when we need an act like this kind, an act can be passed with limited authority, and then it could be put up to the Supreme Court to say whether or not it would be constitutional. When the first act was passed it was for two years only, but they continued to make it indefinite, and everyone who is in favor of good, sound government must, I think, vote for this bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the constitutional question I will leave to those who know more about the legal aspects of law than I do, namely, the Supreme Court itself, which, as I understand it, has made this the law of the land by decision.

However, I would like to discuss this bill from an angle that I do know something about. If you do not believe in this policy of financing for the state, then you must be opposed to this policy of financing for municipal governments, which, under a like bill, set up municipal authorities and purchased utilities and self-liquidating projects in amounts over and above the amount of money that they may borrow legally under their set-up.

Also I might call your attention to the similarity of this particular type of legislation to that which rules our everyday home life. There are some individuals who, upon some occasion in their lifetime, have needed an extraordinary sum of money, for the purpose of sending a daughter or a son or a member of the family to a hospital for an operation; they needed money to pay the hospital, they needed money to pay the doctor; not having the borrowing capacity or the cash to pay for this, they have gone to a relative or to a neighbor, and this neighbor or relative has underwritten the loan by signing a note in the amount that the individual needed to take care of the sick member of his family. When that person reached the stage where he had the money, he paid the note off and the obligation upon the underwriter was gone.

That is our situation here. We built the institutions, we borrowed money, the General State Authority underwrote the credit of the state of Pennsylvania, by going out and borrowing money in its own name, and we then, in turn, in this session of the Legislature, when we had earned the money to pay off the note, paid the note off and the sick child is well and the debt is paid.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, the act that they are trying to repeal here has a very strange history in this state which I will tell about at the close of my remarks. I opened my campaign, the first time I ran for the Senate at the psychiatric hospital in Pittsburgh, on the steps in the fall, at a night meeting, trying to persuade Governor James to open the psychiatric hospital because there was great need for it.

If it had not been for the General State Authority we would not have that great institution we now have at Selinsgrove, we would not have the many additions that have been made to the Polk Institution and to other institutions.

I am forced to say I think the gentleman from Somerset, Senator Ealy, is putting the cart before the horse. He said he voted for a constitutional amendment to increase the state indebtedness about $60,000,000.

Then again I think the gentleman from Somerset is a little more reactionary than the State Superme Court because in 1935 the State Supreme Court said this bill was unconstitutional and in 1936, after the Democrats carried the state by 660,000, the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania told the authorities of the Democratic Party to come in and ask for a rehearing, which was had, and the Supreme Court then declared the bill constitutional.

I do not like to say that about my friend from Somerset, but I do not think he read the votes in 1936.

Mr. EALY. I would like to say just a couple more words, Mr. President. Our Constitution says the people of the state must give their consent to the state borrowing money. That is what I am in favor of, and I do not care how much the state borrows if the people want it, but I am opposed to a group of fellows borrowing money without real authority.

In this decision of the Supreme Court it was said that to these mental institutions a great amount of money would be paid by the counties, which would send inmates there, but this act was hardly declared constitutional before we passed an act taking over all the mental hospitals and freeing the counties from paying the revenues which the Supreme Court stated was the basis for approving the act.

A question has been raised about the Butler Hospital. I want to call to the attention of the Democrats in this Senate the fact that they were insisting upon that institution being used for another purpose, and the wisdom of the Republican administration and the Republican Senators kept it so that it could be turned over to the use to which it is now being put, but if we had followed the advice from the other side we would not have had it for this hospital for the federal government.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not think that last statement by the gentleman from Somerset ought to go without an answer. In the first place, if we had listened to the other side we would never have had the hospital, and the reason the hospital was never used for the specific purpose for which it was built, and for which there was much need, was because Governor James would not give the $200,000 to buy the equipment.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(b) That the employe had assumed the risk of the occupational disease, or

(c) That the occupational disease was caused in any degree by the negligence of such employe unless it be established that the occupational disease was caused by such employe's intoxication, or by his reckless indifference to danger the burden of proving such intoxication or reckless indifference to danger shall be upon the defendant, and the question shall be one of fact to be determined by the jury.

(d) In any action brought to recover damages for personal disability to an employe in the course of his employment, or for death resulting from such occupational disease, the following rule shall apply:

An employer desiring to be exempt from insuring his liability to pay damages shall make application to the department, showing his financial ability to pay such damages as in the judgment of the department would be an amount that would accrue as a result of the ordinary risks of the particular employment wherein the employer seeks exemption. Whereupon, the department, if satisfied of the applicant's financial ability, shall, upon the payment of a fee of twenty-five dollars ($25) issue to the applicant a permit authorizing such exemption. From a refusal of the department to issue such permit, an appeal shall lie to the Court of Common Pleas of Dauphin County. In any such appeal, the only question shall be whether the department abused its discretion in refusing such permit. The department shall establish a period of twelve calendar months to begin and end at such times as the department shall prescribe which shall be known as the annual exemption period. Unless previously revoked, all permits issued under this section shall expire and terminate on the last day of the annual exemption period for which they were issued. Permits issued under this act shall be renewed upon the filing of an application and the payment of a renewal fee of twenty-five dollars ($25). The department may from time to time require further statements of the financial ability of such employer, and if at any time such employer appears in the judgment of the department no longer able to pay, damages shall revoke its permit granting exemption, in which case the employer shall immediately subscribe to the State Workmen's Insurance Fund, or insure his liability in any insurance company, or mutual association or company as aforesaid.

Every employer liable under this section of the act to pay damages shall post and maintain in a conspicuous place in and about his place of business, a notice that he has secured the payment of damages to his employes and their dependents in accordance with the provisions of this section. Such notice shall be in such form as shall be prescribed by the department, and among other things, shall set forth the name of the employer, the name of the employer's, the name of the employer's insurance carrier, or that he has been exempted by the department from carrying insurance as the case may be.

If any employer shall fail to comply with the provisions of this section with respect to posting and maintaining the notice required by this act, such employer shall upon conviction thereof, in a summary proceeding, be sentenced to pay a fine of twenty-five dollars ($25) and costs of prosecution.

If any employer, his employe or employes, agent, or agents fails to comply with the provisions of this section with respect to insuring or securing an exemption from insurance, or in any application filed under this section, shall furnish the department with a false or fraudulent statement of outstanding incurred liability for damages or any other false or fradulent statement, such employer, his employe or employes, agent or agents, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, for every such failure or false or fraudulent statement shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than one hundred dollars ($100), nor more than five hundred dollars ($500) and costs of prosecution, or imprisonment for a period of not more than one year or both, at the discretion of the court. Every day's violation and every false or fraudulent statement shall constitute a separate offense. It shall be the duty of the department to enforce this section, but this shall not prohibit any citizen from being a prosecutor for violations of this law. The department, shall investigate all violations brought to its notice, and shall institute prosecution for violation thereof. All fines recovered under the provisions of this section shall be paid by the clerk of the court to the department, and by it paid into the State Treasury.

In any proceeding against an employer under this section, a certificate of non-insurance issued by the official Workmen's Compensation Rating and Inspection Bureau and a certificate of the department showing that the defendant has not been exempted from obtaining insurance under this section, shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated. Any employer who fails to secure his employes to pay compensation under article three of this act, or if he has rejected article three of this act and fails to secure his employes in the payment of damages sustained by such employes in the manner set forth in this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not less than three hundred dollars ($300) and not to exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000) or imprisonment of six months, either or both, at the discretion of the court.

(a) When compensation is awarded because of disability or death caused by silicosis, anthracosis, pneumoconiosis, anthraco-silicosis, asbestosis, or any other occupational disease which developed to the point of disablement only after an exposure of five or more years, the compensation for disability or death due to such disease shall be paid jointly by the employer and the Commonwealth out of moneys to the credit of the Occupational Disease Fund hereinafter created in the State Workmen's Insurance Fund in accordance with the following provisions: If disability begins between October 1, 1939, and September 30, 1941, both dates inclusive, the employer shall be liable for and pay fifty per centum of the compensation due and the Occupational Disease Fund fifty per centum thereof. Section 5. Article three of said act is hereby amended by inserting between sections three hundred eight and three hundred nine thereof, a new section to read as follows:

Section 308.1 The public policy of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is hereby declared to be that the method of computing wages as set forth in this section and the rates to be paid the disabled employes or their dependents under sections 306 and 307 of this act are just and reasonable.

Wherever in this article the term "wages" is used it shall be construed to mean the money rate at which the service rendered is recompensed under the contract of hiring in force at the time of the accident, except that if the disabled employe was at the time of the disability a minor and his disability shall continue after he shall have reached the age of twenty-one years, his average weekly wage for the purpose of determining the compensation payable under this act shall be determined on the basis of the earnings that such minor, if not disabled, probably would earn at the age of twenty-one years. In determining such probable earnings, due consideration shall be given to the employe's aptitude, education and experience fitting him for any employment not only in the trade or business in which he was engaged at the time of the injury but in any other trade or business. In determining such probable earnings the referee and the board shall have the right to receive into evidence as competent testimony the earnings of other employes of similar aptitude, education and experience engaged in a similar trade or business and findings based upon such testimony shall be final. The term "wages" shall include board, and lodging received from the employer. Whenever the employe receives board and lodging as a part of his wages, the board shall be rated fifty cents per day, and board together with lodging shall be rated at one dollar per day for the purpose of computing wages. In seasonable occupations the employe's weekly wages shall be taken to be one-fiftieth of the total wages which he has earned from all occupations during the year immediately preceding the accident, unless it be shown that during such year by reason of exceptional causes such method of computation does not ascertain fairly the earnings of the employe, in which case the period for calculation shall be extended so far as to give a basis for the fair ascertainment of his average weekly earnings. In continuous employments, if immediately prior to the accident, the rate of wages w fixed by the day or hour or by the output of the employe, his weekly wages shall be taken to be five and one-half times his average earnings at such rate for a working day, and using as a basis of calculation his earnings during so much of the preceding six months as he worked for the same employer: Provided, however, That if the employe regularly and habitually worked more than five and one-half days per week the weekly wage shall be found by multiplying his average earnings for working day by six, six and one-half or seven according to the customary number of working days constituting an ordinary week in his occupation or trade. Where the employe is working under concurrent contracts with two or more employers, his wages from all employers shall be considered as if earned from the employer liable for compensation.

In cases where the employe has been in the employ of the employer less than one full week, and by reason of the shortness of time during which the employe has been in the employment of the employer or the nature or terms of the employment, it is impracticable to ascertain the average weekly wages as hereinbefore provided the average weekly amount which during the six months previous to the disability has been earned by other persons employed by the same employer under similar contracts of hiring, or if there are no persons so employed, by other persons employed by other employers under similar contracts of hiring under similar conditions shall be taken as the basis for the ascertainment of the weekly wages of such employe.

Where an injured employe or his dependents appoint an attorney-in-fact to be his or her representative in compensation proceedings before a referee or the compensation board, the instrument creating and constituting the attorney-in-fact shall be filed with the compensation board in the case.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, before a vote is taken upon the amendments I think that it would be proper if I were just to call to the attention of the Senate the intent of the amendments.

In amending Section 108 we tried to do what the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Wagner, called attention to the other day in his brief remarks to the Senate, when he introduced a bill that would specifically provide for payment of occupational disease compensation for miner's asthma and anthracosis.

The occupational disease definition is amended to include, under Section (k) disability caused by dust concentration and under Section (m), infection or inflammation due to bacterial or parasitic agents by induustrial contact or exposure, and under Section (n) poisoning by sulphuric, hydrochloric or other acids in any and all occupational diseases.

Nineteen states compensate now for all occupational disease, among them the industrial states nearest to Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticuut, Massachuusetts, Ohio, Illinois, and Indiana.

In Section 201 the amendments now do away with the defense set up on the supposition that the employe assumed the risk of the occupation—any person that takes a job, especially when he needs a job, is literally assuming the risk of the job; second, by his negligence, unless he was intoxicated or by his reckless indifference to danger; employer's responsibility for law violations, or failure to observe the safety law, entitles the victim to double damages, as is now contained in the workmen's compensation laws.

There are two bills now resting in a committee of the Senate which have never been considered by the Senate. One was introduced by Senators Gourley, Haluska and myself, the other was introduced by Senator Letzler, on the majority side, Senate Bill 650. These bills have never been considered. So therefore the amendments I am now offering give to the Senate an opportunity to vote upon the conditions that are contained in the bills introduced by the three Democratic Senators and by Senator Letzler.

These bills are the result of a conference held by the four major labor organizations of the Commonwealth, the United Mine Workers, the CIO, the American Federation of Labor, and the railway brotherhoods.

At the request of the Governor those four labor organizations met and decided upon a course of action. In their desire to keep this legislation non-partisan they invited sponsorship by both the Republican and Democratic parties.

We felt, inasmuch as the Governor in his statement said if the labor organizations in Pennsylvania could join in a program, that he would be glad to consider that program. The bill that now presents itself to you, without the amendments that I have introduced, contains the provisions suggested by industry in a later conference suggested by the Governor between industry and labor representatives.

Labor feels aggrieved now becase the Governor, who I am sure would like to do what is right, had suggested to labor that if they could get together he would give serious consideration to their proposals, and then, forced by an interest in his own party which insisted that industry have some consideration—and we too say that industry should have consideration—he asked that industry sit down with labor and that labor sit down with industry and that they come to some mutual agreement. Labor proposed the very amendments that I now offer to you; industry proposed the very consideration that are contained in Senate Bill 656.

I call your attention, Mr. President, to the fact that labor, acting in good faith, met with industry, and we find upon the Calendar tonight the bills representing the thought of industry, and industry alone. The road to successful labor and industrial relations is not a one way road—capital has its place; the commodity of labor has its place. For years we have been divided in the Senate by our approach to the problem. On the right hand side of the Senate we have found the representatives who believe that only the things that industry wants are the right things; on the left-hand side of the Senate we have found those who have fought to interpret and place into laws the thoughts that embodied the desires of the men who create, in a sense, the very industry they work for.

And so I say to you members here there is no use in continuing on and carrying on the amendments and explaining to you what each individual amendment does. I hope to do that later, under workmen's compensation, a bill that probably is better understood by not only the Senators but by laymen, and therefore I ask that the members of the Senate accept these amendments knowing that they are amendments agreed to by ninety-five per cent of all labor in Pennsylvania as amendments that would best serve the purposes for which they were intended.

I ask that my colleagues vote "aye" on the amendments.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, labors under a terrific misapprehension when he speaks of the conference between employers and employes and says that this bill is the sole recommendation of employers. I am sorry, but that is not the fact.

I was privileged to attend some of those meetings, Mr. President—as a matter of fact, I arranged for the first one—and labor and employers got together on a lot of the provisions in Senate Bill No. 656.

True, there is some dispute as to rates, maximums and minimums. I assume the Senator is going to discuss rates under Senate Bill No. 657, but these, Mr. President, are not the recommendations of employers of the Commonwealth. A great many of the recommendations in this bill were agreed on by both labor and employers, and many of them were suggested by labor. I heard them suggested myself, Mr. President, I was there, and I know whereof I speak.

This is a good bill. It goes a long way towards generalizing occupational disease legislation in Pennsylvania. I suggest, Mr. President, that the Majority Party has to represent all the people of the state, employes and employers alike, Mr. President, and we just can not recommend legislation here that is going to dry up employment in the Commonwealth.

I ask my colleagues to vote down the amendments offered by the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I should feel slighted, perhaps, but I do not—I was not invited to these conferences; perhaps I do not know the right people.

Will the gentleman from Delaware tell the Senate whether a miner, who has worked in the mines for a number of years and contracts a lung condition commonly known as anthracosis, be compensated under the terms of the bill now before the Senate, without these amendments?

Mr. HEYBURN. Yes, Mr. President, I am sure he will.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, what defense can an employer claim, that has ever been upheld, that denies this man any claim to compensation?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, on page three, if the gentleman from Westmoreland will read the bill, I think it is rather clear, the benefits are set up for miner's asthma, and I do not think there is any doubt about it, if anybody wants to read the bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Wagner. I might state this is a friendly interrogation and not one intended to embarrass anyone.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WAGNER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is it the interpretation of the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Wagner, on this bill, that the objections he raised in his eloquent speech before the Senate the other day, will be met by the passage of this bill?

Mr. WAGNER. I would say, Mr. President, I introduced bills in the Senate last week which we feel will definitely remove any doubts that may exist as to the protection of the miner from any sort of disease which he might contract in the mines; I have every reason to believe that those bills will be reported out from committee for acceptance by the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Then, Mr. President, am I to understand that without passage of the bills introduced by the gentleman from Schuylkill, that the miner is not guaranteed payment for miner's asthma or anthracosis under the terms of this bill?

Mr. WAGNER. I think he is, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Then, Mr. President, may I further interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. WAGNER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. What would be the need for passage of the bills introduced by the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Wagner?

Mr. WAGNER. I would say, Mr. President, that the purpose of the bills which I introduced was to strengthen beyond any possible doubt all measures to insure coverage of the miner for any disease he might contract.

I might take the liberty of further stating that this bill, in its present shape, which Senator Kephart and I consider good and adequate, is a liberalization of the former law; we know it can be passed, there is a common agreement on it, and we certainly do not care to endanger the bill by amendments where there is a difference of opinion as to their degree of effectiveness, and we would prefer to get this particular bill through as it is now, and introduce separate legislation to cover any conceivable point that might be raised under the compensation laws.

Mr. DENT. That is a fine gesture, Mr. President, to say that this bill is a liberalization. We know that. We all agree that any time you increase rates, even by a meager six per cent, that is a liberalization to an extent, but where there is any doubt as to whether a man, who toils and sweats and dies in the mines, can collect compensation for a disease that he contracts in his employment, where there is any doubt as to whether he can collect compensation, I say then that bill is weak.

The trouble with a great many of us is that when we see a man with a broken arm we see he is injured, but men die from injuries that are not visible to the naked eye; men are injured in the course of employment, in the course of their duties, internally, by strains, by overexertion, by conditions surrounding employment, dust and other ingredients that they may consume because of the nature of their employment, but the injury is not visible to the naked eye. For years we have said that if a man breaks a leg or an arm, gets an injury to his spine, loses a toe or a finger, anything that you can look at and see, it is compensable. We were forced to that. We were forced to that by natural decency and the need of the men who work.

For years you have fought against paying a man for unseen injuries and in the bill before us tonight you still fight that battle. You do not want to concede that a man may be injured to the extend that he has a loss of earning power, that he may suffer injury that is painful; you fight against paying him for that because of something known in compensation as the indeterminable something that you can not measure the loss of, but that man's family measures the loss by the mornings that he can not get up and go to work, by the nights he drags himself home to his fireside and he is too weak and too sick to eat, by the children who have not sufficient clothing to cover their backs.

These things, I tell you, are true. You may say, "Well this is a speech that is made by somebody that belongs to a minority and believes everything ought to be given to those who have not." I do not believe in that. There was a time when I spoke on the Senate floor without authority, because I was an employe then, but by the grace of God and the good fortune this country has given me, I now employ labor, and I still say that they ought to be compensated to the fullest extent of the ability of the employer to compensate them for injuries that are not visible to the naked eye.

So I say to you men, you may close your eyes to the appeals that we make to you, but you can never close your eyes to the fact that you are denying to them a social benefit, which is the real basis of all compensation.

I recommend to the gentlemen of the Senate that they vote "aye" on these amendments.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I can not quite follow the arguments of the gentleman from Westmoreland; when he says that a miner is not covered in the case of injuries resulting from miner's asthma, under the provisions of this bill, I can not determine what he is trying to put across. That miner certainly is covered, Mr. President, unless the operator rejects this act, the miners are covered under this bill, and that is something I will stand on before all the lawyers and judges in Pennsylvania. I can not follow the gentleman's arguments at all, Mr. President.

I ask the members of this Senate to read the bill, page 3, lines 21 to 28, and then tell me that any miner is not covered in the case of injury resulting from anthraco-silicosis.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might state that I am talking for the living; lines 21 to 28 cover only those who die from anthraco-silicosis.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.
